FIRE PERILS COUNTY HOSPITAL

MADRID DOTTED BY FIRES AS AIR BOMBS KILL 60

Rebels Launch Big Night Attack.

MADRID, Nov. 17.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Madrid was aglare early today with bright flames and red smoke after Fascist insurgents' artillery and air bombardment killed at least 60 persons and set fire to about 50 houses.

Incessant rifle and machine gun fire was heard from University City, in the northwestern corner of Madrid, as defending militiamen tried to fight back insurgents attempting to push into that section from the Cuatro Caminos [workers'] district.

The Fascists, in a surprise attack, occupied the former British and American hospital in the Cuatro Caminos district, and government forces opened an intensive attack in an effort to dislodge them.

Three Air Raids Made.

Many houses in Madrid caught fire from artillery shells, while incendiary bombs set others ablaze. Houses near by were evacuated.

More than 150 persons were wounded or injured in the shelling and the three air raids of yesterday which occurred at 2:30 p. m., 7 p. m., and 8 p. m. First aid stations were crowded with wounded, many of them terribly maimed.

During the third air attack—after nightfall—the insurgent planes loosed bombs on the Atocha railway station near the parliament building. Homegoing citizens in the Gran Via, principal street, dashed for shelter in subways, but many were struck. Most of the windows in the parliament building and Palace hotel were shattered.

Two Churches Ablaze.

The defense junta declared five insurgent planes had been brought down during the air attacks. Twenty-three government machines flew over Madrid pursuing the 15 raiders.

Incendiary bombs set afire the San Carlos and General hospitals in Madrid's southern section, where the most serious blazes occurred.

The Trinitarians church where the ashes of Miguel Cervantes, famous Spanish writer, lie was set afire, as was the Jeronimos church. Bombs struck the following streets: Huertas, Juan de Mena, Alberto Bosch, Moreto, Villalar, Atocha, Veronica, and Jesus.

The air ministry reported government planes bombed the railroad station at Fascist-held Salamanca, burning war materials stored there, and an arsenal at Cadiz.

New Buildings Wrecked.

During yesterday's battle for University City several beautiful and expensive new buildings of the university were wrecked in the artillery and machine gun battle, the government said.

A small group of the enemy filtered across the shallow Manzanares river and seized one building on the campus, the official statement declared, but heavy fire by the Madrid militiamen kept back reinforcements who sought to join them.

In University City houses were crashed down, trolley wires torn down, and trees uprooted.

Slightly south of University City, the Rosales section was almost completely evacuated by civilians after heavy shelling reduced the apartment buildings on a broad avenue to piles of débris.

The defense junta, admitting that the situation was growing "increasingly difficult in the capital," said there were "sufficient resources to defeat attempts to capture it."

All Madrid's newspapers except those operated by the government will suspend publication because of a newsprint shortage, the defense junta said, but some will move to Valencia.

Mass Troops and Tanks.

WITH INSURGENTS OUTSIDE MADRID, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Attacking Fascist insurgents tonight massed tanks and infantry troops to make Madrid streets and plazes the next battlefields of the Spanish civil war.

The hard driving advance units of Gen. Francisco Franco's Moorish legionnaires were announced officially to have swept into small sections of the University City district within the northwest edge of the capital.

Behind them the insurgent high command packed ranks of regulars and swift baby tanks, ready to surge forward as soon as the front line leaders flashed word the way into the city proper had been blasted open.

Explosive shells weighing 200 pounds shrieked into the University City area, under heavy fire all day

Academy of Science Hears Gregory.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Social students, even politicians, might find a new light on the behavior of the human race in the picture of man's evolution given last night by Prof. William King Gregory of the American Museum of Natural History before the National Academy of Sciences meeting at Mandel hall of the University of Chicago.

"Man," he said, "is a quadruped turned up on end."

Both the horse and man, he explained after giving many illustrations of the workings of a central organic design called "the self-moving grappling bridge," are but divergent modifications of the same type. This is an old principle, but Dr. Gregory for the first time has applied it to man and the whole animal kingdom.

Traces Evolution of Man.

He traced this evolutionary model through the reptile, fish and earliest mammalian stages to man, all a part of cosmic energy, dependent upon the energy of the sun, motivated by the desire for life-giving food, with the only rule "seize what you can and when you can." This is the drag of the humble past which spiritual man trails throughout the ages.

The nature of the universe, of which the sun is but a candle and our galaxy but one of millions of similar galaxies, the structure of matter and studies of disease formed a part of the wide range of subjects under consideration by these knights of science.

Dr. Lillie Welcomes Group.

Dr. Frank R. Lillie, emeritus professor of embryology at the University of Chicago and president of the academy, welcomed the members of the academy, now 292 in number. Frederic Woodward, vice president of the university, in speaking to the delegates, referred to the organization as "the patriotic society par excellence." The society was founded by an act of congress in 1863 and reports to the government whenever called on about subjects of science or art. Election to membership, Dr. Woodward said, has come to be regarded as an accolade of knighthood by American scientists.

The meeting will last today and tomorrow. Nearly two hundred papers will be read.

Traces Evolution of Designs.

Dr. Gregory, who is one of America's outstanding paleontologists and an authority on fossil bones, said that both organic and human designs have been subject to historical development, or evolution, and that from the present viewpoint human designs are only a special and peculiar class of organic designs.

"The skeleton of a giant draft horse, mounted by my colleague, S. H. Chubb, may be compared broadly to a bridge," he said. "So far as I know this idea was first suggested by D'Arcy W. Thompson in his great work on 'Growth and Form.'

Legs Are Towers of Bridge.

"The legs are the towers of the bridge, the backbone is the arched cantilever system that is suspended between the towers. The thorax and the abdomen constitute the live load. The bridge is continued in front into a drawbridge or crane called the neck, which in turn supports what we call the head, but which in mechanical terms is to be compared with a grappling machine embodying the principles of the clam dredge and the steam shovel.

"The skeleton, of course, is only the passive part of the entire machine. The active parts are the muscles. The bridge towers are angulated in order to give attachment to the motors.

Going Back to the Beginning.

"What has been the origin and history of this remarkable mechanism? Unfortunately, we must begin at the beginning, or as near to the beginning as the astronomers have taken us.

"The self-moving grappling bridge is a creation of cosmic energy and it is a machine for transforming certain minute fractions of cosmic energy. So far as we know, however, the self-moving grappling bridge plays its part exclusively in that infinitesimal corner of the cosmos called the earth.

"In the azoic era, illustrated by the rocks at the bottom of the Grand canyon of the Colorado river, there are no definite traces of life. In the proterozoic era very low forms of life, chiefly algae, appear. In the

Girl's Slayer Is Saved from Mob's Wrath

A moron who was freed by a Chicago court after serving five years in a state institution as a sex delinquent was saved by police last night from the vengeance of an angry mob a few hours after he had confessed the murder of a 5 year old girl last Friday night.

The prisoner, who told of slashing the girl's throat with a penknife after she screamed and resisted him, had been arrested twice for molesting young girls after his release from the institution. Three months ago he annoyed two other girls and was frightened away by their cries.

The moron is Andrew Capoldi, 27 years old, of 455 North Harding avenue. The little girl, whose slaying he confessed, was Antoinette Tiritilli, 1521 Flournoy street.

Slayer Tells of Attack.

According to Capoldi's story, he lured the girl into an alley behind the McLaren school, 1500 Flournoy street, across the street from her home, and wounded her fatally when she tried to get away.

Last night Capoldi was taken in a patrol wagon from the Maxwell street station to reënact the crime at the scene. A mob of several hundred persons, headed by relatives of the dead girl, gathered quickly.

Two of Antoinette's uncles, George and Angelo Cannone, ran out of the Tiritilli home, shouting: "We'll kill him!"

"That's him!" a woman cried. "That's the man who has been bothering a lot of our children."

Policemen Forced to Fight.

The mob surged toward Capoldi and his police guard. George Cannone yelled: "Let me at him!"

It required six policemen to subdue the Cannones. Reënactment of the crime was postponed and Capoldi was returned to the station.

Antoinette died in the county hospital Friday night three hours after the attack. She was able to describe her assailant as she lay dying. She said he was a short, fat, white man. Capoldi answers this description. He is 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighs about 220 pounds. His face is pockmarked and he has stringy black hair.

Capoldi was one of several men arrested in a round-up of known morons for questioning shortly after the murder. At that time he denied all knowledge of the crime and gave alibis. These alibis proved false.

Yesterday morning Capoldi was questioned again at the Maxwell street station by Supervising Captain John Stege and Detectives Henry Goebel, Maurice O'Keefe, William Newton, and Louis Kustich.

Capoldi then admitted that he lured little Antoinette into the alley by offering her candy. He asserted, however, that he did not molest her and ran away when she screamed. Later he admitted that he had drawn the knife to intimidate her.

"I guess she fell against it and cut her neck," Capoldi declared. "I didn't slash at her."

Observing that Capoldi was changing his story, the police pressed their questioning. Lieut. David Schwartz asked him again if he hadn't slashed the girl.

"Yes, yes, I did!" Capoldi said suddenly.

"Why not tell us everything?" Schwartz persisted.

"I will," Capoldi replied. "I left home about 10 o'clock Friday morning and picked up 75 cents doing odd jobs. Then I went to some saloons on State street, south of Van Buren street, and had some beers. I was running out of money and tried to talk a bartender into a free drink, but he threw me out."

Capoldi then told of taking a street car to Racine avenue and Harrison street and while riding he felt an "urge."

"I went over to the McLaren school," he continued. "I was a pupil

Seize Capone's 'Tough Tony' in Cuneo Holdup

Anthony [Tough Tony] Capezio, former public enemy and Capone gunner, was arrested yesterday by Town Hall police as a suspect in the robbery late Saturday night of John F. Cuneo, president of the Cuneo Press, and Mrs. Cuneo. It was reported his photograph was identified by Mr. Cuneo as that of one of the two bandits who committed the holdup.

The bandits stole more than $25,000 in jewelry. An hour later one of them was shot to death and his body abandoned in a parked car in front of 3450 North Racine avenue. He was John Benedetto, 40 years old, Rockford gambler and night club owner. He evidently was shot, police agreed, by his companion or companions in a dispute over division of the loot.

Arrested in Flower Shop.

In seizing Capezio for questioning about the Cuneo holdup police inferentially arrested him also as a suspect in the murder of Benedetto. Capezio, 35 years old has had frequent run-ins with police, and once was suspected in the Valentine day massacre. He was arrested yesterday in a florist shop at 2408 West Grand avenue, which he reputedly owns, by Sergts. Michael Ahern, Frank McKune, and Victor Schrock. He was taken at once to the Town Hall station and held incommunicado. Only a few hours earlier Capezio had been freed of a robbery charge in Felony court.

Police refused to say on what specific grounds Capezio was seized except "a general description." It was reported, however, that Mr. Cuneo picked out Capezio's picture at the detective bureau as resembling the No. 2 robber. The Cuneos were unable last night to look at Capezio because Mrs. Cuneo was ill. They will attend a scheduled showup today.

Suspected in Other Robberies.

Police said they would ask other victims of after theater robberies to look at Capezio. One couple did so last night, and failed to identify him. They were Mr. and Mrs. Denis E. Sullivan Jr., who were robbed of $15,000 in gems last July 28. Mr. Sullivan is a son of Judge Denis E. Sullivan of the Appellate court. Mrs. Sullivan is the former Betty Offield, granddaughter of the late William Wrigley.

Meanwhile, the inquest into Benedetto's death was continued at the county morgue yesterday to Nov. 25. Witnesses said that the slain man resembled one of two men seen loitering near the Cuneo home early Saturday evening.

Costly Papers Burn; Panic Grips Patients

Fire in the main floor record room of the Cook County hospital, Harrison and Wood streets, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning, sent clouds of smoke upwards through eight floors and threw scores of the 2,716 patients in the building into a panic.

No one was injured and no patients were moved. The story might have been different, however, but for the bravery of a fire guard who discovered the fire, and single handed played a hose on it, and the coolness of nurses who quieted several of the more excited patients. Actual damage to the building was negligible, as it is fireproof.

Cause of Fire Undetermined.

The record room where the fire started and was confined is situated midway of the Wood street, or east side of the hospital, south of Harrison street. Thousands of history records in wooden filing cases were kept there, many dating back twelve years. Just how the fire began is unknown, but firemen suggested the possibility of a lighted cigarette thrown into the room carelessly by some vagabond who could have gotten into the place through the courtyard door.

The fire was detected by Clark Landers, 27 years old, 2720 Gladys avenue, the fire guard, who was standing at the main entrance 200 feet away. He ran over, cried for help, then took down a coiled hose line at the nearest standpipe. By this time the corridor was filling with smoke. It began penetrating directly overhead to ward 20, filled with tonsil cases. Some of the patients commenced to scream.

Periled Guard Sticks to Job.

Landers rushed into the room. The door closed on him and he could not swing it back. The wooden filing cabinets and the records were burning furiously. To save his own life and to fight the flames, he had to lie down. From that perilous position he played the water line. His eyebrows were singed.

He soon had help in Dr. Aaron Gunther and Martin Greenaway, 5707 South Lincoln street, an attaché. They first attempted to play a water hose on the fire, but the hose, dry from disuse, and scheduled for repairs, burst. It was said by hospital authorities to have been a castoff hose which had been stored in a closet. When the hose burst Dr. Gunther and Greenaway rushed to aid Landers.

Firemen under Marshal J. J. Graham, chief of the second division, and his men arrived at this point, and got the fire under control. By this time, however, all the records in the room had been destroyed, and the hospital was pretty well filled with smoke.

Nurses Calm Patients.

On the second floor particularly, and some of the other floors, many of the patients had noticed the smoke, although all the doors had been closed promptly. The wards are considered fireproof. Nurses went among the patients, told them there was nothing to worry about, and generally succeeded in maintaining calm. It was reported some of the patients became hysterical, screaming shrilly, but it was also said that hundreds never even knew there was a fire.

Nurses, interns, and attachés stood ready, however, to move patients from any wards which were likely to be endangered.

"The nurses on the second and upper floors knew that everything was fireproof, and that there was no real danger," said Dr. Roger Vaughn, night superintendent. "They quieted some patients in the wards where smoke penetrated. The smoke got up to the eighth floor."

Dr. Vaughn said the fire damage was small, and repairs would consist mostly of redecorating the record room. The loss of the records could not be measured in money, he said.

INNOCENT, HE'S FREED FROM PRISON AT 76; HARBORS NO GRUDGE

Lima, O., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Spry for his 76 years, Cyre Bennett stepped from the confines of the state hospital for criminal insane today and declared he felt "fit as a fiddle" despite five years of imprisonment for a murder he did not commit.

Bennett was sent to the hospital after being indicted for the slaying of his brother, James Bennett, on Dec. 21, 1931.

Recently Othal Watkins and Grover Braden received life sentences for the robbery murder in a trial which cleared the elderly Bennett of any connection with the case. He plans to live with relatives on a farm.

"I hold no grudge against those who put me away for five years," he said. "I'm satisfied to be free again."

CITY IS WARNED TO CURB OUTLAY IN 1937 BUDGET

Now Spends Beyond Income, Says Rees.

Retrenchment is imperative in city expenditures in 1937 if the city government is to meet its bills and pay rolls without an increase in taxes. This warning was sounded by John O. Rees, director of the committee on public expenditures, yesterday, when he issued a detailed analysis of city finances for the last four years. His analysis is the first of a series of such studies which he is preparing on financial conditions of local governments as they approach the time for compiling 1937 budgets.

A Summary of Findings.

Rees' study of city finances makes the following points:

1. Corporate operating expenses have risen from $44,608,892 in 1933 to between $49,000,000 and $50,000,000 in 1936, despite a drop of about $1,000,000 in tax warant interest.

2. The city can expect in 1937 approximately $45,000,000 in cash receipts for operating purposes which will be insufficient to meet expenses at the 1936 spending rate. Expenses must be cut or unpaid bills continue to mount unless taxes are increased.

3. Unpaid bills for materials and supplies mounted in 1936 as cash was conserved to meet pay rolls. These bills, Rees said, will total upward of $8,000,000 at the end of the current year.

4. Taxes extended for the city government, including debt service charges, have risen about 33⅓ per cent in three years, the 1936 levies aggregating about $65,800,000, compared with taxes of $49,381,635 in 1933.

Advises Bond Refunding Program.

5. A large part of the increase in 1936 taxes was due to a rise of $9,983,277 in debt service requirements, which do not include repayment of tax warants and interest on them. According to Rees, taxes for 1936 and 1937 could be reduced substantially if the city adopted a comprehensive bond refunding program which would level out bond maturities over a long period of years.

6. Taxes for pensions for city employés are showing an upward trend, amounting to $7,213,735 for 1936.

7. Tax collections to date have been inadequate to repay loans made from the aggregate of funds—which is made up chiefly of the traction fund—for any year back to 1928. There is little hope, Rees asserted, that these loans can ever be repaid in full.

Sees Trend Toward Insolvency.

"Owing to increasing expenses and continued poor collections," Rees stated, "a trend away from solvency is developing in city finances, which, if continued, will lead to an acute situation. During the last two years there has been an expansion of the expenditure scale which is now causing an embarrassing shortage of cash for the prompt payment of expenses.

"For the year 1937 the only cash which can be available will be about $17,500,000 from miscellaneous revenue and the 75 per cent, or $27,750,000, which can be legally borrowed in anticipation of the $37,000,000 pegged levy. This means that the total possible amount of cash available to pay 1937 expenses and $8,000,000 or more of unpaid bills carried over will be $45,250,000.

Living Beyond Current Means.

"In view of the fact that the city is now operating on a scale of expenditures between $49,000,000 and $50,000,000, it is obvious that continued operation at the present scale through 1937 will continue the present trend toward insolvency. Any corporate expenditures in 1937 in excess of $45,500,000 will mean an increase at the end of 1937 in the already crippling and excessive amount of unpaid expense liabilities."

Rees declared that the city government has been able to function under the present set-up only because of working cash fund loans and borrowing from traction fund. Were it not for diversions from these funds, he said, present unpaid corporate liabilities would be around $40,000,000 instead of $8,000,000.

"Except for these cash diversion devices, which are absolutely unsound," said Rees, "the city government would long since have collapsed or else effective steps would have been taken long ago to bring about a better collection of taxes.

"This diversion of cash is in large part the reason why no effective political interest has been taken in the tax collection breakdown. These permanent and unsound, though apparently legal, diversions of cash have relieved the pressure in this direction which would come from a shortage of cash to meet pay rolls.

"Poor collections have not in any way impaired the ability of the city to borrow cash on tax anticipation warants to the legal limit. Although it has not been possible to sell warants to investors in excess of 55 or 60 per cent of the tax levy, the city has sold corporate warants to the traction fund far in excess of this amount." The law allows sale of warants up to 75 per cent of the tax levy.

The Tax Warant Situation.

Rees prepared the following table to show the amount of warants for past years still outstanding, the percentage of collections of the levies for those years as of last Oct. 30, and the approximate percentage which would have to be collected to pay off the loans:

Tax year.	Warants outstanding.	Per cent collected Oct. 30.	Per cent needed to pay wrts.
1928	$ 2,881,000	89.8	97
1929	1,660,000	84.2	89
1930	3,604,000	78.6	86
1931	5,026,000	76.8	90
1932	446,000	70.6	73
1933	5,300,000	71.0	90
1934	4,200,000	67.8	83
1935	13,480,000	in collection
1936	22,700,000

Rees charged that the present public pension system is approaching "a point of absurdity."

"The 1936 levy of $7,213,735 for pensions," he said, "provides annuities far out of line with any reasonable expectation of pensions, insurance or security of the average person called upon to pay these pension taxes. It would require a fund of $40,000 to $50,000 invested continuously at from 3 to 4 per cent to provide an annuity equal to those contemplated by the various public pension funds for each member to be paid largely by the taxpayers."

TRIAL OF ZINTAK IN ESCROW FRAUD TO START TODAY

Selection of a jury to try Frank V. Zintak, 12th ward Democratic committeeman and ousted clerk of the Superior court, on a charge of embezzling escrow funds in his office, will get under way today in the Criminal court of Judge Robert C. O'Connell.

Both state and defense attorneys appeared yesterday before Judge O'Connell and announced they were ready for trial. Zintak was ousted from office last Sept. 17 after an audit disclosed a shortage of $26,500 in the accounts on the escrow funds in his office.

Subsequently he was named in five indictments voted by the grand jury. Assistant State's Attorneys Robert Wright and Vernon Thompson said yesterday the state would go to trial on the one indictment based on an alleged transaction in which Zintak on Oct. 4, 1935, drew a check for $12,500 on an escrow fund in the First National bank and then deposited it in his personal account at the Metropolitan State bank.

Zintak will be defended by Attorneys Benedict Short and George Guenther, veteran trial lawyers. Short also was defense counsel for Sweitzer in his trial.

The bride and bridegroom were both born in Denver, and were childhood friends. Mr. Lindsley is the youngest man ever elected to Denver district bench. He won in the election of Nov. 3 and will take his seat in January.

OPEN NEW LINE OF CLEWS INTO COAST MYSTERY

Blame Police for Loss of Evidence.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—A bullet thrown away by the police would go a long way toward solving the mysterious death of Reid Russell, found in a lawn swing on the grounds of Gouverneur Morris, novelist, last September, it was admitted here tonight.

The bullet, said to have been of .22 caliber, was dug out of the mattress of a settee behind the swing, Capt. Clyde Plummer of the district attorney's office said tonight. It was thrown away because it was of different caliber than the gun found in Russell's dead hand, and because the police, without autopsy or inquest, were so certain that the case was a suicide.

Arms Folded on Breast.

It also developed today, as the police and prosecutor's office swung with renewed vigor into the belated investigation, that Russell's body was found lying with arms folded over his breast, and that the gun was clutched, Plummer said, "in a manner that is hard to reconcile with the assumption that he shot himself through the head."

Exhumation of Russell's body was talked tonight as the necessity of determining the caliber of the death wound became more and more pressing.

The gun found in Russell's hand was a .32 caliber automatic, and Capt. Plummer said today that it was old and badly rusted when found. It has now been turned over to ballistics experts to find out how long it has been since it was fired. He estimated that it had been weeks, even when found, since the weapon had been used.

No Empty Cases Found.

Another factor influencing the renewed investigation, which was started at the insistence of Russell's mother, was that there never had been any empty cartridge cases found near the supposed death scene. This was believed evidence that the body had been moved to the swing after the tragedy.

Little Jimmy Lee Kirkwood, son of Lila Lee, the actress, found the body about 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Sept. 25. Yet today, when police questioned John Mumolo, gardener at the Morris estate, Mumolo said he had been working about the grounds all day and had not seen the body in the swing. Russell apparently had died early that morning or the night before.

Police today attempted a reënactment of the mystery so far as their knowledge would permit. Bullets of .32 caliber were fired from an automatic into a basket of dirt estimated to be of about the same resistence as a human skull.

Find Bullets and Shells.

Both the bullets and the ejected cases were found without difficulty. Every inch of the Morris estate was being combed with rakes tonight in an effort to locate the missing bullet or case.

Plummer said he had learned that guests of the Morrises had been engaging in target practice with .22 caliber rifles on the estate recently. He did not say whether before or since the tragedy. Plummer did say tonight that it became more evident hourly that the case was not suicide, but would not indicate whether he considered it murder or accident. He added that there was nothing to implicate any one as yet.

While the police today were firing guns and creating a general furor about the estate the Morrises remained indoors. Tonight they flew to Fresno to "seek privacy." It was reported that Mrs. Morris was in a state of near collapse.

Tells of Estranged Wife.

This afternoon Mrs. Morris repeated declarations that she understood Russell had an estranged wife and child "somewhere in Texas," about whom he often became despondent. She told once more of the suicide note she declares she found in her jewel case after the mystery had been closed as a suicide. She insisted that she burned the note at the time because the matter had been ended officially and she did not wish any further notoriety which she knew the note would cause.

This note, which she said she showed to Miss Lee before touching a match to it, she maintains, read in full:

"Dear Ruth: You thought I would not do it, but now you know. This is the happiest vacation I have had in a long time. Thanks a lot for everything. I hope you don't think I didn't keep my chin up. Goodby, Reid."

Mother Calls It Murder.

Both Miss Lee and Mrs. Morris said Russell several times had threatened to "to jump off a pier."

Mrs. Victor Russell, the dead man's mother, however, tonight, as before, insisted that the tragedy was murder and declared the motive to be her son's infatuation "for a wealthy married woman."

Jewish Youths Battle Polish Police on Crusade to Zion

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 16.—Behind a blue and white flag embellished with a golden lion of Judah, 1,000 Jewish youths left Warsaw early today to march to Palestine. Before the Makkabee Athletic club in Warsaw they took this oath: "We shall return to Zion. Nothing shall stop us."

Tens of thousands of cheering relatives and friends accompanied the 20th century crusaders to the city limits. Led by Wilhelm Rippel, Warsaw lawyer who organized the movement, they started the 2,000 mile hike singing the marching song of the "hulitzi," Palestine farmhands.

A few miles from Warsaw at the village of Pyr the marchers were ambushed by a battalion of Polish police. Ordered to turn back, they refused, and rioting began. Hundreds were beaten before the parade disbanded. Their banner was captured, their leader was placed under arrest and their one horse drawn wagon and field kitchen, rescued from a Warsaw junk yard, was confiscated.

This afternoon the crusaders straggled back to Warsaw. Some of the injured were half carried by their comrades. Others were weeping with shame and rage.

The failure of the first Jewish crusade, which was a demonstration against British emigration restrictions for Palestine, created a sensation in Poland and many protest meetings against the Polish and also the British government were held in the ghettos of Polish cities and towns tonight.

After the Arabs launched their revolt against Jewish immigration into Palestine, the British government halted migration of young Jews there almost completely. Tens of thousands of Jewish youths in Poland have been training and educating themselves for years, hoping to receive the coveted visa.

Planned for Weeks.

The march had been planned for weeks. Each marcher was equipped with a knapsack and khaki uniform. En route, the 1,000 youths from Warsaw were to have been joined by 4,000 others from Poland's congested ghettos before they reached the Rumanian frontiers. Jewish communities had promised to feed and house the crusaders, and free steamship transportation was promised them across the Bosporus.

The first night's camp was to have been at Gura Kalwaria—Mount Calvary—about thirty miles from Warsaw. Rabbi Adler had promised them food and shelter there.

At a Polish massmeeting last night, the Rev. Dr. Stanislaw Trzeciak, a Catholic priest, declared that the new commandment for the Poles must be: "Love the Jews, as they are brothers, but only trade with Poles." Father Trzeciak told his audience the government must obey the will of the nation and regulate the activities of the Jews.

WINTER QUOTA OF WPA DOWN AS JOBS INCREASE

A winter quota of 738,000 for WPA employment in 13 midwest states comprising this region was announced here yesterday by Howard O. Hunter, assistant Works Progress administrator, in a statement pointing out a 27 per cent decrease since the March 1 peak of nearly one million. In effect, the new quota is low since it allows for almost no expansion of the present employment [729,448] to meet seasonal conditions. Hunter declared that "steady improvement in private employment conditions" was the basis for the low winter quota. The Illinois quota of 160,000 is unchanged in the new listing. Employment has been near this mark for months, now being 159,648.

DRINKING HABITS OF GROSS AIRED IN DIVORCE SUIT

Count's Name Comes Up in Testimony Again.

The drinking habits of Henry R. Gross were the chief theme in yesterday's session of the court fight between the automobile accessory manufacturer and his wife, Elina Orr Gross, former show girl. Mrs. Gross is suing her husband for divorce on grounds of habitual drunkenness and cruelty. Gross seeks the decree on a cross bill alleging desertion. Judge John C. Lewe of the Superior court is hearing the case.

Three of the witnesses called for Mrs. Gross yesterday were questioned as to Gross' drinking habits. Attorney Richard Simpkins of Columbus, O., brother of Mrs. Gross, and Lily Lawson, colored former maid in the Gross home, testified that Gross sometimes drank heavily.

Attorney Black Gives Opinion.

The third witness, Attorney John D. Black, vice president of the Illinois Bar association and former president of the Chicago Bar association, testified that in his opinion Gross was not a habitual drunkard.

For the second time since the hearing opened on Nov. 4, the name of Count Edward Kulikowski, former Polish vice consul in Chicago, was injected into the case.

Dr. E. J. Emerick of Columbus, questioned by Attorney W. T. Alden, counsel for Mrs. Gross, testified that on Feb. 7, 1935, Mrs. Gross summoned him to treat her husband in a Columbus hotel. The physician testified that Gross seemed confused and worried over some mysterious individual "who had hypnotic power over his wife."

Salami to the Doctor.

"Was this mysterious person Edward Kulikowski?" asked Gross' attorney, Robert E. Cantwell Jr., on cross examination.

"No, it sounded like salami," Dr. Emerick replied.

"Was it a swami?" Cantwell asked.

"Yes, that was it," Dr. Emerick said.

At a previous hearing Mrs. Gross testified that she spent an evening at the apartment of Count Kulikowski and his sister in Chicago, and that later she had told her husband that she was at a spiritualistic lecture given by a swami. The next day, Jan. 16, 1935, Gross ordered her out of the house, Mrs. Gross said.

Testimony Thrown Out.

On the objection of Attorney Cantwell that the testimony of Dr. Emerick violated the secrecy permitted between a physician and his patient, the doctor's testimony was stricken from the record.

Attorney Simpkins then took the stand and testified that once Dr. Emerick had said in his presence that "if Mr. Gross would quit drinking for three or four months his troubles would end."

PARAFFIN TESTS VETO SUICIDE IN BEAUTY'S DEATH

Show She Did Not Fire Fatal Weapon.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

La Grange, Ky., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Coroner D. L. Ricketts of Henry county tonight announced that laboratory tests have proved Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor did not fire the bullet which killed her the night of Nov. 6. The tests show she did not commit suicide as has been the contention of Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, her elderly fiancé, who is charged with her murder.

Not only was Mrs. Taylor slain, according to the coroner, but investigation has proved that only one shot was fired at the scene of the murder beside a dark and lonely country highway, five miles south of this village. Gen. Denhardt, who now is free in bonds of $25,000, has based his pleas of innocence upon his story that two shots were fired and another man, George Baker, a farmer, was standing only a few feet away from him when the second shot was heard.

"Thinks He Heard Shot."

"Baker did not hear a second shot that night," Coroner Ricketts said. "He thinks he did now because the suggestion a second shot was fired was carefully planted in his mind the night of the shooting by Gen. Denhardt. It was a sort of suggestion.

"It is possible that some sort of sound was heard by Baker, but Baker himself says the second sound he heard was very different from the loud shot which several other witnesses heard about 9:45 p. m. We have the stories of Baker's wife, Nettie, and of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Shepherd, who drove past the scene at the time Baker says he heard the second report. None of these people heard a sound.

"Baker also tells us that on the night of the shooting Gen. Denhardt repeatedly said to him, 'Wasn't that second shot fearful?' That was good psychology. The general was dinning into Baker's head the idea that there was a second shot."

Officials Silent Ten Days.

This dramatic announcement came suddenly tonight after ten days of silence on the part of authorities. During this time the coroner, with Sergt. John I. Messmer of the Louisville, Ky., police department, have continued to work quietly and swiftly with the few clews available. Even when Dr. E. S. Garr, Mrs. Taylor's brother, obtained a warant charging the general with murder on Nov. 12 the authorities said they were unable at that time to say whether the case was a murder or a suicide.

Today Attorney Beckham Overstreet, a member of the corps of lawyers retained by Gen. Denhardt, who now is in seclusion in Louisville under the care of physicians and nurses, appeared at Coroner Rickett's undertaking establishment in La Grange and made a formal demand that the results of paraffin tests made on the hands of Mrs. Taylor and Gen. Denhardt be made public.

Demands Test Results.

"We have a right to know," Overstreet said. "The secret midnight autopsy conducted by the investigating authorities showed that Mrs. Taylor was not shot in the back as rumor had it, and that proved the general's innocence. Now we want to know the results of the tests to show conclusively he is not guilty."

"If that's what you want," said Ricketts, obviously angered by the lawyer's tone, "we'll give it to you. The paraffin tests showed that Mrs. Taylor could not have fired the bullet through her heart. We found no evidence of powder on either of her hands. She did not commit suicide."

Overstreet was taken aback by the coroner's words. He made notes of the statement and then demanded to know the results of the tests made by paraffin casts taken of the general's hands on Nov. 10.

Not Yet Ready On Him.

"We cannot announce the results on that case at this time," the coroner said, "because we have not completed our analysis."

Overstreet hurriedly left the coroner's office. Later tonight from Louisville, after a conference with Attorney John M. Berry of New Castle, chief of defense counsel, Overstreet said:

"We don't regard the test on Mrs. Taylor as a blow to the defense. We don't think the paraffin test is important. Of course, it will be negative for the general, too. We know perfectly well Denhardt hasn't fired a gun for six months.

"We are going to take a crack at the coroner tomorrow. We're going to make him show us photographs taken during the autopsy—photographs which will show perfectly the position of the bullet wound in Mrs. Taylor's chest. We're also going to examine the woman's clothing which Sergt. Messmer has."

Remains in Seclusion.

Gen. Denhardt from 1923 to 1927 was lieutenant governor of Kentucky. From 1931 until 1935 he was adjutant general of the state and has wielded political power here since returning from the world war with the rank of lieutenant colonel and three citations for bravery. Since his arrest he has remained in seclusion in Louisville, remaining away from his 800 acre estate, five miles south of here, because he was warned of the feeling against him which might influence friends of the Taylor family to resort to violence.

The night Mrs. Taylor was found shot to death Gen Denhardt was her companion. His .45 caliber revolver with two empty cases and four loaded cartridges was found close by the body. The general said he had driven her to the country road, that she had taken his weapon from a compartment in the car and walked away. A short time later he heard two shots.

Stalled at Baker Home.

At the time of the shooting the general's car was stalled in front of the farmhouse of George and Nettie Baker. Both the Bakers heard a gunshot about half an hour after entering their home and leaving Mrs. Taylor and the general sitting in the latter's car, awaiting the arrival of a mechanic summoned from La Grange.

Five minutes after hearing this shot Baker says he heard a second report which was very dull, and sounded very much different from the first. Mrs. Baker, sitting in the same room, did not hear this second noise. Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd, whose automobile drove past the Baker home at the moment Baker says he heard the sound, also told police they did not hear any sound of a shot. They did see Gen. Denhardt standing beside his stalled automobile at the time they passed.

It was pointed out by investigators that although Mrs. Taylor's body was found 640 feet east of the stalled car, it is possible to walk this distance in less than two minutes, so that Denhardt would have had plenty of time to return to his machine if he had been standing near the spot where the body was found when the first shot was fired.

Makes Tests on Two Shells.

Coroner Ricketts said that the fact two exploded cartridges were found in Gen. Denhardt's gun did not prove two shots were fired that night. He said that it is the custom of those familiar with revolvers to carry only five loaded cartridges in the six chambers. The sixth chamber is carried empty or an exploded cartridge is carried under the hammer so that the gun cannot be accidentally fired.

The coroner said that Sergt. Messmer was conducting tests on the two shells to determine when each one had been fired. A difference in corrosion inside the two chambers should indicate whether they were fired at about the same time or several hours apart, he said.

Coroner Ricketts said he would make no effort to demand the surrender of Gen. Denhardt and his imprisonment without bail until the examining hearing before County Judge J. S. Morgan at New Castle. Any action taken at that hearing will be in the hands of Commonwealth Attorney H. B. Kinsolving of Shelbyville, who is in charge of the prosecution.

FRENCH POWDER PLANT BLOWS UP; 34 DIE, 200 HURT

Blast Shakes Towns 18 Miles Away.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MARSEILLES, France, Nov. 16.—An explosion in the government "tallite" powder plant at Saint Chamas, twenty-five miles northwest of here, shortly before 5 p. m. today, killed thirty-four persons and injured more than 200. Those were the official figures issued by the police, but they are not final.

Authorities said the bodies were so badly mangled that it will take at least anther day to identify the victims. They must also check up the lists of workmen employed in the plant. Furthermore, a number of the 200 injured are not expected to live. An early estimate indicated the explosion eventually will claim more than fifty lives.

New Explosive Described.

Tallite was described here as a substance similar to cheddite, but newer and more powerful.

[Cheddite is an explosive of many varieties. Essentially it is a mixture of potassium or sodium chlorate with one or more nitrohydrocarbons and, originally, castor oil.]

The entire supply of tallite is said to have exploded at once. As a result, not only bodies were blown to pieces, but nearly all the injured had their clothes torn completely off. Numerous workmen were driven insane and are wandering about the neighboring woods. They are being sought by soldiers and police.

Telephone, telegraph wires and electric wires were ripped down by the explosion, forcing rescuers to work by the light of searchlights mounted on army trucks. Water mains burst. Tanks of acid were wrecked and threw off nauseous fumes. Most of the workers' cabins were destroyed.

The explosion was felt within a radius of eighteen miles. Windows were broken eight miles away and in the neighboring towns of Istres, Martigues and La Mede. Flames from the burning buildings were seen for a distance of twelve miles.

Claims Fire Caused Blast.

The cause of the blast so far is undetermined. One escaped worker said a fire apparently caused the explosion.

"The fire started in a shed which was isolated from the rest of the buildings because it was devoted to the manufacture of tallite," he said. "The factory's fire company hastened to the shed and as the men approached there was an explosion. The walls crumpled and the shed's roof was hurled into the air. Dead and wounded were lying on the ground."

Among the victims was Pierre la Rocque, manager of the factory, and several technical experts. They ran to the shed after a watchman had sounded the fire siren.

Morton Grove Girl Is Found Dead with Gun Beside Her

Miss Irene Riha, 23 years old, 6337 Elm street, Morton Grove, was found dead in her home yesterday, a bullet wound in her chest and a .22 caliber pistol lying near by. Frank Schlenz, 29 years old, a greenhouse worker who had roomed in the Riha home for nine years, and who discovered the body, was held as a material witness for the inquest today. Mrs. Tillie Riha, widowed mother of the girl, said that her daughter had been in ill health for more than a year.

Mary Pickford Will Mary Buddy Rogers Next Spring

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—The frequently rumored engagement of Mary Pickford to Charles [Buddy] Rogers was confirmed today by the actress. She said no date for the wedding had been set except that it would be held some time in the spring.

Miss Pickford said the official announcement would be made next Friday or Saturday by Mrs. Bert Rogers, mother of Buddy, who will fly here tomorrow from her home at Olathe, Kas. The occasion will be a small reception at the Beverly Wilshire hotel.

The first definite word of the engagement came this morning from Buddy's father, Judge Bert Rogers, who said in Olathe he had talked to his son by telephone and was told of the wedding plans.

Buddy's Father Pleased.

"We're all pleased—mighty well pleased," said the elder Rogers, who is probate judge of Johnson county, Kansas. "I knew they were in love and I've been expecting something like this.

"Buddy called me at 2:30 o'clock this morning. After a short talk with me he asked for his mother. He asked her if we could take a plane to Hollywood on Tuesday. She wanted to know if any one was ill. He said, 'No, wait. I'll have some one else tell you.'

"Then Mary came to the telephone and it developed they are going to have an engagement announcement at Hollywood and wanted us to be there."

Mary Gives Confirmation.

Judge Rogers said that, although Buddy had promised to have him perform the wedding ceremony whenever Buddy was married, he will be unable to go to Hollywood because he already had planned to attend a meeting of county officers at Wichita Tuesday.

Miss Pickford later confirmed the engagement through her personal representative, Mark Larkin. No comment was forthcoming from Rogers.

The 32 year old band leader and actor received a cablegram Saturday summoning him to London to work in a British film. His 43 year old fiancée has been busy recently with film production and radio work.

Romance Long in Air.

Rogers has been mentioned as a possible suitor for the hand of "America's sweetheart" since she obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from Douglas Fairbanks. The young band leader, who was in London at the time of the hearing, politely denied it.

When Fairbanks married the former Lady Sylvia Ashley this year the romantic rumors about Buddy and Mary became more recurrent. The reports became most frequent this summer as Rogers, who led a traveling life with his band and acting, almost invariably was Miss Pickford's escort whenever he chanced to be in Hollywood.

REPORT BOWERS, A FORMER FILM STAR, MISSING

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 16.—(AP)—John Bowers, film and stage star of a few years ago, has been missing since he left home several days ago to motor to the beach, his sister, Mrs. R. W. Bonyea, reported to authorities today.

Police at Los Angeles Harbor reported they found his automobile parked on a street in the Wilmington district, but were unable to locate Bowers.

Mrs. Bonyea first informed a family friend, Sherif's Deputy George Contreras, of Bowers' failure to return, and expressed worry over some possible misfortune to him, the sherif's office reported.

Bowers was divorced several years ago from Marguerite De La Motte, attractive actress of silent picture days. Since his retirement he has been interested in aviation.

SCHUMANN-HEINK IS CRITICALLY ILL AT HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 17 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, 75 year old veteran of the operatic and concert stage, was critically ill today at her home in Hollywoodland. She was suffering from a blood ailment which recurred Saturday, it was learned, in the form of hemorrhages of the throat and lungs.

Her physician, Dr. Samuel Alter, reported her condition was serious, although he added she responded to blood transfusions and rallied somewhat from the attack.

The famous singer suffered a similar attack at the end of the summer, when she returned from a vacation in Wisconsin, Dr. Alter said. After two transfusions she rallied from her illness and was believed to be on the road to recovery.

The Finest Flannel Robe

we have ever seen, and the finest, we believe, in existence today, is included in our collection of robes on the fifth floor.

It is tailored of a superbly soft flannel, with padded shoulders and soft draping exactly like the tailoring of your full-dress tails. There is a velvet collar if you wish; an inverted pleat down the back; and a full belt.

The yoke and sleeve linings are lustrous silk, while each sleeve is finished with small, gold-finished links to hold the cuffs together. Other details of tailoring are in keeping with those found ordinarily only in well-tailored suits.

It is, to our best knowledge, the finest flannel robe that can be produced.

ROOSEVELT OFF TODAY TO MEET SO. AMERICANS

Argentine Trade Pact Is Seen as Result.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will leave Washington tomorrow evening on a journey that will take him to Buenos Aires for the opening, on Dec. 1, of an "inter-American conference for the maintenance of peace," the outcome of which is expected to be the organization of a sort of league of nations of the western hemisphere to "supplement and reinforce" the discredited efforts of the existing one.

The President will proceed from Washington by special train to Charleston, S. C., whence he will sail Wednesday morning on the U. S. S. Indianapolis, a new battle cruiser, which will be escorted by the sister ship Chester. Mr. Roosevelt will be accompanied only by his military and naval aids, Dr. Ross T. MacIntyre, the White House physician, his son James, and secret service operatives, but he will be joined at Rio de Janeiro by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chairman of the United States delegation. The President will remain only for the formal opening of the conference, which he called, returning to Washington, Dec. 14, but Secretary Hull will remain for the duration of the discussions, expected to require about six weeks.

Sees Argentine Trade Pact.

Secretary Hull revealed today, according to dispatches from aboard the S. S. American Legion, that the first concrete result of the Buenos Aires conference probably will be a trade agreement with Argentina. The state department to date has given no notice of its intention to negotiate for an Argentine trade treaty, a preliminary step required by the reciprocal tarif act.

It is believed here that the Argentinians will demand, as a prerequisite to any trade agreement with the United States, the ratification by the United States senate of the pending treaty modifying this country's restructions upon the importation of meats from hoof and mouth disease countries. Any such treaty is extremely unpopular with American cattle raisers and the meat packing industry, interests which were responsible for the existing law which prohibits the importation of meat from countries where the hoof and mouth disease is prevalent.

In President's Message.

For a time after President Roosevelt called the Buenos Aires conference, last January 30, when the administration was still coöperating with Great Britain and Geneva in their efforts to apply sanctions against Italy, it was believed in some quarters that the ultimate objective was to take the United States along with the Latin American republics into the league of nations.

The basis for this assumption was found in the President's own message to the presidents of the twenty nations invited to Buenos Aires proposing the prompt ratification of all pending "peace instruments," the amendment of existing agreements and the creation of "new instruments of peace."

The most optimistic hopes for the conference now are for the formation of a league of nations of the western hemisphere, with all existing agreements among the various countries consolidated in a single instrument. The agenda, which was drawn up by the governors of the Pan-American union, however, calls for the "consideration of other measures tending toward closer association of the American republics and of measures of coöperation with other international entities."

The Peace Program.

In the category of "organization of peace," the program calls for consideration of [1] the possible causes of controversy and of measures for their peaceful solution; [2] coördination and perfection of existing international instruments for the maintenance of peace; [3] additional measures for the maintenance of peace; [4] measures intended to secure the prompt ratification of treaties and conventions; [5] creation of an inter-American court of justice.

The President is counting upon the prestige entailed in the vote of confidence given him by the American people to insure success of the Buenos Aires conference. The time is propitious, for the Latin American republics have never been more enthusiastic in their esteem for the United States.

EXPECT SALES TAX BILLS TO COME UP IN LEGISLATURE DEC. 1

Members of the Illinois general assembly have been notified, it was learned yesterday, that the scheduled meeting of the legislature's second special session today will be perfunctory only, and that a recess will be taken until Dec. 1.

On the latter date it is probable, according to reports in Springfield, that the state retailers' occupational [sales] tax of 3 per cent will be discussed. Legislation under which a third of this revenue goes to relief expires Dec. 31. December receipts will take care of January relief needs, it is estimated, but there will be no state funds to supplement local tax funds for February and following months.

The discussion will hinge on the advisability of continuing the sales tax at the 3 cent rate. Whether this legislature will take action on this problem in December or turn it over to its successor, the 60th general assembly which convenes on Jan. 6, is said to be a question that will have to be decided by Gov. Horner.

THYROID GLAND SECRETION HELD AID TO DULL MIND

In a report given out yesterday Dr. Ralph Hinton, research associate in physiology at Northwestern university, advanced the possibility of increasing the intelligence of children through repeated treatments with thyroxin.

"If future experiments are successful," he said, "a way may be developed of boosting the intelligence of a fairly large number of near feebleminded children and possibly of quickening the perception of normal children as well."

Thyroxin, it was explained, is a secretion of the thyroid gland and reputedly governs a child's growth. Dr. Hinton measured the relationship between the rate of growth and mentality of children. Then he selected a group of youngsters at random. He added thyroxin to their diet. He found, after an extended test, that their intelligence grades were much better at the end than the beginning of the test. Dr. Hinton said he felt the thyroxin treatment promised greater value in feeble-minded cases, largely because many feeble-minded youngsters are so afflicted because of a deficiency of thyroid in their systems.

Chicago Girl Drowns Self in River at Toledo

Miss Kella Dorothy Blayne, 23 years old, said to be a Chicago girl, was drowned in the Maumee river in Toledo, O., yesterday. Coroner William M. Shapiro said she ended her own life. Toledo police said her parents live in Chicago, but could not learn their address.

LOVE MAKING ROBBER GETS 1 TO 20 YEARS

Sister and Her Husband Also Sentenced.

James M. Wilson, 23 years old, and Harley Todd, 21 years old, his brother-in-law, were found guilty yesterday in a bench trial before Judge Rudolph Desort in Criminal court for the robbery of a west side rooming house. They were sentenced to serve 1 to 20 years each in the Joliet penitentiary.

Wilson's wife, Margaret, 19 years old, who accompanied her husband and brother on the robbery, was convicted of petit larceny and sentenced to a year in the Bridewell. On Nov. 3 the three held up Mrs. Minnie Byrne and two roomers in her boarding house at 1137 Washington boulevard and obtained $70.

Robber Turns Lover.

While there Todd tried to become familiar with Mrs. Byrne's daughter, Marie, 17 years old, and was rebuked by his sister, Margaret, for making love when he should be tending to business [robbery]. The three were captured a short time later when they attempted to holdup 85 patrons in a cafe at 1420 Madison street.

On the day after their arrest Miss Byrne was assaulted by a shabbily dressed man as she was walking to a home of a friend at 440 Webster street. "You got away from my pal," the man told her as he pummeled her with his fists, "but I've got you now." Because of this attack the prosecutor decided on quick action and the three were quickly indicted and brought to trial yesterday. Miss Byrne testified against the three.

Plead Intoxication.

Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach told the court they had been drinking and termed the robbery "petty larceny by a couple of drunks." He pleaded that Mrs. Wilson had acted at the direction of her husband. The state argued she was aware of her husband's purpose.

MRS. ROOSEVELT TELLS OF DAY IN PRESIDENT'S LIFE

3,000 Get a Glimpse Into White House.

BY KAY HALL.

Wifely closeups of President Roosevelt were given by Mrs. Roosevelt last night in an address before an audience of 3,000 in Sinai temple, 4622 South Parkway. Wearing a handsome and becoming dinner dress of metal embroidered chiffon, long sleeved and high at the neck, the President's wife spoke with friendly informality about life in the White House.

"The President's day usually comes to an end between 11:30 and midnight," Mrs. Roosevelt said. "Then if there's anything we want to talk about, we do. Sometimes I invade his office, but when I do I always feel that I am taking too much time.

Stamps Put Him to Sleep.

"Frequently after his day's work he clips stamps for his collection. Sometimes I find him sitting in bed surrounded with envelopes which the state department has sent him. He says the stamp work is conducive to sleep.

"We've had days when things went wrong but he always accepts the situation if there is nothing to be done about it. I have never seen him worry or hash over a thing when he knows that he can do nothing about it for the time being at least."

The President reads a great many papers both morning and at night and "knows what a great many people think of him," according to Mrs. Roosevelt.

Tells About Housekeeping.

The actual White House housekeeping is "easy for me, hard for the housekeeper," said Mrs. Roosevelt in describing her own day. Resorting to an extra supply of chops or cutting up pineapple hurriedly for extra desert, or even using left overs when sudden dinner guests were described by Mrs. Roosevelt.

She told of a costume party for gridiron banquet "widows" when she dressed as an old apple woman and was almost barred by the guards from her own quarters on the second floor. The guards asked her colored maid, "How did she get in?"

Mrs. Roosevelt and her secretary, Mrs. Malvina Scheider, were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Louis L. Mann preceding the address. They left for Detroit to continue Mrs. Roosevelt's current lecture tour.

HOLD JOYRIDE AUTO THIEF.

Henry Sendlak, 19 years old, 1426 Cornell street, who confessed to stealing automobiles to take joyrides, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $17,500 yesterday by Judge Harold P. O'Connell in the Auto court for the theft of five cars.

RHEBA CRAWFORD.

[Associated Press Photo.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A letter informing Rheba Crawford that her $600 a month contract with Angelus temple has been canceled came to the Temple's association pastor today as she lay on a sickbed in a Glendale sanitarium.

The letter, she said, was written by Giles Knight, business manager of the temple, and Willedd Andrews, attorney for Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor.

Miss Crawford said she would ignore the letter.

She instructed her attorney, Joseph Fainer, to sue Mrs. McPherson for breach of contract if her regular pay check were not delivered by midnight tomorrow.

"Such a letter by no means constitutes a legal cancellation," declared Fainer. "The contract is still in effect and we are taking complete steps to protect Miss Crawford's rights."

FARLEY BELIEVES ROOSEVELT WILL WIPE OUT THE WPA

Hints U. S. Will Turn Idle Back to States.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—James A. Farley, President Roosevelt's chief of staf and postmaster general, today ventured the belief the Roosevelt administration intends to abolish the Works Progress administration as soon as improvement in business reduces unemployment.

Farley, who arrived in England for a holiday in Ireland, made this statement to newspaper men whom he had invited to his room in the Savoy hotel for a conference.

"As industry improves providing additional employment," he said, thoughtfully, in reply to questions, "my personal opinion is that the administration, as quickly as it can, will turn the unemployed back to the states, towns, and counties. There probably will be federal help, but I am satisfied that they'll clean up the WPA as soon as they can."

Praises Roosevelt's Smile.

Farley disclosed that in his opinion two things gave Mr. Roosevelt his big election majority.

The first was the President's irresistible smile, and the second Jim Farley's handshaking ability.

To amazed British interviewers Farley explained that 200,000 Americans call him Jim, while he in turn knows most of them by their first names.

"How do you manage it?" he was asked.

"It is easy," explained the postmaster general. "I go around visiting all the postoffices and always shake hands with all the employés. Just figure out for yourself how many postoffices there are and how many people that makes."

Claims Need of a Rest.

Stating his belief that the Republican party was as "dead as a doornail," at least nationally—it might have some strength locally in places, he conceded—Farley announced that the strenuous campaign, with its five and six hours of sleep at nights, put him in need of rest, which he decided to take in his ancestral town of Castletown, Ireland.

Farley will go to Ireland on Wednesday. He will see President Eamon de Valera and then will spend a few more days in London and perhaps confer with the British postmaster general. Next he will be off to Paris and thence homeward on the liner Normandie on Dec. 2.

Silent on Three Questions.

Farley in his interviews said the United States was going to stay Democratic for "a long, long time."

He was asked if he intended to resign his cabinet post in January. Is Roosevelt going to isolate America or bring the United States closer to Europe? Did he anticipate a cabinet shakeup in January?

Farley refused to discuss these subjects.

"What is your ambition then?" asked a British interviewer.

"I have not got any," he said.

"Do you want to be governor of New York state?" asked an American reporter.

Farley sobered for a minute and said: "I really cannot discuss that. It is too far in the future."

"What are you going to do in Ireland?"

"Anything President De Valera wants me to do," smiled the postmaster general as he hurried away to a Turkish bath to relax.

HERRIDGE SEEN IN BID TO LEAD CANADIAN PARTY NEW DEAL WAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 16.—Canadians today interpreted a speech by D. W. Herridge, former Cadadian minister to the United States, as confirming rumors that he will seek to head the Conservative party in Canada and to espouse a policy similar to that so successfully—as far as obtaining public support is concerned—employed in the United States by President Roosevelt.

For some time there have been reports that Herridge is being groomed to succeed his brother-in-law, R. B. Bennett, who led the party to disastrous defeat at last year's elections.

Herridge, appearing before the Canadian club at Toronto, spoke in favor of national action to bring about greater security for the individual. He said, "The principle of laissez faire has served its purpose well, and, with approrpriate acknowledgments, should be bid goodbye."

FIND OHIO BANKER SHOT TO DEATH IN WRECKED CAR

Akron, O., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A man identified as Albert J. Albright, 45, auditor of the First National bank at Massillon, O., was found shot to death late tonight after his automobile crashed on the Cuyahoga river bridge at Munroe Falls, northeast of here.

Dr. R. E. Amos, Summit county coroner, said murder was indicated by examination of three cartridges in a gun found at Albright's feet. The bank official apparently was slain by the second bullet, he said.

Dr. Amos' examination of the revolver revealed, he said, that the caps of all three shells were dented, but that only the second bullet was discharged from the weapon. He said there were no powder burns on Albright.

SPRINGFIELD, O., SCHOOLS TO OPEN ON 4 WEEK TRIAL

Springfield, O., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Springfield's board of education tonight ordered the city's 26 public schools reopened Wednesday for a four week trial period of a new financial program.

All schools have been closed since Nov. 6 following defeat of a tax levy in the election.

A mass meeting including 37 civic organizations seeking to return the city's 12,300 pupils and 381 teachers to their desks, approved the program and presented it to the board.

TAMMANY GETS 3,015 JOBS AS NEW DEAL'S REWARD

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—James J. Dooling, leader of Tammany Hall, today began the distribution of 3,015 postoffice holiday season jobs received from the Roosevelt administration in recognition of Tammany's work on behalf of the President on election day.

Upward of 2,100 were allotted to the various assembly districts in Manhattan. The remaining 1,000 or so will be distributed today and tomorrow. The jobs include chauffeurs, laborers, clerks, typists, and stenographers, who will help handle the Christmas postal rush.

Although they will last only until the first of the year, their significance lies in the fact that in the three previous years of the Roosevelt administration Tammany was ignored in the appointment of these Christmas workers, the appointments being made through Edward J. Flynn, who acted as Mr. Farley's chief federal patronage dispenser in New York City. He gave none of the jobs to Tammany members.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

MAYORS APPEAL FOR PARLEY IN SEAMEN STRIKE

Ask Arbitration Under President.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—All parties involved in the maritime strike were appealed to by mayors of nine Atlantic and Pacific coast cities today to submit all their differences to arbitration by boards to be appointed by President Roosevelt.

A statement telegraphed to strike participants pointed out that the seamen's strike has reached a place where the public interest not only is concerned but has been materially damaged, and that "to continue the deadlock will result in irreparable loss to the men, the ship owners, merchant marine, and to each of our cities."

Ask Resumption of Operation.

The mayors said that when they receive assurances from all sides to abide by the proposed arbitration they will request the President to appoint boards, one for the Pacific coast and one for the Atlantic and gulf coasts.

"During the period of arbitration," their appeal said, "it is highly desirable that operation of ships be resumed without prejudice to either side."

The public request for arbitration was signed by Mayors La Guardia of New York, Shaw of Los Angeles, Wilson of Philadelphia, Mansfield of Boston, Ellenstein of Newark, Rossi of San Francisco, Carson of Portland, Ore., McCracken of Oakland, Cal., and Ament, Berkeley, Cal.

The telegram was dispatched following a meeting of the mayors with the President. During the presidential conference Mr. Roosevelt told the mayors that whatever the effect his proposed visit to the Buenos Aires peace conference might have on either the maritime strike or the peace of the world that "the peace of the world is the more important of the two."

"I hope that the ship owners and the men on strike will recognize that fact and come together," the President said.

Statements Contradictory.

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Rival factions of the Seamen's union continued to issue contradictory statements today regarding the effectiveness of the maritime strike sponsored by an insurgent organization headed by Joseph Curran. The American Shipowners association, through R. J. Baker, its president, reiterated that it will refuse to negotiate in any way with the Curran group.

Ivan Hunter, secretary-treasurer of the I. S. U., said today that between 250 and 300 seamen who walked out at Curran's call, returned to the I. S. U. over the week-end and asked to be reinstated. Mr. Hunter declared that conditions continue to improve. He pointed out that, since the walkout began 255 ships, with crews numbering 15,000, have sailed from here.

Office Workers Laid Off.

It was learned that commercial idleness had forced furloughing without pay of at least 100 office workers of one American shipping line here, with more to follow.

A quiet fight for a showdown began on the Washington, of the United States Lines, pride of the American trans-Atlantic fleet. Company officials admitted that 130 men of the dock and engine stafs, the full complement, had walked off.

Company officials, however, said they hoped to sign a full crew and sail the ship on Wednesday.

SEAMAN SEEKS TO EXPLAIN HIS $30,000 HOME; IT'S SON'S, 10

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—David E. Grange, the mulatto leader of the Seamen's union faction opposed to the waterfront strike, lives in a home in Ronkonkoma, L. I., assessed at $30,000.

Five members of his Marine Cooks and Stewards' Union of the Atlantic and Gulf are asking embarrassing questions about this affluence and are suing him and other officers for an accounting of $143,000 in dues collected during the last year and a half.

Grange today agreed to submit to examination before trial and he also undertook to explain how a union official can acquire a $30,000 estate.

The home, he said, isn't his; it belongs to his 10 year old son, David E. Havelock Grange, and it was bought with the interest of a $500,000 trust fund left his boy by the late J. Havelock Wilson, "the Samuel Gompers of British labor."

Grange said the son is to get the principal of the fund when he is 22, provided he attends Cambridge university and becomes a barrister.

3 SLAIN, 20 HURT AS MOSLEMS AND CHRISTIANS RIOT

BEIRUT, Syria, Nov. 16.—(AP)—At least three persons were killed and more than twenty reported injured today in a series of clashes between Moslems and Christians over the new treaty between France and Lebanon.

A harangue in the Basta Mosque against Lebanese independence last night stirred the Moslems into a looting attack on the Christian quarter. Troops fired on the crowds to restore order. Christian mobs supported by thousands of Armenians later attacked Moslem districts.

Fifty automobiles and several street cars were burned during the fighting and shops were closed after the high commissioner issued a manifesto declaring further disorders would not be tolerated.

O'Donnell Ordered to Pay Rent on Foreclosed Home

Judge Michael Feinberg in the Circuit court ruled yesterday that Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, former beer runner, and his wife, Elizabeth, must pay $35 a month rent on their bungalow at 8125 South Honore street, while they continue to live in it. The Home Owners Loan corporation, from whom the O'Donnells borrowed $8,400 on their home, recently foreclosed.

HURT IN HEAD-ON CRASH.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Verner Fehrenbacher, 17 years old, of Armstrong, Ind., is in an Eldorado, Ill., hospital with internal injuries and brain concussion received in a head-on automobile collision on the Eldorado Ridgeway road shortly after midnight last night.

VOW TO STAY OUT OF SCANDAL MADE BY PEGGY JOYCE

Points to Frankness in Revealing Engagement.

CRANLEIGH, England, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, cited as corespondent in a divorce action brought by the wife of her gentleman jocky fiancé, said tonight she "never has been in any scandal and doesn't intend to start now."

Four times married and divorced, Peggy fingered her latest engagement ring and said she was glad "some other woman" was not involved in the divorce proceedings.

"Honest and Frank."

"Don't you think we did things in quite a unique way?" she demanded. "We've been quite honest and frank, even announcing our engagement before the news came out in the papers."

Peggy added that she plans to take her husband to be, Vivian Jackson, 30 years old, professor of astrophysics at London university, to the United States at Christmas time "if his business affairs are in shape by then."

They plan to return in time for the divorce proceedings, probably early in January, and then get married in the spring.

Will Live in Surrey.

The big manor house where they will live when married stands in the wooded hills of Surrey. It bears a stone coat of arms over the oaken doorway, with a knight's helmet and Tudor rose surmounting the Jackson family motto "Crede Mihi—believe me."

So far, Peggy has not hobnobbed with the country folk, preferring merely to direct the racing of the horses Jackson gave her.

However, both said they had no use for the old English custom of hunting. Jackson said he had made up his mind to one thing—he doesn't think Peggy should risk her charms riding to hounds.

"Hunting," he said, "is cruel. Besides, it spoils a woman's beauty. It gives her a hardened, weather beaten look."

Teach him the Clean, Gentle Way to clear mucus

FROM STOPPED-UP NOSTRILS

The mucous membranes in his nostrils are extremely delicate. He may suffer lasting injury if he keeps on sniffling or tries to blow out the accumulated mucus by brute force.

He will thank you later on if you teach him this much gentler and cleaner method to break up the mucus. Have him insert a little Mentholatum in his nostrils.

It is surprising how gently and quickly Mentholatum breaks up accumulated mucus. The stuffiness is soon relieved, the breathing becomes freer, and comfort is soon restored.

MAYORS AFTER MORE FEDERAL CASH FOR CITIES

Envision Permanent WPA and Other 'Easy' Money.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Into the nation's capital today trooped the mayors of America—a hilarious, handshaking, back-slapping, cigar chewing crew with one common characteristic—a sturdy determination to compel the federal government to continue and to expand its program of financial aid for municipalities.

Their leader, the paunchy, explosive little F. H. La Guardia of New York City, was greeted with vociferous applause when, in a keynote speech at this fifth annual conference, he calmly demanded a congressional appropriation of half a billion dollars to continue government relief activities until the end of the fiscal year next June; a permanent set-up of the Works Progress administration, passage of the Wagner billion dollar slum clearance bill; and government purchases of city bonds at low interest rates.

President Assures Aid.

Having expressed their satisfaction with most of these ideas, the mayors, more than 100 strong, descended upon the White House, where they shook hands with President Roosevelt, who assured them of his "sympathetic understanding" of their problems.

"I think I can say that the federal government will take care of its full share of the burden of relief after you and the governors of the states have done everything you fully and reasonably can be expected to do in this connection," Mr. Roosevelt said.

Back they went to their hotels again, to gather in huddles and discuss the all important question: "How much is the government going to continue spending on work relief?"

Tomorrow is the big day of the conference. Harry Hopkins, the main spender of the administration, to whom the mayors look hopefully for an answer to their questions, will discuss "The WPA and the Future."

TVA Head Speaks.

The principal government spokesman today was Arthur E. Morgan, chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority, who began by denying that the TVA was a supergovernment, and went on to predict that "regional government" in the United States was inevitable. A little puzzled and alarmed appeared the mayors as they heard Mr. Morgan declare that city, county, and state lines would disappear and the affairs of the nation be controled by regions. Without city lines, some of the mayors wondered audibly, wouldn't their jobs disappear? Mr. Morgan avoided that conclusion.

But the main subject of discussion remained unemployment relief. Whether the tall, voluble Hague of Jersey City; the urbane Kelly of Chicago; hulking Mansfield of Boston; baldheaded, pink cheeked Rossi of San Francisco; the crisp Socialist Hoan of Milwaukee—all were dominated by that one worry that has come to beset all mayors in the last few years.

Wants More Relief Cash.

La Guardia, president of the conference, gave them his ideas in a memorable, extemporaneous blast that had them all talking. He gently reproached Mr. Roosevelt for asking congress last year to appropriate only 1 billion 450 million dollars for work relief instead of the 2 billion 350 millions which the 1935 conference had decided was necessary. As soon as it gets into action next January congress must immediately appropriate another half billion to carry on the program until June, he asserted.

The definite responsibility of the government continues to be the care of the unemployed, La Guardia said. Local communities are responsible for their unemployables, he admitted, but the unemployed are a national problem, he asserted.

Not for at least ten years will the Social Security program have any effect on the unemployed, he argued.

The "constant demand for more power" by the states in the administration of old age pensions, unemployment insurance and similar activities was opposed by La Guardia. Warning that he might startle and shock some of the mayors, he declared:

"Instead of the federal government making contributions to the states on these security activities, the reverse ought to be true. The states should make the contribution to the federal government of their share and the government should administer it uniformly throughout the country."

After all this excitement the mayors settled down in comparative boredom to listen this afternoon to some speeches on "Improving Law Enforcement" by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation; Lewis J. Valentine, New York City police commissioner, and others.

Santa Monica, Cal., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Fay Webb Vallee, former wife of Rudy Vallee, radio and screen singer, was in a critical condition at a hospital here today following a surgical operation, hospital authorities reported. She underwent the operation Friday and was progressing satisfactorily until last night, when she suffered a relapse.

Friends said Miss Webb had been in ill health several months. Her father, Clarence A. Webb, city police official, obtained a leave of absence and is constantly with her.

ZEALOUS COPS GET SETBACK IN TICKET SALES

Order Protects Autoist in Charity Drive.

Tickets to Mayor Kelly's Christmas basket football game will hereafter be sold on their merits and without benefit of super salesmanship tactics. George T. Donoghue, general superintendent of the park district, made this clear yesterday. So far as the district police force is concerned when he endorsed a special bulletin of instructions, sent out by Chief Michael Hayes.

The order was caused by complaints that the park police were stopping cars by the same method as used in making arrests and inquiring: "How would you like to buy a ticket for Mayor Kelly's Christmas basket football game?"

They "Coöperate" Too Well.

"If members of our police force are using these methods to sell the tickets, they are entirely out of line," Donoghue said. "Last Friday we called key men in the park district to a meeting in which we announced that the coöperation of employés in selling the tickets would be welcomed.

"However, members of the police force are prohibited from selling anything while in uniform, on duty or while using park district equipment, such as squad cars. We want the employés to help this cause but certainly no one is going to lose his job if he doesn't sell tickets."

Chief Hayes said using sirens and squad cars in the ticket drive "must have been the idea of individual policemen. I have sent out a special bulletin instructing the men not to continue this practice. It was done without our knowledge and we are glad it was called to our attention early."

Allman Gets No Complaint.

James P. Allman, city commissioner of police, said men on the city force are not selling the tickets. "At least, not to my knowledge," he said. "I have received no complaints along that line and I don't expect to."

The tickets, selling at $1, are for the football game between the public high school champions and the Catholic High school champions at Soldiers' field Nov. 28.

His Ten Children, Each an Alibi, Save the Day

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Anthony Damiano's ten alibis—his ten children—were enough to convince a Mercer court jury today that he did not "wilfully and maliciously damage" a dwelling from which he had been ordered to move. His defense was that whatever damage was done was due to the normal wear and tear to which any home would be subjected when occupied by ten children.

MADRID DOTTED BY FIRES AS AIR BOMBS KILL 60

Rebels Launch Surprise Night Attack.

long from the Fascist field batteries. The deep roar of the guns and explosions could be heard 25 miles from Madrid.

PRADO MUSEUM PERILED

BY WILLIAM P. CARNEY.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Nov. 16.—[Censored.]—Madrid's illumination tonight came from a red glare in a moonless sky, reflecting the scores of fires caused by incendiary bombs dropped from rebel planes between 7 and 8 o'clock tonight.

Shortly before 7 o'clock a number of large shells whined over my head in Espalter street to land in the immediate vicinity of the Prado museum, one of the world's leading art galleries. A Ferris wheel, left over from a street fair in the Paseo de Prado since July, was struck by one of these shells and set ablaze.

Then I heard air bombs crashing and looking out my window southwesterly along the Manzanares river I saw a large section of Rastro—which might be described as Madrid's slums—afire. I could plainly hear the cries and screams of women and injured men in this district, although I was at least a mile distant.

Blasts Shatter Windows.

I went to the back room of my apartment to phone the United States esbassy for an automobile to take me thither on the other side of the city. Only a few seconds after I left the front windows they were all shattered by the explosion of air bombs close by. Within ten minutes a car from the embassy was at my door.

When we arrived at the embassy bombs exploded not far way, although heretofore it was believed insurgent air raiders would respect this district in which a number of embassies and legations are clustered.

After depositing a few belongings at the embassy I wanted to go to the telephone building to send this dispatch, but it was decided it was not safe for embassy cars to circulate in the streets tonight. So I walked a mile or so. All street car services were stopped about 8 o'clock. In view of the difficulties at night I will remain in the telephone building till dawn.

Early this morning the enemy began to shell the city steadily from Casa de Campo before noon. Every five or ten minutes shrapnel shells could be seen bursting over University City, the Rosales quarter, and Moncloa park.

Prison Roof Blown Off.

One shell fell in the building of Central university in San Bernado street, near the heart of the city. Another fell in a public bar in the same street.

Another crashed through a window into a room occupied by Victorio Hidalgo, formerly private secretary to ex-President Alcala Zamora. Hildalgo was killed and his wife was seriously injured. Other shells fell in Retiro park, while the North railway station was also subjected to much shelling.

From a tall building one could see with field glasses the Moorish troops had penetrated the University City grounds Shells from rebel batteries fell continuously around Montana barracks. Part of the roof of the model prison was blown off. A number of prisoners took advantage of the resulting confusion to escape. All except 3,000 prisoners there were evacuated this afternoon to other prisons. These 3,000 remaining there now are installed in the prison's cellars.

The sidewalk in front of the Prado museum has been torn up to make barricades and the streets in all quarters of the city bristle with parapets.

Rebels Seize Norse Ship Carrying Food to Spain

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Lloyds announced tonight that the Norwegian steamer Lisken carrying food to the Spanish government-held city of Valencia was seized by insurgent warships and escorted to Vigo.

The announcement said the vessel had been chartered by the commercial attaché of the Spanish London embassy to carry 1,005 tons of potatoes from Dundee to Spain. The cargo would be unloaded in the insurgent port tomorrow, Lloyds said they had been informed.

INJURIES CAUSE DEATH.

Frank Urbanski, 62 years old, 1635 Cullerton street, died in the county hospital yesterday of injuries which police believed he incurred in a fall.

CAPTIVE SOVIET SHIP FILLED WITH OIL FOR GERMANY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—German shipping circles, which late last night were elated to hear that Spanish rebels had captured a soviet Russian steamer near Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, were deeply grieved this noon. Authorities informed them that the ship was sailing to Germany with a consignment of Russian oil. Now the Germans are making representations to the rebel government of Gen. Francisco Franco demanding the release of the Russian steamer.

Move Seen as Prelude to Last Stand.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KILOMETER POST SIX, TALAVERA HIGHWAY, Spain, Nov. 15.—[Delayed by censor.]—As seen from the roof of a little whitewashed villa inscribed as belonging to Gen. Miguel Cabanellas, first chief of the Spanish rebel movement, the fighting around Madrid Sunday was featured by a series of explosions within Madrid itself.

They were on almost a straight line from the Montana barracks just east of the north railway station and due north for some blocks.

The explosions, which were clearly visible, could not possibly have been caused by rebel air bombs or shell fire. The conclusion is that the loyalists are beginning to make good their threat to raze Madrid before they surrender. Since the line indicated will be across the path of the rebels' advance it also is possible they are blowing up buildings in order to use the heaps of ruins as barricades.

Describes Loyal Air Force.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Nov. 16.—A vivid picture of the struggle of the opposing air forces in Spain appeared in today's Paris Midi. It was an interview with a French aviator who fought with the Loyalists for several months, leaving ten days go for a brief rest in France.

The government planes were pitifully inadequate in the face of Gen. Francisco Franco's German and Italian equipment until quite recently, the aviator said, when new Russian planes came along for Madrid.

Speaking of the government force he said:

"We have about thirty French pilots in the government's service now and about the same number of machine gunners and mechanics. Other aviators are of English, German, and Russian nationality, all engaged as volunteers who constitute a group known as the 'Spanish squadron' whose director is the author, Andre Malraux.

Planes Do Double Duty.

Because of the scarcity of planes, he said, pilots were taking turns at flying the same machine four times daily, twice in the morning and twice in the afternoon. Now that Russian planes have arrived, he continued, the loyalists have ultra-modern bi-motor bombers and pursuit ships with a speed of 250 miles per hour. This equipment, he asserted, is exclusively piloted by Russians at the formal resuest of the soviet representative in Spain.

It was a dangerous life and many of his comrades had been killed. However, those who landed safely within the enemy lines merely were held prisoners and negotiations are going on for the exchange of pilots held by both sides. The government paid them 50,000 francs [$2,325] a month he said through the Spanish embassy in Paris.

CODED LETTERS TELL OF CATHOLIC FRIARS' EXECUTIONS IN SPAIN

Oklahoma City, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Eight Carmelite friars in a cloister here had a first hand account tonight of death and suffering in war torn Spain. Messages, cleverly coded, furnished details of the happenings among their Spanish brethren.

The friars have received five letters. One, opened, resealed and passed by censors, read:

"Some of our comrades have lost their capital because they were not clever enough to invest in the right insurance companies." Five names were listed.

Carmelites are bound by the rule of poverty. They have no capital. Remembering that "capita" in Latin means "heads," the friars had no trouble interpreting the message. Deaths of three more friars were revealed in a letter of similar phrasing. The Rev. Everest Foix, prior of the cloister here, said "from various information we estimate that 30 of our order have been killed in Valencia alone."

THE TRUTH ABOUT HAIR and HAIR TREATMENTS!

Charles Nessler, pioneer in hair research . . . inventor of Permanent Waving.

"It isn't age that causes baldness," says Charles Nessler, leading hair biologist. "No matter what his age—the normal person can easily retain his hair—can encourage hair replacement merely by following a few simple rules."

"Nor is falling hair the cause of baldness," Charles Nessler goes on to explain. "It's as natural for a human's hair to fall as for an animal to shed. Don't try to stop falling hair. It can't be done! Help Nature to replace the hair that falls."

A NEW SCIENTIFIC TYPE OF HAIR TREATMENT

GREEN ASKS C.I.O. BACK INTO A. F. L. WITH CHALLENGE

Defines Position in Bitter Struggle for Power.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—By his words President William Green of the American Federation of Labor today left the door open for the ten rebel unions led by John L. Lewis and backing the Committee for Industrial Organization [C. I. O.] to return to the federation's fold. But by his manner and his bitter phrases he gave the unspoken challenge, "Just try and put your noses inside the door."

So, with the opening of the fifty-sixth annual convention of the federation, began the latest chapter in the struggle for power within the American labor movement. For it is, fundamentally, a struggle for power. The prize is great—leadership of organized labor at a time when the promises of President Roosevelt and the New Deal lead labor to hope for attaining, by the quick path of federal legislation, the goals toward which it has slowly fought for decades. The struggle is bitter. It has already caused the most serious rift in the history of the federation.

Informed of Green's invitation, Lewis said in Washington that he "wouldn't be interested" in going to the convention unless the United Mine Workers' suspension is lifted and "we can go down to Tampa as peers of the gentlemen there."

Here's the Background.

This is the background for the Green-Lewis feud: The federation, since its birth, has been composed of international unions, each in turn composed of workers in a particular craft or trade. The present membership of the federation, announced today as 3,422,398, is composed largely of skilled workmen.

The federation has never made substantial progress in organizing the great mass production industries—steel, automobiles, cement, rubber, radio. That is the task to which the Committee for Industrial Organization, headed by Lewis of the United Mine Workers, has set itself in defiance of the majority of the federation.

The instrument of the C. I. O. is the industrial union, representing not particular crafts but all the workers, skilled and unskilled, in a particular industry. The miners are themselves such a union, as are the garment workers, composing the other strong group in the C. I. O.

Beginning of Break.

The fight started last year at the Atlantic City convention. Lewis and his followers sought indorsement of industrial union organization. The convention voted down the Lewis proposal, 18,024 to 10,933. Lewis went ahead anyway with the organization of the C. I. O.

Last summer the legislative council of the federation suspended the ten unions supporting the C. I. O.

Lewis has what appears to the general public as the magic of a new idea. The crafts union heads tell you it is not a new idea—that industrial unionism was tried by the old American railway union, under Eugene Debs, and by the I. W. W., and that it failed.

The crafts unionists argue that the major successes of American labor have been won by their form of organization. The C. I. O. adherents reply that the craft system has failed to organize the mass production industries.

The crafts unionists also have the argument, which President Green stressed so strongly today, of majority rule—the plea that minorities must be bound by the will of the majority.

C. I. O. Without Delegates.

So that is the background in this struggle for power. Here at the Tampa convention the power is all with the old guard, the crafts leaders. The C. I. O. unions, suspended, have no delegates here. John P. Frey, head of the metal trades department of the federation, who led the fight for their suspension, already has introduced a resolution for their complete expulsion from the federation.

Frey and Matthew Woll, perhaps the most conservative of all the federation leaders, head the resolutions committee which will bring that proposal to the convention floor.

With the unions which backed Lewis in his fight a year ago barred from the convention, there is little doubt that the craft union leaders have the power to expell them. The great question, to be decided in the next two weeks, is whether they will use that power.

Lewis Allies Present.

Lewis is not without friends here. Maj. George L. Berry, head of the pressmen's union and leader with Lewis of the labor drive for Roosevelt, is here. His plea for arbitration of the controversy, made a week ago, went unheeded.

Also present is Max Zaritsky of the Hat, Cap and Millinery Workers. Zaritsky is a Lewis follower, but his union has not joined the C. I. O. forces, so it was not suspended. Charles P. Howard, president of the typographical union, is secretary of the C. I. O., but is also listed as a delegate because his union, while it approved his action in joining the Lewis committee, did not itself join the movement.

There was no doubt in the minds of listeners that Green was referring to Lewis and Lewis' purported ambition for the presidency of the United States in 1940 when he said today:

"We represent humble workers, not men and women whose consuming ambitions permit them to attempt to use our historic movement to further their political designs and consuming personal ambition.

Makes Plea for Unity.

"I was always taught to believe that the strength of the labor movement centered in unity, solidarity, cooperation; that its weakness lies in division and discord. If that is the case, then what shall we say to those who seek to introduce dissent, discord, and hate?

"We say, 'Woe to him who strikes a blow at the heart of labor by driving a knife and wedge and dividing it.'

"Even at this late hour, when hope is fading, I still, speaking for you [the delegates], plead for solidarity and unity. We stand ready through committees to confer with any dissident voice to heal the breach."

Green charged that the issue in the struggle is not that of craft versus industrial unionism.

The real issue, he contended, is that of democracy in the federation, the rule of the majority. The majority expressed itself at Atlantic City, whereupon the minority, he charged, "threatens to go outside the American Federation of Labor and organize rival unions for putting in effect the will of the minority."

EDITOR ASSAILS DEFEATISM AT GRANGE PARLEY

Sees New Conquests by American Farmer.

Columbus, O., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Wheeler McMillen, editor of the Country Home, urged farmers today to continue the agricultural conquest of America, rather than to fall in line with the philosophy of "adjustment and defeat."

McMillen, making his appeal before the 70th annual meeting of the national Grange, declared the conflict between the philosophies of "advancement and progress" and "adjustment and defeat" would be settled by scientist, industrialists, and farmers.

"The government," he said, "may stand in the way or it may help. No law or decree has to come from Washington before search can proceed for new employment of agriculture's energies and new work for agriculture's hands.

Sees New Demands.

"I speak of a philosophy, which says the country is still unfinished; which cries that new crops and new uses and new ideas and new needs and new demands can continue to arise in the future as they have in the past, and that the farmers of America will share in the new opportunities thus created."

Referring to adjustment, McMillen termed it a "philosophy which assumes that the expansion of wealth by American agriculture is finished; which assumes that because our former foreign markets are shrunken, and that because we sometimes grow products in excess of profitable market demand, we must conclude that no further progress can be made.

"This fearful and trembling philosophy would have agriculture freeze in its tracks. It would erect barriers and limitations."

McMillen suggested that instead of producing excesses and surpluses of food stuffs an equivalent or greater number of acres be devoted to producing non-food materials for which the United States alone provides ample markets.

Need Not Fear Losses.

"We need not worry too much," he said, "about the lost customers in Europe if the industrial markets of America will only be reserved for the farmers of America.

"The philosophy of advance says that instead of recklessly exhausting the nation's irreplaceable supplies of petroleum under the ground, agriculture, through the medium of power alcohol, shall be permitted to share in the tremendous market for motor fuels. It points to a market for the products of 15 to 30 million acres if only 10 per cent of motor fuel requirements are met with agricultural alcohol.

"Two million acres, now crowding surplus crops into market places, might well be growing beet and cane sugar and levulose for an American market now supplied from foreign sources."

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions, intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE AND CONVENTIONS

By CALEB

CONSIDER Chicago's five great places for assembly: The Coliseum, the Chicago Stadium, the International Amphitheater, the Navy Pier, and Soldier Field.

Consider Chicago's thirty-eight railroads with 1,980 passenger trains arriving and departing daily—her thirty bus lines radiating in all directions—her eighteen aviation routes—her nine steamship passenger lines—and automobile highways which spread fanwise like spokes from a hub.

Consider Chicago's 189,000 first class hotel rooms and 1,800 hotel meeting rooms.

•

CONSIDER Chicago's hinterlands, out over the great prairie states. Consider the southwest and the west coast, New England, New York, and Florida. Consider that in all these places —and more—are individuals who will one day or another eagerly climb into a car, a plane, a bus, or a train, convention-bound for somewhere!

•

THE natural combining of the above ingredients means many convention crowds in Chicago—thousands of lapel-identified individuals who belong to organizations which will gravitate here for their official meetings. They come here as naturally as iron filings gravitate to a magnet. Many more come, however, because an office at the Chicago Association of Commerce, known as the Convention Bureau, acts as a catalytic agent to bring about more rapid, more frequent, and more positive action in the selection of Chicago as a convention center.

Three men of the Association's Convention Bureau are so pressed for time to cover the organizations which it is wise to solicit for their convention decisions that their travel, directed from headquarters, is practically confined to the air.

In 1935, 823 conventions here brought 713,000 delegates. On a conservative estimate that the average delegate in 1935 spent $20 a day in Chicago, this meant about $14,000,000 in volume for Chicago businesses.

All Chicagoans are familiar with the sight of ribbon or badge-bedecked persons who walk our streets on friendly convention visits. But not many Chicagoans know that a bureau of our Association of Commerce works strenuously the year 'round to bring these people here and to make their visits enjoyable and satisfying. It is a good work for Chicago—as well as for those who come here. Our compliments to the Association!

CRIME FIGHTERS MAP LEGISLATION ON PAROLE ABUSE

Hit Policy of Secrecy in Freeing Prisoners.

Legislation to correct abuses of the parole system was discussed at a conference yesterday in the law offices of Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime commission. Acting Chief Justice Robert C. O'Connell and Judge John Prystalski of the Criminal court and State Senator Harold G. Ward were coöperating with Mr. Loesch.

"For some time we have been dissatisfied with the actions of the parole board, but haven't been able to point out specifically what ought to done." Mr. Loesch explained.

The parole boards policy of secrecy in freeing prisoners and the question whether the trial judge, and not the parole board, should make the decision as to the length of prison terms to be served by a convicted criminal were the chief points discussed.

Favors Publicity on Paroles.

"I favor publicity on all paroles," said Judge O'Connell. "The trial is public, the sentence is public, but the action of the parole board is secret. I see no good reason for such secrecy. It is the secret parole that creates scandal."

The Illinois law provides for indeterminate sentences upon conviction, allowing the parole board to fix the punishment at any period between the minimum and the maximum number of years fixed by the statutes. None of the conferees believed the legislature should change the system so that definite sentences would again be imposed.

"I think, however, that the judge who hears the evidence is better qualified to determine the length of punishment than is a parole board," said Judge O'Connell, and Judge Prystalski agreed.

Declares Transcript Inadequate.

"There is more to a trial than appears in a typewritten transcript of its proceedings. The transcript does not show the live things of the trial, the spirit of it, and the things not put down by the court reporter are usually vital in influencing the verdict.

"The parole board hearing is ex-parte, with one side being overstressed. Such a hearing lacks the wholesomeness of a trial."

Judge Prystalski, who is a member of a commission appointed last February by Gov. Horner to investigate prisons and the parole system, was reluctant to discuss any of the recent cases wherein it was shown that the parole board had treated many gunmen leniently.

"I assume that the board acted honestly," he explained, "but I believe it should not have the power it now has. I know they keep some prisoners too long and let others out too soon. I think that decision should be put up to the trial judge and he should be required to fix the time, within the limits designated by the statues. For instance, in a conviction for robbery, armed, the statutes make the penalty 1 year to life. I think the judge should have the power to say that a person so convicted should serve 3 to 5 years, or 8 to 10 years, or be released in one year or kept for life.

"I have had cases where I thought the defendant should be imprisoned for one year, but if I sentenced him under the statute to 1 year to life, the power to order his release in one year would be out of my hands, and in the hands of another tribunal—the parole board—which might keep him 10, 20 years or maybe for life.

"Or, if I thought the defendant should serve 10 years, the parole board might let him out in 11 months. The legislature should give a great deal of consideration to this problem in the next regular session."

Senator Ward and Mr. Loesch declared that some convicts with influence or financial means to hire lawyers may be given better treatment than others without influence or money. On the other hand, it was agreed by all, there should be some statutory provision so that punishment for crime would not depend on the caprice of any one judge.

The conference ended with the understanding there would be further discussion of suggestions to be presented to the legislature affecting the secrecy attending paroles, as well as giving the trial judges power over parole. Where a parole is justified and meritorious there is no reason for secrecy, the conferees declared.

REVEAL PAROLE OF 3 IN PRISON FOR SETTING FIRE TO RIVAL DAIRY

Paroles granted Aug. 28 to three milk wagon drivers who set fire to a rival milk dairy selling at cut rate prices became public yesterday. The drivers, Edward J. Oenning, 37 years old, 4931 North Oakley avenue, Thomas Fitzpatrick, 41 years old, 2857 Lincoln avenue, and Joseph Kennedy, 26 years old, address not given, were sentenced on July 24, 1934, to serve one to twenty years in prison for arson.

The three confessed setting fire to a dairy at 3300½ Southport avenue operated by Henry Hauert under the sponsorship of the Meadowmoor Dairy company which was cutting prices. The employés said they conceived the idea of setting the fire while intoxicated.

Three families were driven from the building as the result of the fire and a woman 80 years old, was rescued by firemen after being overcome by smoke.

Officials of the Milk Wagon Drivers union acted as sponsors for the parole of the three convicts. Through the union the men were reëmployed as drivers.

there once. I saw this little girl in the yard. I asked her if she wanted some candy and she said she did. I told her, 'Walk with me and I'll give you some.' I took her to the alley."

Screams Frighten Assailant.

Capoldi then told of abusing Antoinette.

"But she screamed," Capoldi said. "I grabbed her. I drew the knife. I was frightened her shouts would bring some one. I didn't want to kill her. I slashed at her throat with the knife. Then I ran."

After Capoldi's confession the police went to his home and found the pocket knife, of the ordinary variety with an ivory handle, lying on a window sill. The knife was folded and the inch and a half blade had been wiped clean.

Some of the clothes Capoldi wore at the time of the attack were sent to Dr. Clarence Muehlberger, coroner's chemist, for examination to determine if there is any of the girl's blood on them.

Eats Heartily After Killing.

Police questioned Capoldi until nearly 2 o'clock this morning and then locked him up under special guard. He added nothing to his confession except that he ate a hearty meal soon after the murder. At no time did he show emotion or remorse. During the night several saloonkeepers in lower State street corroborated Capoldi's story that he had been in their places the day of the killing. Police said this was important, showing the truth, to that extent, of his admissions.

Police learned that in 1920, when Capoldi was 11 years old, he was committed to the state school for the feeble minded at Lincoln as an epileptic and a sex delinquent.

After escaping twice and being recaptured both times, he was paroled from the Lincoln colony in 1925. On Jan. 14, 1927, Judge Mary Bartelme, then sitting in the Cook county Juvenile court, signed a permanent discharge order for Capoldi. Judge Bartelme, now retired, lives in California.

Fined on Girls' Complaints.

Police records show that on June 12, 1935, Capoldi was arrested on complaint of young girls in the Austin district. The charge of indecent exposure was changed to disorderly conduct and he was fined $200 and costs, the maximum, by Judge Thomas A. Green of the Municipal court. Capoldi worked out the fine in the Bridewell.

Last Feb. 9 Capoldi was arrested by the Rogers Park police for disorderly conduct. C. Burton Palmer, 1456 Fargo avenue, the complaining witness, testified that Capoldi annoyed his daughter, Jean, 10 years old. Capoldi was fined $200 and costs by Judge Lambert K. Hayes of the Municipal court and again he worked out the fine in the Bridewell.

Mrs. William Cover, who lives at 419 North Springfield avenue, near Capoldi's home, told police that on a night three months ago he tried to lure her daughter, Eleanor, 10 years old, out of the Covers' yard. The girl screamed and her father pursued Capoldi, who escaped. Mrs. Cover said that she did not learn Capoldi's identity until two months ago and since then has asked the police to search for him.

Moreover, Mrs. Cover averred that on the same night Capoldi approached her daughter he made similar advances toward Mary Dodson, 14 years old, who then lived at 454 North Springfield avenue. The Dodson girl screamed and dropped a bag of groceries in fleeing from Capoldi.

Family Offers an Alibi.

Capoldi lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Capoldi, and his sister, Virginia, 24 years old. In an attempt to give her brother an alibi, Virginia asserted last night that he was home at the time of the attack on the Tiritilli girl Friday night.

Antoinette was one of three children of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Tiritilli. Her father is a PWA worker. Funeral services for the girl will be held at 10 o'clock this morning from Our Lady of Pompeii church, 1224 McAllister place. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery.

Police announced Saturday that one of the suspects sought in Antoinette's murder was Joseph Brabeck, ex-convict. Theodore Jansey, attorney for the Brabeck family, told police yesterday that Brabeck died three years ago.

Bandits Seize Store's Pay Roll; Loot Is $5,000

Morton Smith, a messenger for Dawson's Trading Post, a department store at 8200 South Chicago avenue, and Special Policeman William Rulle, were forced to the curb and robbed of the store's pay roll, amounting to between $5,000 and $6,000, by four gunmen at 64th street and Blackstone avenue yesterday afternoon. Smith told Woodlawn police that the robbers' automobile trailed his from the Southeast bank at 63d street and Woodlawn avenue.

HUNTER'S DEATH CALLED ACCIDENT.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a Kankakee county coroner's jury yesterday in the fatal shooting of Herman Bronsema, 23 years old, 1730 West 14th place. He was wounded Saturday while hunting near Peotone.

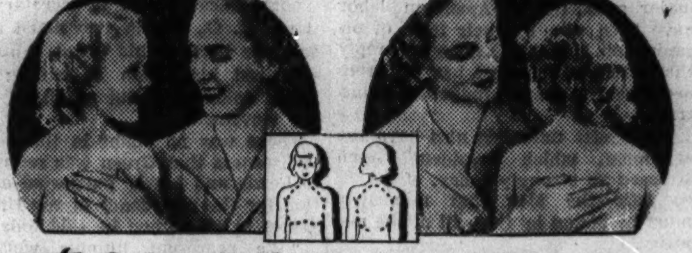
Helps END A COLD Quicker



The 3-Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with warmed cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute —direct to the irritated air-passages of the nose, throat and chest.

This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation—helps break congestion.

While the little patient relaxes into comfortable sleep, VapoRub keeps right on working. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Avoids Risk of Stomach Upsets

This safe, external treatment cannot possibly upset the stomach, as constant internal "dosing" is so apt to do. It can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

O IS FOR OATH

Osric Ogg was nothing loath
To blandly fib when under Oath,
And shysters loved him for his fitness
To nullify a hostile witness.
Osric moved from court to court,
Cashing in upon his forte,
Until his dear defendant mother
Pled, "One cognac's like another."
Said Osric, "Filial though I be,
"That's too perjurious for me.
"Mamma," said Osric, "Pooh to you—
"Though all be false, Otard is true!"

MAKERS PREDICT BILLION BOOST IN 1937 AUTO SALES

Attendance at Show Is Up 76 Per Cent.

BY HAL FOUST.

Motor car manufacturers at Chicago's 37th annual automobile show yesterday foresaw an increase of 5 billion dollars in the public's purchasing power in 1937, as compared with 1936, as a result of raises in wages, bonuses, and dividends.

K. K. Kenderdine, president of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, sponsor of the show, interviewed executives arriving from the motor factories and the 5 billion estimate was reached as a consensus.

The visitors also estimated that a fifth of this increase, or 1 billion dollars, will flow through automotive trade channels. In 1935, the last available statistics, 3 1-3 billion was the wholesale value of vehicles, parts, and tires produced by this largest industry in America.

Show Attendance Increases.

Some foundation for this optimism was seen in the swollen attendance at the exhibition. Al Faeh, manager of the show, reported that in the first three days the number who paid 55 cents to see the merchandise on display was 76 per cent higher than for the same period last year. The total attendance, including the large number of passes, was up 35 per cent.

"The motor car, with the exception of the home, is man's most prized possession," said William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors corporation, in a typical comment from the industry. "The average earnings of workers have gone up $500 a year and much of this money is going into the motor market."

The manufacturers are confident that the improvements in their 1937 models have ample purchase appeal to realize this sales prediction for the next year. A critical public, milling through the exhibits in the International amphitheater, is justifying this confidence. The crowd is scrutinizing engines, chassis, fittings, accessories, specifications, and price tags—and the crowd is expressing approval.

Engineers Discuss Progress.

Some of the 1937 model improvements were summarized before three hundred technicians and designers meeting last night under the auspices of the Society of Automobile Engineers. Austin M. Wolf, a consultant of New York, as the main speaker on the program, told of engine refinements that have made possible a greater horse power with a lower fuel consumption, of chassis refinements that have increased strength and decreased weight, and of the general betterments that have made the 1937 models superior to their predecessors.

This thirty-seventh annual automobile show will continue daily through Saturday night. The hours are from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

PROBATION FOR INCENDIARIST.

Walter Cox, 17 years old, 1620 West 79th street, who confessed that he set fire to his home four times last August, has been placed on probation by Judge Stephen Adamowski in the Boys' court.

NOTES OF THE AUTO SHOW

The trailer section of the motor show, occupying an entire wing of the International amphitheater, is attracting throngs. Men and women stand in queues to walk through some of the more luxurious jobs. With electric refrigerators, gas stoves, radios, showers and lavatories, these land yachts are far different from the home made contraptions used by tin can tourists of a few years ago. The Covered Wagon company, for example, has trailers of pressed steel, riveted and welded, insulated and rustless.

This is Chicago's 37th annual automobile show but the motor car is a bit older than the century. H. A. Trevellyan, formerly of Chicago's motor fraternity but now assistant general sales manager for Oldsmobile, recalled last night that this is his company's 40th year. R. E. Olds designed a commercially successful horseless buggy, one of the first, in 1897.

J. B. Graham, president of Graham-Paige, will arrive in Chicago tomorrow in one of his 1937 models driven from Detroit by Cannonball Baker. It is the same car that last week covered the 666.2 miles between New York and Detroit with a reported economy record of 26.96 miles per gallon of gasoline.

William R. Tracy, vice president of Hudson, on arriving in Chicago yesterday from New York, reported that dealers throughout the country are enjoying a wave of buying of 1937 models.

H. J. Klingler, president of Pontiac, met with dealers at the Saddle and Sirloin club at the stockyards yesterday.

W. C. Cowling, Ford's director of sales, and A. S. Hatch, in charge of Lincoln and Zephyr sales, arrived in Chicago last night to entertain the press at a luncheon at the Drake hotel this morning.

The hours for the performances of "Brides of the Nations," a pageant at the motor show, are 4 p. m. and 9 p. m.

$1,207,000 PASCHEN BID IS LOW ON CALUMET SEWER

The bid of $1,207,800 submitted by the Paschen Brothers Construction company was the lowest of six bids opened yesterday at the meeting of the sanitary district board for construction of the five and one half mile intercepting sewer from Calumet City to the Calumet sewage treatment plant at 126th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The new sewer will purify the water supply for the Calumet district by diverting the sewage which at present is dumped in the Grand Calumet river. The contract for the project which is to be completed by next fall, is to be awarded at the board's meeting next Tuesday.

KILL THAT COLD

Give It No Chance to Survive Thru the Use of Half-way Measures!

Treat a cold to kill it, not to coddle it!

Many a cold lightly treated turns into something worse.

Hit a cold "where it lives"—in the system! That means to take an internal treatment.

Hit it with a cold medicine, not with a preparation good for all kinds of ailments.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is the treatment you want.

First of all, it is a cold tablet, made expressly for colds.

Second, it is internal medication and of fourfold effect.

Here's what it does:

First, it opens the bowels, an advisable step in the treatment of a cold.

Second, it checks the infection in the system, a vital step.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

That's the fourfold treatment a cold calls for and in Bromo Quinine you get it in the form of a single tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain.

The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability.

When you feel a cold coming on, don't "monkey around" with half-way measures.

Go right to your druggist for a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets.

Start taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours. Used in time, Bromo Quinine will usually break up a cold in 24 hours and that's the speed you want.

Automobile Accidents, Injuries, Deaths Prevented As Thousands Join The "NOT-OVER-50" Club

WHETHER or not you are fortunate enough to drive one of the beautiful new cars you will see at the Chicago Automobile Show this year, join the "NOT-OVER-50" Club now and go on record that you stand for safe, sane, sensible driving. Membership is absolutely free!

Do your part to reduce America's terrible toll of 4 deaths an hour, 100 a day, 37,000 a year.

Figures prove that 67% of all automobile deaths occur on the open road where most high speed driving is done.

And remember, the destructive force of your car—its power to kill and maim—is multiplied 4 times when you double the speed, 9 times when you triple it.

The new cars are the last word in safety. Brakes, bodies, construction are miracles of engineering skill. But engineering alone is not enough.

The safety of your car depends on you, the driver. The car you buy for pleasure, to take you anywhere, anytime, comfortably, quickly and safely, can become an instrument of death. But not unless you carelessly or deliberately make it one. It's up to you.

Join the "NOT-OVER-50" Club and see for yourself how much more fun motoring can be when you know you're doing your part for safety on America's highways.

Membership costs you nothing, and you don't have to be a Lumbermens policyholder. However, if you want car insurance at cost, Lumbermens has it for you—plus security and service second to none.

GUN TOTERS HERE LARGELY FROM OUTSIDE CHICAGO

The majority of persons arrested in Chicago for illegal pistol carrying are from other cities, according to a report submitted yesterday to Police Commissioner Allman by Sergts. Frank Ballou and John Janousek of the gun section at the detective bureau.

Their report shows that during the first ten months of the year 728 suspects were questioned about firearms on their persons. Of these only 272 were born in Chicago. So far this year police have seized 725 such weapons, as compared to 805 in the same period last year. In the gangster days several years ago it was not uncommon for police to confiscate more than 1,000 weapons a year.

Through their questioning of offenders Sergts. Ballou and Janousek learned that of the 728 persons seized 31 had college training and 206 had attended high school.

SET DATE IN BIGLEY TRIAL.

Judge John Prystalski in Criminal court yesterday set next Monday for the trial of Alonzo Bigley, former deputy sheriff, and Hugh Falvey, former Circuit court clerk, on charges of conspiracy to defraud the county by forging jurors' pay vouchers.

Mountaineer Kills Witness and Self as Trial Nears

Pineville, W. Va., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Walt Cline's divorce case ended before it began today—in a double tragedy. Sheriff Oswell Cook said the elderly mountaineer fatally wounded Mrs. Trainer Morgan, who was to have testified against him in the divorce action, then killed himself. Mrs. Morgan died this morning in a hospital at nearby Mullens.

CHICAGO STUDENT WRITES PARENTS AS GAS KILLS HIM

Letter Tells of Odor of Fatal Fumes.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—John R. Meltzer, 24, of Chicago, Harvard post-graduate student, w‑s asphyxiated by illuminating gas in his apartment today while telling his parents in a letter of the persistent odor of gas about his quarters.

The unfinished letter gave mute evidence that Meltzer did not suspect that the numbing effects which he recorded in a rather gay mood was death itself, Medical Examiner David C. Dow said death was accidental.

A janitor at an Agassiz street apartment house found the student's body slumped in a chair in his rooms, the interrupted letter before him and two gas jets of a nearby stove open.

Milk and Bacon on Stove.

A pan of skimmed milk stood over one of the jets and a pan of bacon over the other. Meltzer had mentioned in his letter that he had begun preparation of his breakfast by putting bacon and skimmed milk on the stove.

The young man was only partially dressed as though he had taken the few minutes while his breakfast was cooking to write to his parents in Chicago.

"Dear folks," his letter began, "my apartment is very nice except there always seems to be an odor of gas about. This a. m. I feel very sleepy and can hardly stay awake to finish this letter."

"Happy and Content."

He then mentioned that he had started his breakfast cooking on the stove and continued:

"I am very happy and content here and inclined to be a bit gay."

Members of the student's family, who live at 1019 Hyde Park boulevard, Chicago, said they talked with him on the long distance telephone last Friday and that he appeared in good spirits. He had been released that day from a hospital where he had been ill of influenza.

Surviving him are his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Julius W. Meltzer, three brothers and two sisters, all of Chicago. A brother, A. L. Meltzer, president of the Evans Fur company, 162 North State street, Chicago, was on his way here to take charge of the body.

Young Meltzer graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1933 and then attended Harvard university. He was graduated from the Harvard law school with honors last June and was studying this year on a university fellowship. He also was an editor of the Harvard Law Review.

Ousted for Shooting Nitti; Sues to Regain Police Job

A review of the civil service proceedings which directed his dismissal from the police department for shooting Frank Nitti, Capone gangster, on Dec. 19, 1932, was asked in a petition for a writ of certiorari filed on behalf of Harry Lang, former detective sergeant, in Circuit court yesterday. The petition charges the commission proceedings were improper and that the reasons for dismissal were insufficient. Charges of assault with a deadly weapon and perjury against Lang were dropped May 31, 1934, when Nitti failed to appear as a state's witness.

FOILS 'L' STATION HOLDUP.

BARITONE PINZA THREATENS BIFF OVER LOVE SUIT

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Ezio Pinza, operatic baritone, today characterized as a "shake-down" a $200,000 breach of promise suit against him, and threatened to "sock" on the nose the man he declared was responsible for its instigation.

The handsome singer blamed Dr. Roger Santini, Pacific coast representative of an Italian steamship line, for the court action brought by the latter's pretty 28 year old ward, Miss Octavia Picchioni, two days ago.

"That Dr. Santini," Pinza expostulated, "I shall smash my fist upon his nose when next I see him. He could have prevented this silly girl from making this foolish suit against me."

Miss Picchioni charged that the baritone proposed to her in 1933 and that she did not learn until recently that he already was married. She said she met him seven years ago.

ROBBERS COW 18 IN BAKERY PLANT; ESCAPE IN CHASE

Eighteen employés of the Continental Baking company, 1301 Diversey parkway, six of them women, were menaced yesterday by four methodical gunmen who were pursued by police as they fled with $1,776.

While three of the men lined up the victims and guarded them, the fourth entered the office of Earl Campbell, 9965 Charles street, manager of the plant, and compelled him to lead the way to the cashier's cage, from which the bandit scooped the money. Forcing their 18 prisoners to get down on their knees and warning them not to look back, the robbers fled in an automobile.

Policemen Joseph Hoban and James Aman of the Chicago avenue station, riding in a squad car, recognized the robbers' auto from a radio description at Oak street and Milton avenue and gave chase. They were outdistanced at Chestnut and Orleans streets.

REVEAL 'SMOCK BANDIT' IS SON OF EASTERN BROKER

Russell Alsip Linn, 34 years old, 6800 Hilldale avenue, who has been identified in at least nine recent grocery and delicatessen robberies on the northwest side, was revealed yesterday as a former university student and the son of a Philadelphia broker.

Linn, arrested on suspicion on Saturday by Sergt. George Huetting and a Cragin police squad, confessed that he was the bandit who wore a smock while robbing store owners, later donning an overcoat and Derby hat and driving away in his dilapidated automobile. He admitted that he had been committing robberies since last August, when he lost his job as a creamery salesman, in order to support his wife and their 4 year old son, Russell George.

Linn's father, George, a former Chicagoan, was notified in Philadelphia of his son's arrest, and left immediately to help him.

How a New and Vital Editorial Technique Knocked Down Prejudices . . . and built these Great Magazines

TODAY'S generations and tomorrow's will never suffer the indignities of the self-appointed moral guardians of yesterday. Those insufferable snoopers and notorious meddlers have subsided, and the Nation is better off because they have.

Today is a finer, cleaner era because prudery, false-modesty and hypocrisy are now out of date. Restrictions, prohibitions, censorships are less popular. And a crusading editor, once reviled by professional "reformers" has had a weighty influence in bringing about this welcome improvement in the public's attitude.

For almost half a century, Bernarr Macfadden has "sold" liberalism to America, and the success of his fearless campaigns demonstrates again the vitality, the soundness of the Editorial Technique which is the dynamo of his whole group of amazingly successful magazines.

Often appraised as a new psychological discovery in publishing, the Macfadden Editorial Technique is different. Consequently the magazines which employ it are different and they appeal to people whose temperaments are different.

Not one of the Macfadden publications is "just another" magazine. Certainly Liberty differs from the other leading weeklies. Certainly that amazing success, True Story, is unlike any other magazine. Certainly the Macfadden Women's Group, his first magazine — Physical Culture — Photoplay and all the others have an individuality of their own.

The ambitious families who read Macfadden Magazines are made up of millions of wanters. They want the frankness—the freedom from prudery—of the Macfadden Editorial Technique. They want the bodily health, the mental stimulation that make life better—and which Macfadden champions so ardently, so persistently.

And they want things that make life better—things you make and sell. They can afford to get what they want when they want it. Volume selling today certainly demands a volume market...and this, through the demonstrated vitality of their Editorial Technique, Macfadden Magazines provide. More and more advertisers are proving this to their profit and are, therefore, increasing their advertising schedules in these responsive publications.

This series of advertisements is sponsored by Physical Culture, the first of the family of Macfadden Magazines

THE ST. LAWRENCE HOAX.

Several hundred speeches, thousands of books, and a million pamphlets extoling the advantages of the St. Lawrence seaway as an outlet for the surplus farm products of the middle west must be recalled for correction, revision, or reprinting. Repeating an early error in calculation, this mass of misinformative material affirms that completion of the project would improve the position of the middle west grain farmers in the markets of the world to the extent of 6 cents per bushel. It is now being demonstrated that trade winds can reverse themselves and that the billion outlay of the American people will actually aid the foreign farmer to make further inroads in the middle west markets.

Hidden in these claims of seaway advocates is perhaps the greatest hoax ever perpetrated on the American public. Going back to times of world famine and shortage of vessels, it was discovered that grain exporters were once willing to pay 10 cents per bushel for the transportation of wheat from Lake Superior to tide water. Working from this basis, expert propagandists were able to show that with a 25 foot channel available this cost would be reduced to 4 cents per bushel. Therefore, the American exporter must save 6 cents, much of which would accrue to the farmer. Wheat, although mostly Canadian, is still moving, but are the boats getting 10 cents? A few inquiries will show that a rate of 6 cents is regarded as a bonanza; 5 cents a maximum, and 4 cents the summer average. Will the pamphleteers now explain how 6 cents can be saved from a 4 cent rate?

It is also being discovered that the facility will flow both ways. In times of grain shortage the advantage would be passed along to the foreign exporter, to reduce prices at Great Lakes ports, which influence theoretically extends back to the farmers. Grain is not the only commodity involved. Welsh coal is making steady headway in the Canadian household market to the disadvantage of Pennsylvania products. With cheaper transportation costs the day might well arrive when foreign fuels would be sold in Great Lakes ports in competition with products of mines in Illinois, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and the Virginias.

Our politicians erect tarif barriers against foreign products and then propose to spend a billion dollars so to facilitate transportation that half of the protection is destroyed. The combination does not make sense.

UNDER WEIGH.

Another objective in THE TRIBUNE'S platform for Chicago is nearing consummation—"Modern Street Cars"—but it will continue in its place until more widespread replacement is assured. The surface lines have made a start on the Madison street line and THE TRIBUNE has confidence that they will continue the good work until the present antiquated equipment has been completely replaced. Like the first fast train, it may be just a matter of getting under weigh.

While it might appear a relatively simple matter to embody in the street car the ready made ideas developed by automotive engineers, THE TRIBUNE is fully cognizant of the painstaking study behind the new equipment. With central station power available, it is possible to construct a car that will fairly jump into action and can be stopped "on a dime." These characteristics, however, would be beyond the endurance of the riders. Research must develop human reaction to acceleration and a method whereby the pickup will be operated automatically rather than under control of a motorman. In devising springs and brakes there is the problem of vibration frequencies and their relation to travel comfort. In short, it was one thing to build a streamlined street car and quite another to eliminate or modify all of the objections to the older vehicles. Streamlining, the principal outward manifestation of modernity, is of the least value to the cars.

Congratulations of THE TRIBUNE are extended to the Chicago Surface Lines as well as those associations that have aided in producing the fast, scientific and noiseless street car.

RUSSIAN TRENDS.

The censorship of a Russian poet's opera, "The Titans," seems to continue the trend away from the ideas of the revolutionary period. The opera is condemned as "alien to soviet art," but the grounds of objection would have seemed strange indeed in the Moscow of a few years ago. The opera was banned for ridiculing baptism, for glorifying the robbers of Kiev under the czarist régime as revolutionists, and for besmirching the heroes and gods of Russian mythology.

The reasoning of the art committee of the council of people's commissars seems to open a rather serious breach in communist idealogy. Its appeal to historical fact is rather risky. The decision is, of course, not explicitly heretical and can be made to conform, no doubt, to orthodox Marxian doctrin, but once the soviet authority over the Russian mind begins to rebuke mockery of a religious rite on the ground that it facilitated the contact of the Slavic peoples with those of higher civilization there is no knowing where the matter will go. Equally dubious seems to be the defense of the knights and gods, which the poet portrayed as cowards and drunkards, whereas the art committee points out that in popular fancy they represent heroic traits of the Russian people. "To show Russian heroes thus is slander against our historical past," says the censorship.

This reads to us like worse than bourgeois idealogy. Are the Russian people to be permitted to believe or even suspect that religion was not the opium of the people but an element in their advance to higher civilization? Are they to be encouraged to think that heroes, knights, princes are to be viewed historically and as representing their own heroic traits? This is a far cry from 1917.

The poet dramatist must be in a state of bewilderment. But the committee, we may be certain, knows what it is about. There are other signs that the present régime at the Kremlin is more interested in the building up of a strong nationalism than in pursuing the dream of a communist world revolution. The present rulers of the Russian people know that tradition, pride in past greatness, is an element of strength in any nation and Stalin proposes to make Russia once more a great power in the world.

ANOTHER PROHIBITION HARD TO ENFORCE.

The President last Friday told a press conference that he had directed the treasury department, the federal reserve board of governors and the security commission to make studies of the extent of recent foreign buying of American securities. The danger is, as the President said, that aliens may at any time become nervous about their money here, sell their securities and withdraw gold. The amount of foreign money here is so vast that even our two billion dollar exchange stabilization fund is not adequate to cope with it. A collapse of 1929 proportions might be precipitated by a sudden liquidation by foreign stockholders.

Foreign money has no doubt played an important part in the rise in security prices this year, and in particular since the election. This is evident because in the advance of the past year there has been no corresponding increase in brokers' loans or in loans by banks on securities directly to customers. Nor has there been a drawing down of bank balances. Since securities go up only because money obtained somewhere is used to buy them, it is a logical inference that the stock rise has been in considerable part financed abroad.

This does not mean that foreign investors have taken the initiative in putting their money into American stocks. To some extent American speculators have found it profitable to borrow the money they need in London and elsewhere instead of in New York. This result can be credited to the high margin requirements ordered into effect by the federal reserve authorities and the regulation of speculation by the SEC. At present banks and brokers can advance for their customers only 45 per cent of the market value of listed securities. The rest must be supplied by the customer.

A 55 per cent margin is far beyond the requirements of safety in a market as liquid as the New York Stock exchange. In the past a 20 per cent margin has generally proved adequate, and a 25 per cent margin was leaning over backwards. Despite an unprecedented fall in security prices in 1929 these low margin standards proved sufficient to insure the safety of all brokers' loans. The present 55 per cent margin rule has tended to discourage speculation, and it has unquestionably cut down the volume of trading. With vast excess banking reserves created by the unbalanced budgets and devaluation, speculation had to be discouraged or markets would have gotten out of hand. The 55 per cent rule has, however, resulted in driving abroad sound security loans, badly needed by the New York and Chicago banks.

This outcome proves again that when a speculative opportunity is created speculators will find the means to take advantage of it. Bootleg stock loans and nervous money will find a way of getting over here, and it is doubtful that a successful method can be devised to prevent that from happening. When a thirst for alcoholic refreshments persisted despite prohibition bootleg liquor was brought across the Canadian border. And when a patrol was placed on the border Americans went to Windsor and other border towns for what they wanted.

If the importation of foreign money to be invested in American stocks is prohibited the actual trading may be transferred to another country. If the money cannot be had here from the ordinary sources it will be fetched here from Windsor. And if the money cannot be fetched here the Americans will go to Windsor to trade in a manner here forbidden. Prohibitions on speculation are going to prove as difficult of enforcement as prohibition of drinking.

Editorial of the Day

AND STOCKS WENT UP.

[Detroit News.]

The national barometer, the stock market, rose in October in the face of the fact that betting odds on the election of Roosevelt were widening, and that dire consequences were predicted by the street if the Democrats carried the country again.

Wednesday the market opened nervously, but by noon Chrysler had gained three points, General Motors had reached a new high, Sears-Roebuck also, coppers were up, steel was up, and even the sluggish railways were beginning to feel the urge. The afternoon trading saw the gains held and exceeded.

That is a good sign. It is an indication of general confidence in the nation's business. It shows no fear that the United States is on the verge of anything worse than better times. Some may speculate on whether the market would have bounded higher if the returns had favored Landon, but that is beside the mark. The point is that the prospect of Roosevelt's reëlection did not bring panic, and the fact did not cause retrogression. Business is on a sound footing. That is the important fact.

Those who look ahead to 1940 can also look back to 1820 when the collapse of all parties but that of James Monroe caused his election with but a single vote cast against him in the electoral college. But Monroe was the last of the heroes of the constitution. Four years later there were no less than four leaders battling for his mantle—men of a new generation; from the west, Jackson and Henry Clay; from the south, Crawford; from the east, John Quincy Adams. Out of that conflict, in course of time, came two new parties—a new Democracy, supporting Jackson, and the Whigs, headed by Clay. The "era of good feelings" ended in an era of very bad feelings indeed, and hot political fights. So those who predict that all is over with the Republicans would do well to think again. Nothing breeds opposition like too much success.

MALLARD'S FLIGHT.

The mallard is flirting with death on the wing,
Marshes are peppering lead as he flies.
No rest and no stopping at spots that should bring Peace from the torture of wing-weary skies.

Lured by decoys, double-crossed by a blind,
Beauty is threading the airways, to bear
This, the strange welcome from all humankind,
Slaying of beauty and grace of the air!

Far to the southland, unless he shall die,
Bravely the mallard speeds on, day or night,
Running the gauntlet of death, when some cry
Sounds from the marshland, to lure him from flight.

TERRORS OF THE NINETIES.

Travelers who returned to the rural sections after visiting Chicago of the nineties were wont to tell startling stories of the wild street cars tearing madly up and down the streets with complete disregard of human life. Mother, having heard one of these viewers with alarm, wrote to me: "Don't be going around with your head in the air thinking of nothing, the way you do, or you will be killed by the cars. Take good care to look up and down the track before you cross."

NO MARGIN FOR SAFETY.

Another of those hoary classics [what else could classics be?] concerns the first lift bridge built over the river at Michigan avenue. Day after day the foreman, as the bridge rose perpendicularly, was annoyed by an onlooker, fresh from the Emerald Isle, who predicted, "'Twill never reach." At last the span was lowered and the foreman said to the Irishman, "You see, it reaches." The critic replied, "That's all; ye haven't an inch to spare."

"IT CAN HAPPEN HERE."

John P. Motoris, 45 years old, 1318 Ump drive, widely known north side business man, was shot and killed early last evening as he sat in the driver's seat of his car, which had halted at Ohio street and Michigan avenue for a stoplight.

The slayer is Horace J. Pedestrian, 33 years old, 3768 North Oop street. Pedestrian, a meek looking individual who handed his pistol over to Trafic Policeman T. G. Gallagher, told briefly why he had fired on Motoris.

"For years," he said, "I have been annoyed by auto drivers who run ahead of the line and stop directly in the lane which I and other Pedestrians must use in crossing. I feel I have done a public service in starting an effective movement to eliminate this motoring practice."

DEAR LANDLADY.

(On Chicago Avenue.)

Dear lady of the snowy crown,
And hint of orchid in your lips and cheeks,
You make me think of thistledown,
And distant, misty, flake-piled mountain peaks.

Erect, a reed-like thing you glide
Across the floor with all the flower-like grace
Would surely mark a lily's stride,
Were it, alas! not rooted to one place.

Of Dresden china and old lace,
And all ethereal and fragile things,
You make me think. You bear a trace
Of shimmery days, of lovely gossamer wings.

I think when you were very young
You must have been a gold and red bouquet;
But, spite of changes Time has rung,
You are a very lovely thing today,

I do so know the location of the one tavern in Chicago that serves free lunch. But I will not tell you, for humanitarian reasons. ADVOCATE FROM AFRICA.

May I crash the club confab? From the top of a house sized ant hill I've watched an elephant lunching off the scenery and I've tried unsuccessfully to shinny up a mimosa tree while an irritated rhinoceros snorted around the terrain—this in the general neighborhood of Dr. Crile's recent camp, "Maje Moto." But I got a greater thrill recently when about 150 clubwomen with no quibbling about freedom of speech voluntarily pledged their allegiance to this country and its flag and constitution. I didn't hear them say much about improving themselves, but I heard some reports of club action which meant lunches, shoes, and warm clothes so that a considerable number of young Americans could continue in school this winter. Looks as though I'd gotten two Quip Lines crossed, or do the thyroid and phd belong in this one?

SOME CAUSES OF DIZZINESS.

THE symptom of dizziness is usually of short duration and need not be regarded with great concern. Too much tobacco or other toxin may be responsible or the digestive tract may be involved with an upset liver. Quiet, plus a sizable dose of epsom salts, generally relieves the situation completely. Or, again, the tissues may be loaded with water, thus interfering with circulation, and the kidneys will not handle the situation as speedily as we would wish. As soon as the fluid balance is restored all signs of vertigo often disappear.

But there are some instances in which a sense of going "round and round" is significant and a careful search must be made for the cause, as the phenomenon may be incapacitating or even dangerous. One often wonders how many accidents due to falls have their inception in a momentary attack of lightheadedness.

As a rule, the condition does not appear alone but is accompanied by impairment of hearing, ringing in the ears, headache, and nausea. Sometimes it is so severe that the patient will involuntarily grasp at some fixed object in order to retain his balance. We preserve our equilibrium—that is, the ability to stand upright and to walk straight—because of the precise balance of machinery between the inner ear, the vestibular nerve, and certain structures within the skull. If disease attacks any portion of this delicately correlated pathway the sensation of whirling may appear.

Many of us have no doubt seen waltzing mice. The animals spin round and round after their tails—continually exercising. Some years ago R. M. Yerkes showed that the peculiar motions could be attributed to a hereditary defect in the vestibular apparatus.

Perhaps we can recall an excursion on a merry-go-round which was followed by both giddiness and nausea. By constant turning in the same direction we so irritated the vestibular nerve endings that several hours were required for complete return to normal.

Oftentimes the trouble originates in the inner ear where infection may have wrought havoc. Furthermore, we know that the blood supply must be preserved intact and be sufficient in amount. Anything, therefore, that changes the flow of blood or diminishes the caliber of the arteries supplying the internal ear may give rise to the symptom. Toxins can lead to spasms of the arterial wall, which will decrease the quantity of blood carried by a vessel, and they may come from infections about the head, particularly the sinuses, the teeth, and the tonsils.

Mild corrective measures should be applied first. We must make sure that both the Eustachian tubes are open so that air can reach the middle ear spaces via the throat. If one of these channels is closed vertigo may be felt on descending in an elevator or whenever the air pressure changes. This is occasionally observed by airplane passengers. It is important, therefore, that pilots shall not suffer from throat infections likely to obstruct the normal flow of air from the throat to the ear. If reeling is preceded by earache, that fact alone gives us sufficient clew to infection within this area.

With any acute attack which does not pass off quickly the best plan is to lie down in a darkened room. A sedative is helpful and sodium bromide is often of value. If there is any reason to believe that the seizure is of digestive origin a cathartic should be administered. Reduction in the fluid intake is demanded as well as the complete elimination of sodium chloride from the diet. Food should be prepared without salt and after a time the patient will become accustomed to the taste.

Hysteria and neurasthenia must not be overlooked, as they, too, share in the complex. In other cases there is a definite relation between the eye muscles and the symptom when it comes on while looking downward from a height.

Except for the chronic type known as Meniere's disease, most cases of vertigo will yield to rest and good body hygiene.

FLEAS IN BASEMENT.

G. W. writes: What can be done to rid a basement of fleas?

REPLY.

Fleas live on the bodies of dogs, cats, birds, etc. If these pets are about the house the insect eggs will be found on the floors, carpets, etc., of unclean dwellings. When the young are hatched they feed upon articles of refuse. In flea infested homes the larvæ, living in the cracks of the floor, etc., may be destroyed by sprinkling about a thin coating of napthalene and then leaving the room closed tightly overnight. In the morning this substance may be swept up and used again.

ULTRA-VIOLET LAMP.

A. C. writes: How long should the ultra-violet lamp be used at each application? How often should it be used in a week? Are the rays in any way harmful to the skin? I have a naturally oily skin.

REPLY.

Great care should be exercised in the use of the ultra-violet lamp, as there is considerable danger from overexposure. One should subject oneself to the light for a very brief period at first and thus become gradually accustomed to it. The exact dosage depends on the particular lamp employed. The safest rule is to begin with the minimal dose suggested for the lamp you are using.

WHY TAKE IT?

N. Y. writes:

1. I have been taking cod liver oil for a week and notice that my face has become very oily. Has the oil anything to do with this condition?

2. Is it harmful to take cod liver oil without needing it?

REPLY.

1. I doubt it.
2. Probably not, but if you don't need it, why take it?

ECZEMA.

G. E. writes: For years I have been troubled with eczema behind the ears but have never found a remedy. Now it seems to be spreading to the scalp. What would you recommend?

REPLY.

This may be psoriasis, which involves the scalp frequently. Try a fat-free diet. A skilled dermatologist can aid you.

THIS CONCLUDES THE POST-MORTEM.

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 12.—Mr. Roosevelt will receive 523 electoral votes to 8 for Mr. Landon. So expressed, the election appears to indicate an almost unanimous vote. However, Mr. Landon was preferred to Mr. Roosevelt by 16¼ million voters. That is a larger number than voted for any successful candidate for the presidency previous to 1928. Mr. Coolidge polled only 15,725,016 votes in the landslide which many people interpreted as extinguishing the Democratic party forever.

The popular majority for Mr. Roosevelt appears to have been approximately 10 million votes. This is a lot of votes. But Mr. Roosevelt received only 62 per cent of the combined Republican and Democratic vote. In 1920 the Democratic party was voted out of power by receiving only 36 per cent of the votes compared with 64 per cent for the successful Republican candidate.

Mr. Roosevelt's victory was not by the wide margin that some have assumed. A shift of only 1,300 votes would have given New Hampshire to Landon. Had 32,000 Kansans who voted for Mr. Roosevelt voted instead for Mr. Landon he would have carried that state. Only 66,000 voters could have produced a different result in Iowa. A shift of 2½ million votes in twenty-three states would have given Mr. Landon 273 electoral votes and election. Two and a half million votes constitute only 6 per cent of the 43 million votes cast. Mr. Roosevelt thus appears to have been chosen President by the narrow margin of 6 per cent. As I have been telling some of my friends, the vote was so close that I am awaiting anxiously to see who will really be inaugurated on Jan. 25.

YOUR SCHEME WOULD LOWER WAGES IN MANY INDUSTRIES.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Over three and one-half years ago I sent an open letter to this department, copy of which was sent to the President, suggesting a plan whereby labor would be assured of a fair part of the profits of industry, yet industry would be permitted to work out its own salvation without hampering rules and regulations by the government.

I again offer this plan for the consideration of the powers that be, viz.: Let industry alone and permit them to make a fair profit, to be decided by a court of business men. Say the fair profit is 20 per cent. Then all profits over and above the set percentage would have to be divided. The company would be allowed to retain 50 per cent of the overprofit and the employés of that company would get the other 50 per cent. This surely would be giving labor a fair deal and also the owners of the industry. Furthermore it would not require any more additional government employés than are employed now in checking the income tax returns.

Labor is entitled to a better deal than it has received in the past. Let the government see that they get it before the radical element gains a stronger foothold in the country and we have another Italy, Spain, Germany, or Russia.

REFERRED TO MR. KENNEDY.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—How come no more Savarin stories on Sunday? Has Achmed Abdullah run out of ideas? Even though it has been over a year since you stopped publishing them, I still turn hopefully to the fiction section every Sunday, hoping to find my hero again on your pages, but—no soap.

Your daily serial stories are grand.

PROFESSIONAL SALVAGER.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—In answer to R. K. in today's TRIBUNE regarding "L" trainmen grabbing newspapers: Just a few days ago a man getting off at Madison and Wabash left a paper on the seat and a man and woman both made a dive for it.

I thought they would bump heads, but the lady beat him to it, and, by the way, it was a TRIBUNE.

Also another man with a brief case asked a guard for a TRBIUNE, and he gave him one. He put it in his case along with several other papers he picked up on this same train. I saw him, but the guard did not know this man had already a half dozen newspapers.

This fellow is a paper hound who rides all day, and he grabs everything in sight, possibly umbrellas and purses which people leave on trains. That's why we don't always get what we lose on the trains because the trainmen don't get them to forward to the lost property office.

SHIVERING POLICEMEN.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—How many have noticed the shivering trafic officer swinging his arms to keep warm? Shivering because orders permitting the wearing of overcoats have not yet come through. Our policemen are considered able to protect us with their lives, if necessary, but not intelligent enough to dress according to weather. In summer they are obliged to swelter until orders come to allow them to remove their coats. Isn't it time to dispense with such ridiculous orders? Do you suppose the one who gives the orders is wearing his overcoat as he goes to and from his home?

FAIR PLAY.

FATHER COUGHLIN DEFENDED.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—The letter by Morris Augustus in today's issue of THE TRIBUNE is unfair. Father Coughlin was the only speaker on the air during the recent political campaign who stood to gain exactly nothing from the outcome of the election. I did not vote as the reverend father suggested, but every right thinking person must admire his unselfishness and sincerity to the cause of Americanism, and if Father Coughlin's predictions turn out to be facts there will be a lot of red faces amongst the electorate in the next couple of years.

SOCIAL SECURITY ACT SUMMARIZED.

Mr. L. S. Coombs, in criticizing an answer published in this department Nov. 8, supplies the following explanation of the relation between the present state old age pension law and the federal old age insurance which goes into effect Jan. 1, 1937:

"The act provides two plans for assistance to the aged and a plan for unemployment compensation as follows:"

"1. A plan for immediate relief to the destitute aged. Under this plan the federal government furnishes grants in aid to states which pass a law in accordance with the provisions of this section and obtain its approval by the social security board. Pensions are paid by the state from its own revenue and matched by the federal government up to a specified maximum. No direct taxes on employer or employé are levied by the United States government under this section. The state makes whatever provisions it sees fit for taxes to cover its own contributions. Only the destitute aged, without property, income, or relatives able to support them and legally obligated to do so, are eligible for benefits under this plan.

"An approved law carrying out this plan is in effect in Illinois.

"2. The act also provides a plan of old age insurance, which goes into effect Jan. 1, 1937. This applies only to industrial employés, excluding certain specified classes. A federal income tax is levied upon the salaries and wages of eligible employés, applying only to the first $3,000 per annum [except where the beneficiary is working for two or more employers]. Only this portion of income is counted in computing benefits. This tax is deducted by the employer from his payments to the employé, and the employer also pays an equal amount. Each party pays 1 per cent in 1937 and a gradually increasing amount in succeeding years until each is paying 3 per cent in 1949 and thereafter, or a total of 6 per cent. Benefits are paid monthly after age 65 on the basis of the total earnings on which the tax has been paid up to the 65th birthday. There is no "means test" and the possession of property, savings, or income from investments does not disqualify any one, but deductions from the pension are made if the recipient continues working for pay after 65. No benefits will be paid under this section until 1942.

"3. Unemployment insurance is in effect only where state laws approved by the social security board are in effect. The benefits and the plan of state taxation depend upon the state law, subject to the approval of the board. The state may require employés as well as employers to contribute. All the benefits must be paid out of state taxes. The federal government pays only the costs of administration. No benefits are paid, and the federal government contributes nothing, in states which do not have an approved law. Only 13 states had such a law up to Sept. 9, 1936. To the best of my knowledge, no law under this section has been passed and approved in Illinois up to date.

"The federal government has levied a tax under this section upon the TOTAL PAY ROLLS of industrial employers [with certain exceptions] which starts with 1 per cent in 1936, becomes 2 per cent in 1937, and 3 per cent in 1938 and thereafter. There is no federal tax on the employé under this section. In states which have an approved unemployment compensation law the employer may deduct from this tax his contributions under the state law up to 90 per cent of the amount of this federal tax. [The remainder which he has to pay presumably covers the administrative expenses assumed by the United States.] In other states this pay roll tax is clear federal revenue without any strings on it.

"Digests and explanations of the social security act may be obtained free from the Chicago office of the social security board, 211 West Wacker drive."

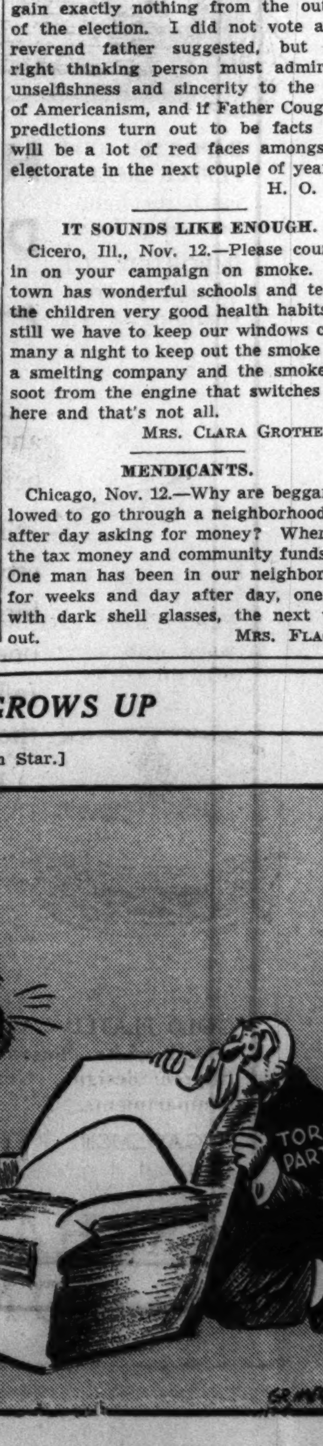
HIS PET GROWS UP

[London Star.]



JUDGE PROMISES TO DECIDE STORK RACE THIS WEEK

Lawyers Brand $500,000 Baby Derby Revolting.

TORONTO, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Justice W. E. Middleton said tonight he would decide within a week, "if at all possible," on the validity of Charles Vance Millar's will leaving $500,000 to the winner of Toronto's weird 10 year stork Derby.

Counsel for both sides in the hearing indicated they would appeal if Justice Middleton should rule against their clients.

Counsel for relatives seeking to break the Millar will charged today the clause for the $500,000 "stork Derby" in reality encouraged the birth of illegitimate children, and asserted that therefore the will should be ruled against the public order and invalid.

Admits 5 Born After Separation.

One claimant to the stork Derby prize has admitted five of her children were born after she separated from her husband.

Gordon Lawr, representing Millar relatives, said Millar, a lawyer, had realized that in the interpretation of wills a gift to children usually is taken to mean legitimate children. He deliberately sought to get around this, Lawr said, by making the bequest to mothers instead of children.

I. F. Hellmuth, another of the lawyers representing Millar relatives, asked whether it was not against the public good that the mothers should be stimulated to produce children "like rabbits."

Hellmuth, contending the money prize was held out to mothers to encourage child-bearing, regardless of whether the children lived or not, declared "it was a vicious contest."

6 Derby Mothers Stare.

Six of the stork Derby mothers stared fixedly at the lawyers as they in turn called the contest vicious, degrading, and revolting.

The hearing was a continuation of one begun ten days ago to determine to whom the money should be paid.

W. E. N. Tilley, counsel for the executors, read affidavits made by the Rev. Charles Silcox, secretary of the social service counsel of Canada, and Dr. W. B. Hendry, Toronto obstetrical specialist, which declared their belief the contest was not in the public good.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 16.—(AP)—John H. Shobe, Boston, Mass., airplane pilot injured in a crash of his ship that took two other lives, died today while his wife sped to his bedside by airplane.

Henry Nadeau, 45, of Nashua, N. H., who chartered Shobe's airplane for a flight to the bedside of his dying father at International Falls, Minn., succumbed to his injuries several hours earlier.

Miss Priscilla Murphy, 16 year old Brookline, Mass., schoolgirl and amateur pilot, was burned to death when the plane crashed after taking off from Amboy airport last night.

MAN WITH 'HEART OF STONE' IS DEAD AFTER SCRAPING

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The strange case of William Harley, 28, a man with an actual "heart of stone," stirred new interest in British medical circles today.

Harley underwent an operation in which his chest was cut open and his heart scraped while it was still beating. The organ had become calcified. Dense chalklike placques, brought on by chronic inflammation, prevented it from functioning properly by constricting the great veins.

Surgeons at the Royal Chest hospital decided they must scrape the heart to free it from the layers of chalky deposit—much as mechanics decarbonize an automobile engine. Harley rallied from the ordeal, physicians said, and was described as "comfortable and cheerful." He lived beneath an oxygen tent apparently recuperating.

Their hopes were blasted, however, when Harley died Nov. 10. Surgeons said the operation itself had been a success, but that death had been brought on by "complications."

AMBROSE SMALL MYSTERY OF 1919 BOBS UP AGAIN

Link Strangle Plot with Vanishing of Millionaire.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 16.—[Canadian Press.]—An alleged strangulation plot was linked today with the mysterious disappearance of Ambrose Small, multi-millionaire Toronto theater owner, object of a world-wide search since he vanished in 1919.

Roy Greenaway, Toronto Daily Star reporter, a witness in the Supreme court action to prevent distribution of Small's $2,000,000 estate, testified the late Mrs. Theresa Small, widow of the theater magnate, told him a few details of the alleged "plot" in an interview six years ago.

"She said she thought a fight over money led to a scuffle which accidentally killed him," the reporter testified.

Secretary's Name Mentioned.

He added that Mrs. Small mentioned the name of John Doughty, Small's secretary, in connection with the fight. Doughty, on his return to Toronto a year after Small's disappearance, was charged with the theft of $100,000 worth of securities owned by Small and was sentenced to five years in the pentitentiary.

Another witness, Frederick Osborne, former caretaker of the Grand Opera house, testified that shortly before Small disappeared Doughty asked him how he would like to have $20,000 and told him to send his family away while the plan to strangle Small was carried out.

Osborne said he quit his job, refusing to have anything to do with Doughty's plotting.

Hears Argument.

Thomas Shields testified that on the night of Dec. 2, 1919, he went to the basement of the Grand Opera house and heard "quite an argument" between Doughty and Small near by.

"Doughty used terrible language," Shields said. "He threatened to throw Small in the furnace."

He said he associated the incident with Small's disappearance a day later, but that he did not tell any one except Jimmy Cowan, Grand Opera house manager, who told him: "Mind your business. Don't get mixed up in this."

Estate Went to Widow.

Small's estate went to his widow several years after he was officially declared dead. Mrs. Small died last October, leaving most of the estate to the Roman Catholic church and charitable institutions.

The present court action, based on a claim that Mrs. Small obtained the estate by fraud and other illegal means, was brought by Mary Florence Small, sister of Ambrose Small.

Previously a document was filed by Miss Small's attorney purporting to have been signed by Mrs. Small and setting forth that she conspired to procure the death of her husband.

ENGLISH STEAM TRAIN AVERAGES 68 M.P.H. ON 401 MILE NONSTOP RUN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A record was claimed to have been shattered today on the London, Midland and Scottish railroad's London-Glasgow line. A special test train, weighing 275 tons and hauled by the Princess Elizabeth, a steam locomotive, covered 401½ miles in 5 hours 53 minutes, at an average of 68.2 miles an hour.

The highest speed attained on the longest nonstop run ever made by a steam train was 95.75 miles an hour over a measured mile. For 372 miles the train averaged 70 miles an hour.

Leaving London at 9:50 a. m. the flyer pulled into Glasgow at 3:43 p. m., 7 minutes ahead of schedule, slicing nearly 2 hours from the best time-table performance. The equipment used is the same as that used in the ordinary express service, and is not streamlined.

REPORTER'S CALL BALKS WOMAN IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Newark, N. J., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—An attempted suicide was forestalled today in Maplewood by a Newark society reporter's telephone call.

When the reporter phoned Mrs. Margaret S. White for a routine social item, the woman said: "Don't bother me now. I'm committing suicide within the hour."

Police, in response to calls from the reporter, arrived before gas pouring from three jets in the kitchen range could do any harm.

The haggis, ancient ceremonial pudding of the highlanders, is made of the hearts and livers of sheep, mixed with onions, oats, and herbs, and boiled in a lamb's stomach.

Defends Aldermen's Work on Proposed Building Code

Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], chairman of a city council subcommittee appointed six months ago to consider the proposed new building code, yesterday answered criticisms of the slowness with which the aldermen are acting. The code was recommended for the city after nine years of work by two committees of architects. "Our committee has worked on the code for six months, and we have been forced to make so many changes that we have covered only half the code," said the alderman. "It will take another six months to finish it."

NAZIS DENOUNCED BY BRITAIN FOR SCRAPPING PACT

Eden Raps Hitler; Calls Action "Deplorable."

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, denounced Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany this afternoon in the house of commons for importing fresh disturbances into European affairs by tearing up another chapter of the Versailles treaty, that relating to the internationalization of German rivers.

Eden did it mildly, however. He said the damage Hitler did by his "unilateral action" in assuming full sovereignty over German waterways was moral rather than material. He said the action was regrettable, not from the fact that British trade interests would suffer, but because "actions of this character must render more difficult the conduct of international affairs."

Points to Hitler's Words.

Eden, who was replying to a request from Maj. C. R. Attlee, Labor leader, for a statement on the subject of Hitler's action, said that only last May Hitler had publicly declared he would not tear up any more parts of the Versailles treaty, nor attempt to revise such clauses as those relating to the control of rivers and the Kiel canal except "by means of a feasible understanding."

Negotiations were progressing toward letting Germany sit in on the various river commissions, the foreign minister said. It was a pity, he concluded, that the German government had not come to a suitable arrangement in this way instead of taking action which revives suspicion about its good faith in future undertakings.

Diplomatic circles believe repudiation of the peace treaty's river clauses was Hitler's way of showing his displeasures at the recent visit of Col. Josef Beck, Polish foreign minister, to London. They also suggest it was a hint to Czechslovakia that Prague's close relations with soviet Russia displeased the fuehrer. The Czechs alone are likely to suffer any material damage by the German action because the Nazis now are in a position to cut off Czechoslovakia from the sea and smother that nation's world commerce.

Three Nations Protest.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Belgium and Czechoslovakia have agreed to join France in a protest against Germany's denunciation of the navigation clauses of the Versailles treaty, officials said today. Other powers, including England, were expected here to join the protest.

ISLE PERILED BY QUAKES; RUSH AID TO 3 INHABITANTS

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 16.—A series of violent earthquakes and magnetic storms threaten the distant island of Jan Mayen, off northern Norway, whose only three inhabitants have wirelessed for aid. A rescue expedition is under way from Aalesund. The quakes began Oct. 27 and have recurred almost daily.

The island stands on probably undermined lava rock from a volcano, Mount Beeren, which has been quiet since 1818. Norwegian scientists fear the island may be shaken to pieces and submerged.

Norway maintains there a meteorological observatory, stafed by three young meteorologists.

RELATIVES CLAIM WALLY EXPECTS TO MARRY KING

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Wallis [Wally] Simpson firmly expects to become the bride of King Edward VIII. of England. The divorcée's relatives here today for the first time admitted that Mrs. Simpson had confided her hope to them. Her reason they said was justifiable family pride—a conviction that she should assure her kinsfolk in the United States that she is not guilty of carrying on a romantic intrigue.

The former Baltimore debutante did not use the words "bride" or "queen" at any time, her confidants said. But the meaning, they insisted, was clear and unmistakable. She made it plain that she had nothing to conceal in her friendship and that her relations with "Edward" were "of course" what the family would expect.

"The situation can only be interpreted in one way," one relative said. "Whether she marries or not, of course, is a question that cannot yet be answered."

Another relative admitted a letter from Mrs. Simpson had "arrived only recently." She said that "only the stupid can't see what I know."

RUSSIA REJECTS HITLER PROTEST AGAINST ARRESTS

Foreign Office Declines to Receive Complaint.

MOSCOW, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Soviet Russia declined tonight to accept a sharply-worded German protest against the jailing of 23 German citizens, held incommunicado on charges of espionage and of being involved in a fascist plot against Russia.

N. N. Krestinsky, soviet vice commissar for foreign affairs, advised the German charge d'affaires, Werner von Tippelskirch, he was "unable" to receive the complaint.

The protest, declaring the arrests were "extremely aggravating" and certain to strain relations between the two countries, demanded immediate proof of the charges against the imprisoned Germans.

Shut Off from Outside.

It also insisted on the right to communicate with the prisoners, who have been shut off from all outside contact since they were seized along with a number of persons of other nationalities in connection with an alleged anti-soviet conspiracy.

The protest declared Germany considered "no serious reason has been given for the arrest of its nationals."

Von Tippelskirch himself said it was "ridiculous" that the soviets, ten days after the arrests, had been unable to provide any more information about them.

The German ambassador, Count Frederic Werner von der Schulenberg, is expected to return tomorrow from his vacation at Tiflis to take personal charge of the case.

The German embassy said nine German citizens had been arrested in Moscow, 12 in Leningrad and two elsewhere. Fourteen were charged with espionage and conspiracy, it was said, but accusations against the other nine had not been disclosed.

The charges were based on article 58 of the soviet criminal code, dealing with revolutionary activities, espionage, sabotage and "wrecking."

Two women were among those imprisoned—Frau T. Tutterknecht of Leningrad, wife of a lumber buyer who also was arrested, and Tatiana Baerwald, daughter of Paul Baerwald, Leningrad radio engineer.

Another arrested in the "round up" was the Rev. M. Streck, Russian-born German Lutheran pastor, whose detention obliged American diplomats to import a pastor from Leningrad on Saturday to perform the wedding of United States Vice Consul George Minor and Miss Mildred Wright, of Charleston, W. Va.

Predicts Berlin-Tokio Pact.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Germany and Japan rapidly are reaching an agreement on an anti-soviet treaty designed to combat the growth and spread of communism, Paul Patterson, president of the Baltimore Sun papers, said today. Patterson arrived in Shanghai after spending several weeks in Japan.

He said that although negotiations on the agreement were secret, the terms of the proposed treaty were expected to be disclosed before the Japanese parliament convenes Dec. 24.

Patterson expressed belief Premier Koki Hirota and Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita will submit the pact to the Japanese privy council within two weeks. The agreement, he said, probably would be approved at once and would be followed by an official announcement making the treaty effective.

The American newspaper executive declared he had learned Prince Chichibu, brother of Japanese Emperor Hirohito, would pay a courtesy call on Reichsfuehrer Hitler while in Europe to attend King Edward's coronation next May. Observers have interpreted this plan, Patterson said, to signify a formal understanding between the Berlin and Tokio governments.

TENANTS FLEE STILL EXPLOSION.

Fire which started after an explosion of a 150 gallon still in a vacant flat at 3110 Cottage Grove avenue early yesterday drove fifteen colored tenants of the building to the street. Damage was estimated at $200.

BRITAIN PLANS TO UNIFY NAVY AIR FORCE COMMAND

Seeks to Give Admiralty Control in War.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Important recommendations aimed at stifling the growing criticism of the British government's rearmament policy shortly will be submitted to the cabinet, it was stated today in political circles.

The first recommendation proposes that unified control of the fleet air arm be vested in the admiralty in time of war, and that preliminaries to the change be begun as soon as possible.

Seek Supply Board Chief.

The second advocates the appointment of a parliamentary secretary to Sir Thomas Inskip, minister for coordination of defense. The secretary would be charged with the special responsibility of presiding over the supply board. In this way the government hopes to overcome insistent demands voiced in the house of commons by Winston Churchill and other diehards for the creation of a munitions or supply ministry. The government is opposed to a full fledged ministry on the grounds that it would interfere with the finance and industry of the country.

The decision to recommend that the admiralty control the fleet air arm is understood to have been taken subject to an agreement among the chiefs of staf of the three fighting services on preliminary steps necessary to effect a smooth change-over from the present system of dual control by the admiralty and air ministry.

Proposals Are Submitted.

Inskip has submitted a report to the chiefs of staf embodying the decision and also proposals for effecting the change with the object of insuring efficient completion of the naval air force rearmament program unhindered by a sudden dislocation of existing machinery, and in order that the admiralty shall have assumed complete control of the fleet air armament and perfected administrative machinery if and when war comes.

A transitional period during which complicated changes will be gradually introduced is suggested.

COURT ORDERS 'MOSES' BACK TO MOTHER'S ARMS

Covington, La., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Judge Robert D. Jones ordered welfare workers today to return Moses, the mystery baby, to his mother, despite the "misguided and errant" circumstances of the child's birth.

The baby at present is in New Orleans Charity hospital suffering from a cold. Judge Jones said his decree should be carried out "as soon as physical conditions will permit."

Eight days ago Mrs. Louis E. Crawford, wife of a WPA worker at Pearl River, La., declared the baby was brought to her home by a large dog. Later she admitted that the dog story was a hoax and claimed the infant as her own.

ANNOUNCE NEW TREATMENT FOR ULCERS, BURNS

Claim One Application Shows Healing Effect.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Widespread and effective use of allantoin in the treatment of ulcers, burns, gangrene, and other diseases which failed to heal under other treatment was announced today on the eve of the 13th annual meeting of the Southern Medical association.

The drug has met with outstanding success in the treatment of a large number of chronic discharging wounds, according to Dr. F. C. Bishopp of the United States department of agriculture, where it was developed.

Approximately 500 members of an expected attendance of 2,000 arrived today for the four day meeting of the association and coincident meetings of the American Society of Tropical Medicine, the National Malaria committee, the American Academy of Pediatrics, and the southern branch of the American Public Health association.

Other Uses Revealed.

The department of agriculture presented an exhibit discussing briefly the uses which have been found for allantoin. It was originally discovered, it was pointed out, as one of the secretions of surgical maggots which have been widely used in the treatment of chronic wounds such as the bone disease known as osteomyelitis.

The drug was found to have distinct healing effects similar to those obtained from maggot therapy and has replaced the use of maggots to some degree.

Ordinary urea, the first organic chemical ever made synthetically, was found to be a part of the allantoin molecule and has given similar beneficial results in healing, according to Dr. William Robinson, who developed the drug. Both chemicals, it was pointed out, are now made synthetically.

The exhibitors declared that a new use had been found for allantoin in the treatment of diabetic ulcers, an unresponsive type of condition.

One Application Benefits.

They quoted Dr. Eugene C. Rice, a specialist of Washington, D. C., who has collaborated in testing the drug, that "one application to such an ulcer makes a decided change. It is much like a boy's dirty face that has been cleansed with soap and water." With its continued use, he added, "healing takes place quicker than with other medication."

Allantoin was declared to be odorless, tasteless, and nontoxic, its principal effects being apparently to stimulate the growth of granulation tissue in a wound and promote rapid healing. It also has been found to bring about a considerable reduction of pain from wounds within a short time.

How Big Should an Ad Be?

7 REASONS WHY Puck–The Comic Weekly is a logical Basic Advertising Medium

1 The Broadest Base in Advertising. Puck–The Comic Weekly provides the broadest single base upon which to build a comprehensive national advertising program—nearly six million families—more than 20,000,000 potential readers. Puck–The Comic Weekly comes nearest to being America's all-family advertising medium.

2 Medium-in-Motion. It does more than merely expose advertisements to this vast audience—it presents them in an environment which makes reading inevitable.

3 The Largest Single-Medium Whole-Family Circulation. Besides the normal adult readership in nearly six million homes, Puck–The Comic Weekly has more than eight million juvenile readers, several hundred thousand of whom will become heads of families each year.

4 Low Cost Per Family Reached. A big 4-color page (14⅜" x 19⅜"), 2½ times the size of the standard national weekly magazine page, costs only 3 mills per family. This rate is low for Puck–The Comic Weekly's adult circulation alone, without considering the millions of juveniles who constitute a continuous circulation bonus.

5 Concentration in Best Buying Areas. Puck–The Comic Weekly reaches an average of 42.4% of all families in 627 out of the 995 key cities of 10,000 or more population. In these 995 key cities 70% of all the nation's retail sales are made.

6 One Policy—One Make-Up. Puck–The Comic Weekly is one publication—not seventeen. It has one editorial policy—one cast of characters—one make-up—one quality of printing.

7 Maximum Visibility—Minimum Competition. Each advertisement in Puck–The Comic Weekly receives spotlight position—the number of advertisements per issue is limited, thus assuring each advertiser maximum attention.

LINCOLN once wittily remarked that "A man's legs should be long enough to reach from his body to the ground". If he had been asked "How big should an ad be?", he probably would have replied "Big enough to reach from the eyes to the purse".

As a target for all eyes and a temptation for every purse, nothing equals the big colorful pages of Puck–The Comic Weekly, distributed through the great Hearst Sunday newspapers. Twenty million pairs of eyes will be focused on your page advertisement in Puck–The Comic Weekly. And twenty million minds will be impressed by the importance of your message and the standing of your company.

America is size-minded—bigness goes over big in this country, and so do the advertisers who employ bigness in facing their public. Concentration of large-space advertising exclusively in Puck–The Comic Weekly wins for advertisers the loyalty of more than enough families in the 995 cities and towns of 10,000 population and over, where 73% of Puck–The Comic Weekly's U. S. circulation concentrates, to determine what the dealer displays and what the public buys.

Experienced advertisers are capturing with their full-page advertisements in Puck–The Comic Weekly the same lively interest which the All-Star Cast (Jiggs & Maggie, Popeye, Tillie, Skippy, Blondie, the Katzenjammer Kids, Flash Gordon, Barney Google, Toots & Casper, the Little King and Company) arouses with its intensely human portrayal of laughs, loves, thrills and tears—the basic themes of life, literature and drama.

Remember, it's the cast that makes the comics. The one and only All-Star Cast is in Puck–The Comic Weekly. It's the surest guarantee of star-pulling power.

We would welcome the opportunity to show what the All-Star Cast has done for other advertisers. Please phone COlumbus 5-2642 New York or Superior 6820 Chicago.

TRACES HORSE AND HIS RIDER TO ONE FAMILY TREE

Cambrian, or first period of the Palaeozoic era, many celled animals, including representatives of such great divisions as the worms, custaceans, molluscs, are already recognizable.

"The first recognizable forerunners of the self-moving grappling bridge are found in the second period of the Palaeozoic era, in the form of ostracoderms, earliest representatives of the vertebrates.

Robbers of Solar Energy.

"What was the use of this locomotor machinery? It served, of course, to carry the animal toward the life giving food containing vitalizing, locked up solar energy. The vertebrates have been on the whole one of the most successful classes of robbers of solar energy, excelled perhaps only by the insects.

"The first forerunner of the paired limbs, which was destined to form the pillars or towers of the self-moving grappling bridge, were the paired fins which projected from the body just behind the head and at the base of the tail. By the time of the lobe finned fishes in the Devonian period, the paired fins had changed into paddles with a freely movable base.

"With the rise of the amphibians near the close of the Devonian period the primitive tetrapod type began an extensive development or adaptive radiation into many body forms.

"Certain primitive light limbed dinosaurs of the Triassic time developed into the gigantic Sauropods. Here the principles of the self moving grappling bridge are manifested in extreme form.

Developing the Bipedal Gait.

"The bipedal gait has been adopted by the gibbon men when running upon the ground, while the chimpanzee and still more the gorilla can rear up and take a few steps on their hind legs. We see in these living fossils which are the little modified survivors from the old Tertian anthropoids, preliminary and incomplete experiments in turning the self-moving bridge up on its rear tower; but the anthropoids have failed to make the necessary adjustments for balancing the center of the body over the center of the support. This feat was successfully performed by the ancestors of man, partly by developing the lumbar curve or forward dip of the small of the back, partly by prolonging the hindpart of the blade of the hipbone upward and backward and thus widening the contact between the backbone and the pelvis.

"Man like other vertebrates derives the energy for all his activities from the solar energy stored by the plants and that even the human face, however classic and dignified it may be, is seen by comparison with the faces of other vertebrates to be merely a much modified fish trap, concealing behind a godlike mask the teeth which it has inherited from ferocious ancestors, who were bent on snatching the solar energy from other animals and from the plants that first stored it.

"Moreover the entire human anatomy bears the plainest traces of derivation from the primitive self-moving grappling bridge type.

Ignored by Many Writers.

"This elementary but far reaching fact, which was well understood by Lamarck, Darwin, and all later evolutionists, is to this day ignored by the vast majority of mankind, including the writers of many textbooks on human anatomy.

"By a critical combination of evidence from palaeontology and comparative anatomy we can however assemble a series of known forms which gradually lead the way from the primitive fish of the Palaeozoic era up through the air breathing, lobe finned fishes that first pushed their ugly snouts up on land, to the lowly amphiabians and reptiles who carried the nascent grappling bridge through the early critical stages of adaptation to life on the ground.

"A comparison of the skeleton of Homo sapiens with those of his nearest surviving relatives shows that he has longer legs and shorter arms and that his cranium has become greatly inflated. Perhaps that is the reason he so often turns his back on his poor relations and refuses to recognize his lowly origin.

"But whether or not the self-named Homo sapiens will listen to the small voice of comparative anatomy and paleontology the facts plainly indicate that the skeletons of both the horse and his rider, however much they differ in details, are but divergent modifications of the old grappling bridge type. And all the manifold transformation of this central organic design have arisen as the cumulative results of divergent lines of repetition, combination, and selective emphasis of its parts."

NOTES ON SCIENCE MEETING

Dr. Emil Witschi of the University of Iowa, one of the biologists attending the National Academy of Science meeting, is known for his experiments on sex hormones. He has used salamanders in making recent discoveries. Dr. Witschi is here with his wife, Mrs. Martha Witschi. They came to this country five years ago from Switzerland, where he was a professor in the University of Basle.

* * *

The scientists lunched, buffet style, on "shepherd pie," fruit salad, nut muffins, shrimp, and coffee in Judson court. Few of them resemble the mythical "professorial type." Several are models of personal and sartorial good looks. Among these are two from the University of Chicago, Arthur H. Compton, the physicist, who wore a grayish blue suit of soft tweed and a Scotch plaid tie yesterday, and F. C. McLean, blond and tall.

* * *

At another table sat Mrs. Compton, chatting with J. McKeen Cattell, former psychologist at Columbia university. Under his spectacles and his flying fringe of gray hair, Mr. Cattell appeared professional, but he isn't, for he now edits Science.

* * *

Dr. David Slight of the University of Chicago intrigued the afternoon session by his story of a man who suffered periodically from dementia præcox. This man in his insane periods would hold his breath for nearly 7 minutes, whereas normally a person's best breath-holding record is 3 minutes 25 seconds. After the lecture Dr. Anton J. Carlson suggested that "the poor fellow" be allowed to go on holding his breath to see what would happen.

* * *

Grave and courteous, a turbaned mathematician from India was a popular figure. He is T. Vijayaraghavan, and is on tour lecturing for the American Mathematical society while on leave from the University of Dacca, Bengal.

By measuring the shadows they cast, the craters of the moon have been measured. F. E. Wright of Carnegie institution, Washington, told how the crater, Tyche Brahe, was found to be 17,000 feet deep and 52 miles in diameter.

* * *

"Aristotle said people suffered gastric disturbances when they took too much fat with their food," said Dr. A. C. Ivy of Northwestern university in beginning his lecture on "Enterogastrone." Since 1926 Dr. Ivy has been conducting experiments on the gastro-intestinal area. He found that even when the nerves were cut excessive sugar and fat caused disturbances in an animal's stomach and intestine. He has now found a substance which when injected in the veins or under the skin retards the secretion of gastric juices. Observers said later that Dr. Ivy's research work when completed might do much toward controling stomach ulcers.

ON ORIGIN OF COSMIC RAYS

One of the most important papers given yesterday was that on the latest conclusions in cosmic ray research by Dr. Arthur H. Compton, Nobel prize winner of the University of Chicago.

Cosmic rays, he has found, come from a source far remote from the earth's galaxy, the Milky Way. This conclusion is on the basis of measurements of the effect of the rotation of the galaxy on the strength of the rays. The rays vary in intensity both as to time of day and as to incidence in the northern and southern hemispheres.

It has been stated by astronomers for several years that the Milky Way galaxy is rotating approximately 45 degrees to the northward at a speed of 186 miles per second. The sun, it is found, is moving with the rotation of the galaxy in the general direction of the constellation Cygnus.

Predictions Are Borne Out.

Dr. Compton and Dr. I. A. Getting of Havard predicted that if this rotation existed the greatest intensity of the cosmic rays should be when Cygnus is directly overhead. They also predicted that there would be a greater average incidence of the rays in the northern hemisphere than in the southern hemisphere because the northern hemisphere would be the forward moving face of the earth if the galaxy were rotating, just as a person riding a merry-go-round in the rain would be hit by more drops on the face than on the back.

Various measurements during the last three years by scientists in various parts of the earth prove, according to Dr. Compton, that more cosmic rays are hitting the front of the earth in its motion with the rotation of the galaxy. If the rays come from within the galaxy, Dr. Compton reasons, there would be no such variation. It follows that the origin of the rays is perhaps even more remote than the most distant stars shown by the telescopes.

A further report on this rotating galaxy in which man moves and has his being, as unconscious of it all as a fish in the sea, came from Dr. Joel Stebbins of Mount Wilson observatory and Dr. E. A. Whitford of the University of Wisconsin.

Through measurement of fainter stars, 2,000 light years away from the earth, it is concluded that clouds of stellar dust in the Milky Way are heavier toward the center of the galaxy than at the edges. The measurements were made of seventy-five stars in the region of the constellation Sagittarius by means of a photo-electric amplifier. No telescope, they reported, will be able to penetrate the center of the galaxy because of the obscuring dust.

FILM FLAMES OF SUN

Great jets of flame shooting to a height of a hundred thousand miles from the surface of the sun were shown in the first motion pictures obtained by Drs. Robert R. McMath and Edison Pettit of the University of Michigan. Rainbows 150,000 miles long and other solar fireworks were displayed. The pictures were made in the new solar tower of the McMath-Hulbert observatory at Lake Angelus, Mich.

The tower is fifty feet high and rises from a concrete well thirty-five feet deep. At the bottom of the well is a spectroheliograph which spreads the light of the sun into a spectrum, making selective photography possible.

The pictures obtained show the flames, which contain large proportions of incandescent calcium and hydrogen, spurting to heights of 50,000 to 100,000 miles. Along these jets of flames move masses like the discharge of a giant Roman candle, a thousand miles long and 300 miles in diameter. Faint clouds form high in the solar atmosphere, descending in jets or currents, at temperatures estimated at 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit. The surface of the sun is shown by the low, sharp pointed prominence flames darting up perhaps for a thousand miles and then subsiding.

THE BODY'S THERMOSTAT

The hypothalmus, a group of tissues at the base of the brain, was described by Dr. S. W. Ranson of Northwestern university as the thermostat which controls the temperature of the body. He said that the front part of the hypothalmus prevents the body temperature from rising too high, while the posterior part increases body temperature when necessary.

"Body heat is formed by the burning of foods, and is eliminated through the skin and lungs," Dr. Ranson said. "When the hypothalmus is injured the controls of these processes are destroyed. If, for example, the posterior section of the hypothalmus is destroyed the body loses heat rapidly in a room at 70 degrees Fahrenheit."

Opposes Adrenal Theory.

Interference with the adrenal glands, either through surgery or the use of X-rays, is of no aid in the treatment of diabetes. This is the conclusion of Dr. Julius M. Rogoff, visiting professor in physiology at the University of Chicago, who said the theory that epinephrine released by the adrenals increases the sugar content of the blood has been disproved by experiments on diabetic animals.

Insulin, the drug which enables a diabetic to utilize the sugar in the blood, was administered to diabetic animals. It was found, Dr. Rogoff said, that the same amount of insulin was required for animals whose adrenal glands had been treated as for those who had not been treated. Dr. Rogoff warned that attempts to tamper with the adrenals often resulted in injury to the liver and kidneys.

What Kills Bone Cells.

Dr. Franklin C. McLean, professor of pathological physiology, and Dr. William A. Bloom, associate professor of anatomy, both from the University of Chicago, described their experiments which, they said, showed that an excess secretion of the parathyroid hormone kills bone cells, which are then removed like any other damaged tissue in the body.

Fibrous tissue absorbs and replaces the destroyed cells, they said, and in time develops into new bone.

NEW TELESCOPE GUIDE

A device by which a photoelectric cell may take over the astronomer's tedious job of following, through an eyepiece, the object being photographed in order to keep the telescope centered on the object was explained by A. E. Whitford and G. E. Kron of the Washburn observatory at the University of Wisconsin.

In the new guider a knife edge divides a beam of light from the star into equal parts, which are made to shine alternately on the sensitive face of the photoelectric cell. If the beam is not perfectly centered on the knife edge one beam striking the cell will be brighter than the other. The flicker thus produced actuates the controls of the motor driving the telescope until it is again centered on the object.

Multiply Impulse from Star.

The Wisconsin astronomers explained that the chief difficulty in operating the mechanism is the extremely small amount of light available from the object. By means of a recently developed electron multiplier the impulse from the star is multiplied a billion billion times.

SLEEPS UNDER AUTO; FREED.

Arthur Oswald, 35 years old, arrested Sunday night while sleeping under a parked automobile at Wabash avenue and 7th street, was freed of a charge of disorderly conduct yesterday by Judge Eugene L. McGarry in South State street court.

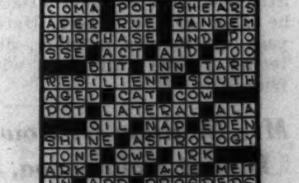
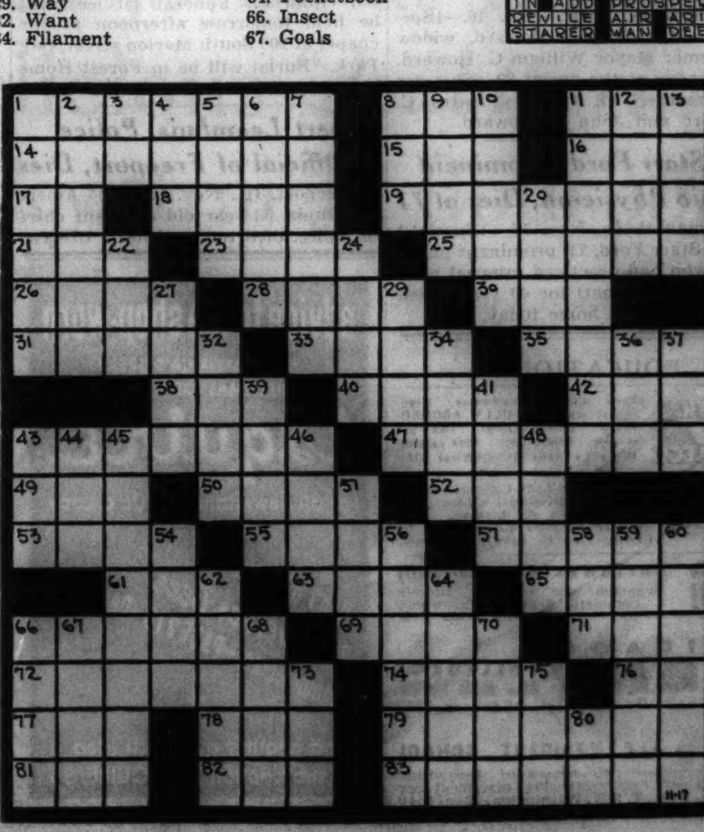
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





FILE $11,163,812 REPORT ON MARY M'CORMICK TRUST

Accept Final Accounting by First Trustees.

The final accounting of the late Cyrus Hall McCormick, son and namesake of the reaper manufacturer, as trustee of the estate of his sister, Miss Mary Virginia McCormick, 71 years old, who was adjudged incompetent in 1890, was approved yesterday by Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski in the Circuit court. The accounting was made by Mr. McCormick shortly before his death on June 2, 1935.

The accounting shows that during the 46 years since three trustees were appointed to administer the affairs of Miss McCormick, a total of $11,163,812 was spent for her maintenance. At the time of the accounting the estate had a value of $14,341,927.

Mr. McCormick was the last survivor of the original trustees in his sister's estate. The others were his mother, Mrs. Nettie Fowler McCormick, and her brother, Eldridge Fowler.

Name Successor Trustees.

Soon after Mr. McCormick's death his brother, Harold F. McCormick, and his sister, Mrs. Emmons Blaine, both of Chicago, were appointed as successor trustees.

Judge Klarkowski gave his approval to the accounting yesterday over technical objections raised by Attorney Michael F. Ryan, guardian ad litem for Miss McCormick.

Ryan pointed out that Cyrus McCormick and his two co-trustees had violated the terms of the trusteeship, which forbade the selling of property in the estate or leasing it for more than five years without specific court permission.

Attorney Floyd E. Thompson, representing the estate, pointed out that the original trustees had sold only six parcels of property and had made only seven leases conflicting with the trusteeship provisions, but declared that in each case the estate benefited materially.

Bulk Goes for Personal Use.

Of the $11,163,812 spent for the care of Miss McCormick since the conservatorship was established, $7,624,119 was for personal uses and $2,810,708 was for residential purposes.

Miss McCormick at present has three residences among which she divides her time, one in Pasadena, Cal., another in Santa Monica, Cal., and a third in Cohasset, Mass.

The present assets of her estate, as shown in the accounting, include $3,303,887 in preferred shares of the International Harvester company, $3,315,609 in common shares of the company, $1,130,000 in government bonds, $1,224,000 in federal land bank stocks, $182,931 in stock of the Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust company, and $233,000 in mortgages.

The residential properties in the estate are valued at $2,784,603, and the business properties at $2,170,126.

WINANT RETURNS TO HEAD SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—John G. Winant, who resigned his job as chairman of the social security board to defend the social security act in campaign speeches for the New Deal, has "reluctantly" agreed to take it back.

Mr. Winant's decision to resume his chairmanship, at least temporarily pending completion of organization activities, was disclosed today in a letter written to him by President Roosevelt.

"I appreciate the reasons why you are reluctant to resume your work with the social security board," the President wrote. "But I feel it essential that you help complete the immediate job of organization which you and your associates have had so well under way."

Mr. Winant resigned in a letter to the President after Gov. Alf M. Landon, the Republican candidate for President, attacked certain provisions of the social security act in his speech at Minneapolis. Chairman Winant said he felt that it would be improper to defend the act while retaining his position as chairman of the board.

100,000 CHICAGO EMPLOYERS GET PENSION FORMS

U. S. Begins Collection of Basic Records.

More than 100,000 Chicago employers yesterday received forms which they will fill out as the first basic records in the operation of the social security act's old age benefit features. Mail carriers today will continue the distribution of the forms to the remaining 35,000 employers here. Throughout the nation blanks were distributed to 5,000,000 employers .

Postoffice officials said that most employers were already prepared to fill out the forms, and many told the mail carriers to pick them up tomorrow. The forms, labeled "SS4," need not be returned until next Monday, however. The employer is required to state the nature of his business, the number of persons employed, and related information.

Forms for Employés Next.

Return of the "SS4" forms to the postoffice will pave the way for distribution by mail carriers of "SS5" forms to an estimated total of 900,000 employés in Chicago. These require employés to give their date and place of birth, father's and mother's name, and other identifying information. This form is called an application for an account number.

Some of the "SS5" forms will be distributed this week, but it is expected that most of them will not go out until next week. Employés' applications should be returned to the postoffice not later than Dec. 5, either through the employing concerns, mail carriers, or postal stations.

Unemployed persons and those who are not certain as to their inclusion in the plan [farm workers, domestic workers in private homes, government employés, and workers at certain nonprofit institutions are excluded] were urged to register anyway. Blanks may be obtained at postal stations or from mail carriers. The final decision on eligibility rests with the social security board.

Postoffice Handles Records.

Carrying out the final main step in its part in the tremendous nation-wide task, the postoffice will prepare an office record from the blanks turned in and send the individual employers and employés their account numbers before forwarding the original records to security board headquarters at Baltimore. Between 200 and 300 stenographers will be temporarily hired from existing civil service lists for this purpose.

Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said he is concerned about completing the job by Dec. 10 so that it will not conflict too much with the Christmas rush. He said the task was not as trying as that of distributing the soldiers' bonus bonds.

On Jan. 1, both employés and employers will start paying 1 per cent on salaries to create a fund from which old age pension benefits of from $10 to $85 a month will be paid beginning in 1942.

Jobless Provision Separate.

H. L. McCarthy, regional director of the social security board here, asked that the public again be reminded not to confuse the old age pension benefit feature of the security act with its unemployment compensation feature. Under this provision the government will collect 1 per cent of 1936 pay rolls, beginning Jan. 1, 1937, from employers of eight persons or more, there being no employé contribution.

The present distribution of forms has no connection with the security act's third feature, old age assistance. This part of the plan, in operation in Illinois for some months, is financed by the federal and state governments out of general tax funds. Assistance is given on a basis of need to persons over 65 years of age regardless of past employment.

City Completes Investigation.

The city relief administration yesterday reported that it has completed its investigation of 3,836 relief cases with a view to transferring as many as possible to old age pension rolls.

Of this number, 2,900 cases have been forwarded to Springfield for final approval by pension officials, 235 are awaiting further investigation as to details, and 701 have been rejected because of lack of proof regarding age and residence. An additional 3,000 cases involving relief clients over 65 years of age remain to be investigated.

New Deal Seeks Continued Control of Dollar's Value

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced definitly tonight that the new congress would be asked to extend President Roosevelt's powers to devalue the dollar and operate the 2 billion dollar stabilization fund.

Continuation of the emergency powers was "for the good of the country," necessary if the United States is to be prepared to meet contingencies in an unsettled world, according to the secretary.

Held Proof of Suspicion.

The announcement is regarded as further proof that the New Deal is regarding foreign nations and their fiscal policies with a more jaundiced eye than usual. Last week President Roosevelt spoke of the dangers should foreign investors start to withdraw their funds from the American market. The alien investments in this country are estimated at 7 billion dollars.

As a part of the government's study of the situation, Morgenthau announced that within a week the treasury would make public detailed records of international capital movements as they affect the United States. The document would set forth capital movements for the calendar year 1935 and the first nine months of this year.

Morgenthau admitted that the inflow of gold into this country had accelerated since the "gentlemen's agreement" between the United States, Great Britain, and France, to stabilize each other's currencies a month and a half ago. Insofar as foreign exchange controls were concerned, he said, "we have for the moment all the tools necessary at our disposal."

Concerned Over Reserves.

In the meantime the federal advisory council, twelve leading bankers from the federal reserve districts, held a private session here on technical interpretations of the banking act of 1935 ostensibly. However, it was learned that the bankers also were discussing the late developments in the government's fiscal picture as they affected credit conditions.

The private bankers are concerned over the increasing excess reserves deposited with the reserve system, stemmed for a while when the reserve requirements were raised 50 per cent, but now reaching 2 billion 260 million dollars and constituting the base for an enormous credit expansion and inflation. The situation is the direct result of the government's "easy money" policy.

John J. Astor III. Wins $100,000 Auto Crash Suit

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—John Jacob Astor III. today won a $100,000 negligence suit brought against him by Hyman L. Levy who contended he was injured in a collision. Astor testified the accident was not his fault and that Levy appeared uninjured at the time.

ECONOMY LEAGUE STANDS GROUND IN SPITE OF VOTE

Points to Rising Costs of Government.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—The reëlection of President Roosevelt to the contrary notwithstanding, the National Economy league will continue in business, support the administration if any of its budget balancing promises are fulfilled, and attack it for any continued waste and extravagance.

The league made this announcement today and followed it up with a warning finger pointed at mounting governmental expenditures.

"General expenditures for the first four months of the current fiscal year as shown on the treasury statement were $1,428,956,369, or $31,687,369 less than last year, but statutory debt expenditures were $225,111,600 less than last year, so that net expenditures for general purposes have increased $193,424,230," declares the league.

Relief Costs Go Up.

"Expenditures for relief of all kinds, including CCC camps, WPA, and rural resettlement, totaled $846,129,725 for the first four months of this year, compared with $615,905,885 last year, an increase of 37.4 per cent. Emergency public works [net] have increased from $241,105,437 for the first four months of last year to $392,407,012 for the same period this year, an increase of 21.3 per cent. Net expenditures for public works last year were lower largely because of large repayments of loans to cities and railroads, but gross outlays for public works, exclusive of repayments, this year are 7.7 per cent in excess of last year."

The Economy league, according to Director John C. Gebhart, has been and will continue to be a nonpartisan organization concerned exclusively with governmental economy. Never has the league indorsed any candidates for public office, he pointed out. The 250,000 members of the organization were united solely on the question of governmental economy.

Will Continue Its Study.

"We shall continue our studies of federal finances, shall make them available to all citizens, and shall, to the best of our ability, speak for the general welfare," said Gebhart.

"In the past we have criticized certain features of the government's fiscal policy, but we have been just as ready to commend policies which we believed were sound and in the public interest. For example, we indorsed and supported the President's courageous stand on the economy act and his vetoes of the amendment restoring the pensions of the so-called 'presumptives,' and of the bills providing for the prepayment of the bonus. On the other hand, as early as December, 1933, we presented a petition to the President and the congress calling for a balanced budget and recommending a review of emergency expenditures, and in 1934 and 1936 offered specific and carefully worked out plans for reduction of expenses and balancing the budget.

Pleased at Budget Pledge.

"We have noted with satisfaction the President's recognition of the necessity of bringing the budget into balance as soon as reasonably possible, and, irrespective of differences on other subjects, we believe that all citizens should coöperate to this end.

"To the full extent of our ability, we stand ready to support the President and the congress in all efforts to bring about efficiency and economy in government, to balance the budget and thus to avoid the twin dangers of inflation and oppressive taxation."

ASKS COURT TO FORCE HIS WIFE TO PAY ALIMONY

Frank Trembacz, 72 years old, who lives in St. Joseph's Old People's home at 2649 North Ridgway avenue, appeared before Judge John C. Lewe in the Superior court yesterday and asked temporary alimony from his wife, Jozefa, 69 years old, 2642 South Kedzie avenue, whom he is suing for separate maintenance.

Trembacz, through his attorney, Sidney Brown, averred that his wife has an income of $335 a month from the apartment building in which she lives, which, Trembacz alleges, was obtained from him by fraud and misrepresentation. This was denied by Samuel F. Adler, attorney for Mrs. Trembacz, who declared that his client bought the place with an inheritance from her father.

Judge Lewe continued the hearing until Friday, indicating that he will grant the petition of Trembacz if investigation substantiates the testimony in yesterday's hearing.

FINED ON ASSAULT CHARGE.

Pasquale Constabile, 40 years old, 631 South Tripp avenue, was fined $50 yesterday by Municipal Judge Charles F. McKinley on a charge of assault and battery.

Anti-Monopoly Bill Praised by Patman in Talk Here

No retailer or manufacturer need fear the Robinson-Patman anti-monopoly bill if he observes the golden rule, said one of the authors of that measure, Representtive Wright Patman of Texas, here last night. Speaking before several hundred retail druggists in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house, he defended the constitutionality of the measure.

"The law is not an anti-chain store, anti-big business, or anti-consumer coöp," he said. "It merely demands equal privileges for all."

. . . but he gets his Vitamin D from Bowman's Irradiated Milk

● Bill and a lot of the rest of us are in the same boat. Going to work and going home when it's pretty dark. Inside all day long. Even outside for a few minutes of noonday sun this time of year we don't get Vitamin D. And we need Vitamin D for good health.

That's why so many people are drinking Bowman's Irradiated Milk these days. With all the important food values of regular Bowman Milk, this kind is also rich in the precious Vitamin D. If you are an inside worker, or if you have growing children, have Bowman's Vitamin D Irradiated Milk delivered to your house every day. You should give your youngster at least a quart of it, and each grown-up should have a pint.

Big Audience Opens Week at City Opera

Enthusiastic Response to Jepson's 'Louise.'

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

This should be a gala week for the Chicago City Opera company if the size and enthusiasm of last night's audience carries on through the succeeding performances. The Civic opera house surely will be filled again tomorrow night, for Vivian Della Chiesa, who made such a hit Saturday night in "La Bohême," will be heard in "The Elixir of Love."

Many fashionable music lovers who have season tickets on other nights are arranging to be in the audience on Friday night when Mme. Gertrud Wettergren will sing "Carmen."

Among those who heard Helen Jepson in "Louise," presented last night for the second time this season, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift, who had among their guests in their main floor box Mme. Grete Stueckgold. Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse and Dr. Lynn Rogers also were with the Swifts.

Mrs. Carter H. Harrison and Mrs. Wentworth Field brought with them Mrs. Harrison's daughter, Mrs. Harrison Manierre. Other opera lovers included Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, Robert Hall McCormick, Mrs. Guy Dickinson, and Mrs. C. Morse Ely, who had as her guests her daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. Morse Ely, and Jay Morse Ely Jr., and his attractive fiancée, Miss Louise Stanley, who is visiting them.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Martin Stevenson were hosts to a group of young friends, including Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hurley and Miss Isabel Gordon and her fiancé, Edmond M. Sullivan. Mrs. Stevenson was lovely in a black velvet gown made with tiny puffed sleeves, and Mrs. Hurley wore a striking gown of peach colored satin, very flattering to her blonde beauty.

Miss Ellen Adair Orr and Miss Betty Keith, two of the season's debutantes, were present. Miss Narcissa Thorne, another debutante, came with Miss Joan Ford, Harger Rollo, and Donald Kimball.

Mrs. Edwin Dewes and her two daughters, Miss Dorothy and Miss Elizabeth Dewes; Mrs. Harry L. Street and Miss Marjorie Street, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Ganz, Mrs. Andrew Sherriff, and Mrs. Norval Peirce were others in the audience.

Men Showing Interest in Care of Hair

Masculine Attention to Head Health Increasing.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

We wrote recently about man's advantages with his daily shaving duty and its noticeable good effect on the masculine skin and jawline. But we femmes have the advantage when it comes to hair. While we don't begin to give our hair the care it should receive, still for ages hair has been woman's pride and somehow she has managed to hang on to it better than the opposite sex may boast.

Lately I have seen a distinct advance in woman's attitude toward her hair. She's brushing it more. The sale of brushes proves this fact. She's getting extremely conscious and embarrassed over dandruff and is doing things to prevent and correct the ill. She's beginning to realize in a large way that hair, to boast youth and beauty, must have gloss and vitality. And she's applying ointments to scalp and hair to produce said polish.

I'm told by hair treatment salon owners that never, never have women flocked in such numbers for hair and scalp treatments [not just shampoo and coiffure arranging] as right now. So that heads of hair, by and large, present a fairly high standard all around. One woman, long established in the hair treatment line, tells me that the hair ornaments, modish this year with evening things, is chasing women off in numbers for scalp and hair treatment. All of which is to the good and we hope the bejeweled, beribboned, bebowed, and butterflied head styles remain with us for many seasons. Anything to make women more aware of the beauty that lies in young, vital, glossy locks!

This same hair expert made the comment that the only thing that ever would drive a man into a beauty salon would be his hair. And they do go into hair salons, even though wearing a painfully self-conscious air. In fact, so many of them started frequenting salons that one house was forced to open a man's department.

This is not any new impetus on men's part. Rose Laird tells of how Mark Twain, with that grand shock of white hair, upon which his hat rested infrequently on avenue parade, used to come three times a week to have his hair kept in condition, and he didn't care who knew it. A famous Wall street figure, too, every morning for ten years had his scalp massage and his hair treated.

This hair consciousness certainly ought to put us women on our mettle, don't you think?

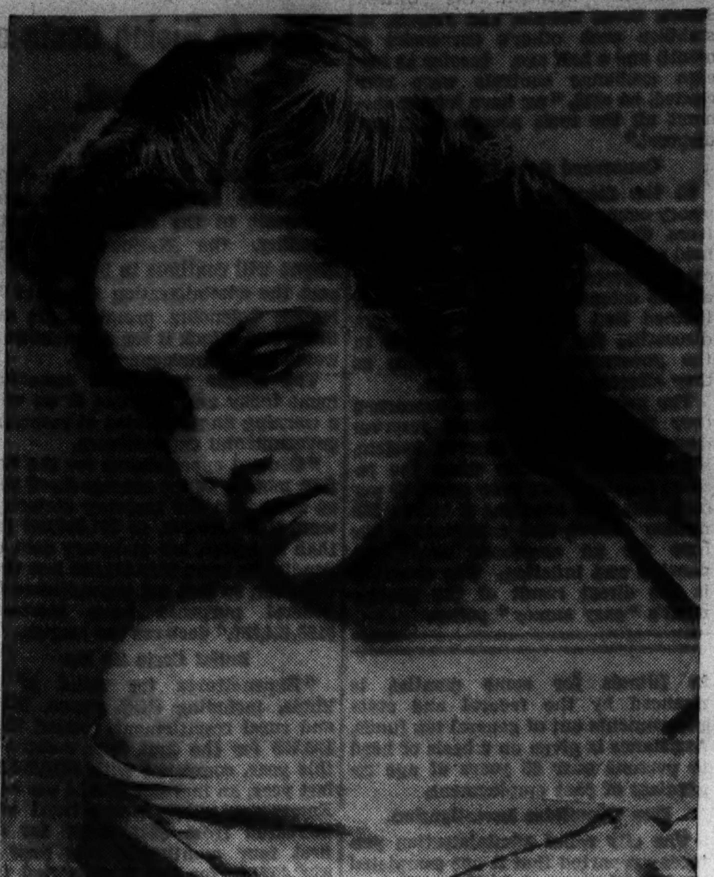
THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS



[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

A delightful cologne, scented in the charming and subtle fragrance of rose geranium, is an exquisite daytime perfume for the woman who dislikes a more obtrusive perfume for wear during business hours.

WEDDING

Mrs. Adele Born is to be married late this afternoon to Frank Starr Williams, commercial attaché to the American embassy at Tokio. The ceremony is to take place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Robert Roos, in Burlingame, Cal. Mrs. Roos will attend her sister and Mr. Roos will be the best man. Only members of the family will be present at the ceremony and supper that will follow. The couple will sail on Nov. 27 for Japan. Mrs. Born, who was divorced from Edgar R. Born of Chicago on Oct. 20, met Mr. Williams while she and her daughter Patricia were on a trip around the world.

Miss Born met her future husband on the trip, too, and was married on Sept. 12, 1935, in Chicago to Lewis John Goodbody of Bombay, India, son of Mrs. Edith Goodbody of Dublin, Ireland. The Borns' have an elder daughter, Elizabeth Rose, who is the wife of Albert M. Stein of Chicago.

Native Daughters.

The Native Daughters of Illinois will celebrate their 10th birthday with a reception and tea at 2 o'clock today at the Congress hotel. Miss Angeline M. Sulzer will lecture on "The Tale of Illinois Roads."

Rose geranium is one of the loveliest fragrances in the world, a nice blend of the romantic and the refreshing. And a rose geranium cologne bearing the name of one of the oldest, if not the oldest, of cologne makers is a feminine treat of the highest order. We got ours sometime ago, but just got around to playing with it—and we are most enthusiastic about it.

This cologne is world famous and it really is superlative. Just to dab a bit on wrist and forehead when you're footsore and weary makes you feel that life is all beer and skitties after all. There's nothing like it for picking you up when you travel or when you feel ill—and invalids adore it. The version we like so well of this fine cologne is now available perfumed with rose geranium and in our opinion it's one of the nicest products ever brought to the beauty market.

Lately we've been a bit dismayed at the prices some manufacturers put on their colognes. Our idea of the best way to use cologne is to use it in pretty liberal quantities—and this just isn't possible for most of us when it's expensive. So we're glad to report that our rose geranium pet isn't skyhigh in cost. Some shops have it with an atomizer, and others just by the bottle. Either is a good buy.

The woman who doesn't care to use perfume during working hours but who likes to feel fresh and daintily but unobtrusively scented will be charmed with this. It's delightful when used as a body lotion after the bath in the morning—and its sweet, light fragrance clings remarkably well. A bit in the rinsing water scents lingerie and collars and cuffs. with charming subtlety.

Textile Guild Gives Needle Place in Art

Fascinating Exhibition Will Open Tomorrow.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There is an exhibit opening today at the Art institute which is original, fascinating and practical. It is a showing of the work done by members of the Needlework and Textile guild and may be found in the Antiquarian rooms.

Today only members are invited, but after today every one will be welcome—and we are assured that an enormous box of candy is to be held in readiness as an added attraction; this of itself would mark the exhibit as original.

Joking aside, the needle is proved in the exhibition as potent as the brush. Marvelously exact and lovely things have been manufactured by the skilled fingers of these participating artists. Marguerite Zorach, a painter, has worked in wools to execute a picture, and last spring we saw the woven cartoons of the French moderns at the Arts club, but these smaller, more delicate pieces by our Chicago organization seem to be even finer.

Besides the lovely rugs, bags, hangings, chairs and pillows, Mrs. James Ward Thorne is showing her miniature Georgian room, which was made especially for Queen Mary of England. Mrs. Grace R. Scott made the rug that lies so warmly on the little floor. In the rug are 175,680 stitches.

A little north of the Art institute is Paul Theobald's book-shop-gallery and one finds a delightful exhibit of water colors by children from the Boys Chicago Latin school and sculpture by Nancy Coonsman Hahn.

Mrs. Hahn shows a number of garden pieces and several bewitching little figures of children and pets. She handles her material brilliantly and her various studies are most delightful. They are whimsical, natural, graceful, and decorative.

In the Hoosier gallery, 211 West Wacker drive, is a four man show. Elmer Porter has a vigorous and virile group of water colors, of which "Walt's Dock" and "Surf" are among the best. He paints broadly and with a keen appreciation of values.

Edna Cathell is represented by several flower studies which err a bit on the sentimental side. They are almost too studied. The portraits by Elmer Spenner are interesting, particularly the "Don Juan." George Baker gives us flower studies and landscapes, a little tame. His "Metamora Hills" is a snowy landscape not without beauty.

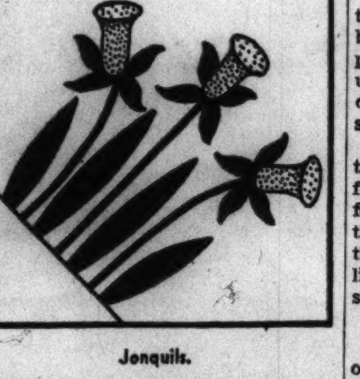
Quilt Design Is New Arrangement of Older Pattern



Jonquils.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

An unusual arrangement of a well known applique block is the Jonquils design illustrated today. The yellow flowers and leaves are appliqued against a white ground, and when this is completed, a white flower pot in the shape of a triangle is applied to one corner and the blocks are set together with plain white or yellow blocks in a diagonal arrangement. Two shades of yellow give the flowers a most realistic effect. Only 30 applique and 20 plain blocks are required for the coverlet, and these are finished with half and quarter blocks and a four inch binding and border.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

THE OPENING BID OF TWO NO TRUMP.

Make a bid of an opening two no trump in any position, vulnerable or not vulnerable, holding:

4-3-3-3 distribution;

Every suit stopped [Q 10 x or better];

Five and one-half to six and one-half honor tricks.

Bid two no trump holding:

♠ Q 10 6 5 ♥ A K 6 ♦ K Q J ♣ A Q J
♠ A J 10 ♥ K 10 7 ♦ A K J 6 ♣ A Q 2
♠ K J 7 ♥ A Q 8 ♦ A K 9 ♣ A K 4 3

The opening two no trump bid, although powerful, is not forcing. Partner may pass with a blank hand.

TODAY'S HAND.

When a player is racking his brain trying to decide whether or not to bid a slam, a suddenly interjected penalty double by one of the opponents is a welcome solution. Obviously, if he has been considering a twelve trick contract, he can redouble one for only eleven tricks.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

SOUTH

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
5 clubs	Double	Redouble [final bid]

South was wondering, when North took him from four hearts to five clubs, what he [South] should do now. To his astonishment he heard East double! Of course there was the chance that North also had three losing diamonds, but, all in all, South thought the redouble a good gamble. It certainly turned out to be so!

West opened the diamond ten, dummy's ace won, and the king of spades was played. East covered and South ruffed. The ace, king, and queen of hearts followed, and dummy's diamonds were cleared away. A diamond was ruffed with the club eight, and the spade jack was led. East, having seen declarer was blank of spades, properly ducked, but declarer merely chucked a heart. Another spade was ruffed with the five spot, and another diamond with the ten of clubs.

On the fourth round of spades East attempted to insure a club trick [which he could not do] by putting in the nine spot, but declarer merely overruffed with the jack, then ruffed his last heart with dummy's club king, while poor East had to underruff, since he was down to trumps. Now, with the lead in dummy, declarer's ace-seven lay over East's queen-six and, therefore, two overtricks became a laydown.

A Little Known Fact.

There is widespread agreement to the theory that a slam may justifiably be contracted for if its success depends on one finesse, but ever greater unanimity of opinion that if two out of three finesses must succeed the slam contract is terrible.

Now for a bombshell! The two contracts [the first requiring one successful finesse; the second, two successful finesses out of three] have precisely the same chance! I am quite certain that this will come as a shock to millions of players, but it is based on a simple mathematical truth.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Coconut Ball Cakelets Are Dainty Dessert

Fluffy Tidbits Possess Thick, Soft Frosting.

BY MARY MEADE.

A device to make the package of coconut invisible to the eyes of her children is wished for by many a woman. This shredded sweet is one of the pantry shelf items she "just can't keep on hand." It invariably happens that when her cake has been mixed to the coconut point, she discovers that only a few shreds remain in the bottom of the coconut box. And then somebody must run to the grocery!

A promise of fluffy, round coconut ball cakes with thick, soft frosting might have a temporary effect in keeping the coconut box filled. For they are ever so much more delectable than coconut alone. This is how they are made.

Coconut Ball Cakes.

½ cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
3 eggs
2 cups cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Icing and coconut

Cream the shortening, add the sugar, mixing thoroughly. Save two of the egg whites for the icing. Beat the rest of the eggs and add to the shortening-sugar mixture. Sift the dry ingredients and add alternately with milk, beating after each addition. Add vanilla last. Pour the batter into two shallow greased layer pans and bake in a 375 degree oven [high moderate] for 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from oven and invert to cool. When cool, cut small cakes with a biscuit cutter and dip them into soft icing and then into grated coconut. Shape gently into balls with the hands and roll each ball again in coconut.

Icing for Coconut Ball Cakes.

4 tablespoons butter
2 cups confectioner's sugar, sifted
2 egg whites [reserved from cake]
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cream the butter and add gradually one cup of the sugar, beating them together well. Beat the egg whites until frothy, then add gradually the other cup of sugar, beating continuously. Combine the two mixtures, add flavoring, and ice cakes. If the icing is quite thick it may be thinned with a little hot cream.

A frozen party salad which contains coconut in addition to fruit and marshmallows simply can't be rivaled, you'll think, when you've tried this recipe.

Frozen Party Salad.

[Serves ten-twelve.]

1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
¼ cup boiling water
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup lemon juice
1 cup whipping cream
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup drained crushed pineapple
1 cup finely cut orange sections
½ cup finely cut grapefruit
1 cup sliced grapes
1 cup marshmallows, cut in pieces
¼ cup coconut
¼ cup sliced maraschino cherries

Soften the gelatin in the cold water for five minutes. Add boiling water and sugar and stir until dissolved. Cool slightly and add lemon juice. Chill until thickened. Whip cream and fold it lightly into mayonnaise. Fold the remaining ingredients into this dressing quickly and lightly. When the gelatin mixture is thick, but not congealed, fold the two mixtures lightly and place in a freezing tray. Serve the salad in slices on crisp lettuce and top with a mayonnaise-whipped cream dressing, using only a little to each serving.

E. A. Cudahys to Celebrate Anniversary

Family Dinner Will Be Held Thanksgiving Day.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THANKSGIVING is even more of a family day for the Edward A. Cudahys than for other mothers and fathers of large families for they always observe their wedding anniversary on that holiday, no matter what the date. They were married on Nov. 24 in 1884, 52 years ago.

Thanksgiving this year will be two days later, but just as they have done for the last fifty years, they will have their children and grandchildren with them for dinner on Thanksgiving to mark the anniversary of their marriage, which took place in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Cudahy hope that all of their daughters and their only son, Edward A. Jr., will be with them this year, but there is some uncertainty as to whether the only one who lives away, Mrs. John Noble Stearns Jr., will be able to come. Thanksgiving is of especial significance to the Stearnses, too, for they were married on that holiday five years ago.

The Cudahys' other daughters are Mrs. Vaughan C. Spalding, Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm, and Mrs. Austin H. Niblack. Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm are away now, seeing some of the football games and having a visit with their son, David, who goes to school in the east, but they will be back at home next Monday. Mrs. Spalding and her husband are leaving today for the east, but will stay only a week so they, too, will be here to dine with their parents on Thanksgiving.

Shedd Relatives Welcome Infant.

When Mrs. John G. Shedd and members of the families of her two daughters, Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, gather at their Thanksgiving dinner they will be grateful for a new member of the family when they count their blessings. He is the infant son of the former Miss Mary Shedd Reed and her young husband, John Peale Bent. The baby was born on Saturday evening at St. Luke's hospital, and until yesterday, at least, his mother and father had not been able to decide upon a name for him.

Last year when Mrs. Shedd celebrated her 82d birthday on Dec. 18, one of her granddaughters, the former Miss Jean Shedd Schweppe, was the center of attraction, for her engagement to A. Watson Armour III. was announced at the party. This year, however, Mrs. Shedd's first great-grandchild will be the center of attraction, no doubt.

Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Schweppe, and young Mrs. Armour are frequent visitors at the hospital. The senior Mr. and Mrs. Watson Armour heard of their daughter-in-law's nephew either in New York or on board ship, for they sailed on Saturday to spend five weeks abroad. They will spend most of the time in England.

Edwin Mills Family Will Enjoy Reunion.

The Thanksgiving party Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Mills will give in their Evanston home will be one of especial rejoicing, for gathered together will be not only all of the members of the Mills family, but also the family of Mr. and Mrs. L. Arundel Hopkins of California, whose son, Arundel Hopkins Jr., and Miss Marjorie Mills are to be married two days later. Edwin S. Mills Jr., James Mills, and Thayer Hopkins will arrive by plane from Williams college on Thanksgiving eve to stay until after the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins, who are former Evanstonians, are here now, stopping at the Georgian with one of their daughters, Miss Anne Hopkins. Another daughter, Mrs. David Hellyer, who will come from her home in Tacoma, Wash., is to be the bride's matron of honor. Mrs. Mills' mother and sister, Mrs. Archer Brown and Miss Constance Brown, will come from Greenwich, Conn.

Mrs. Hopkins' mother, Mrs. Charles Stinchfield of Pasadena, may not be here for Thanksgiving, but she is coming for the wedding. Mrs. Stinchfield is in Detroit with her son, Charles Stinchfield Jr., and his wife. Mrs. Hopkins and Miss Anne spent the week-end with them, but are returning to Evanston today. Miss Virginia Cooke of Minneapolis and Miss Suzanne Bowerfine of Fort Wayne, two bridesmaids, who are arriving on

Nurses Make Perfect Record in Mountains

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

The Frontier Nursing service has maintained during another year its unique record of not one maternal mortality due to obstetrical causes, according to its eleventh annual report, made public by Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, 209 Lake Shore drive. Mrs. Dempster is chairman of the Chicago committee of the Frontier Nursing service.

The annual meeting of the Chicago committee was abandoned this year because Mrs. Mary Breckinridge, voluntary director, who yearly brings a report of the nursing and midwifery service of Kentucky to its Chicago friends, is entering a sanitarium for treatment of a back fracture. She suffered the broken back several years ago when thrown from a horse while on duty, and a twenty-five mile horseback ride making "rounds" recently inflamed it again.

To aid the philanthropic institution, which gives public health and nursing care to inhabitants of a 1,000 square mile territory in the most primitive region of the Kentucky mountains, the Chicago committee is giving its first benefit this year. The polo matches and an equestrienne fashion show will be held in the One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Field Artillery armory next Saturday.

During the first ten years of its existence the Frontier Nursing service, in a region where its graduate nurse-midwives ride horseback on trails instead of roads, often swimming swollen streams or guiding their horses over icebound rivers, amassed a record of more than 2,000 births. Among these there was not a single maternal mortality due to childbirth.

The nurses gave care also to gunshot wound cases, inoculated children, and gave many other services. They cared for a total of 7,121 persons in 1,417 families during the year. Of these 4,361 were children, including 1,953 babies and toddlers. The district nurses made 16,398 visits and received 19,563 calls of patients at nursing centers.

This service, supported largely by committees in more than a dozen cities and by individual voluntary contributions, maintains in addition to its nursing centers an eighteen bed hospital at Hyden, Ky., which Mrs. Dempster believes is the only institution giving free care to children among 250,000 Kentucky mountaineers.

The hospital was occupied 4,284 days by 388 patients during the year. Of the admissions, 55.9 per cent were children. No mountain child has been refused admission.

Horses play an important part in the Frontier Nursing service. These mounts sometimes use superhuman instinct in carrying their nurse-riders past fallen tree trunks, over mountain trails made perilous by ice, and over streams dangerously swift and deep.

The nurses do not have time to care for the horses. This is one of the jobs of the couriers, socially prominent girls from cities whose expert horsemanship and ability to lead a hardy life and like it, qualifies them for the coveted membership in the courier service.

Dr. Bridges Warns Materialistic State Is Foe of Religion

Dr. Horace Bridges, leader of the Chicago Ethical society, yesterday told members of the Chicago round table of Jews and Christians that materialistic statism, whether communist or Fascist, is the greatest enemy today of Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish faiths. The meeting was held at Mandel Brothers' dining room.

Dr. James M. Yard, secretary of the round table, announced a seminar on human relations at Northwestern university, Evanston, tomorrow and Thursday under the round table's auspices. Dean Frederick C. Grant of Seabury-Western seminary, Evanston, and Dr. Melville J. Herkovits, Northwestern anthropologist, will be tomorrow's seminar leaders.

Boosts Nursing Service Benefit

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Now that Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson Jr. has an infant daughter of her own she is happier than ever that she devoted some of her leisure time as a maiden to assisting some of the less fortunate mothers and babies cared for by the Frontier Nursing service in the Kentucky mountains. Mrs. Magnuson [Marianne Stevenson] and a number of others who have ridden as couriers in the service are in charge of a double polo game to be given at the 124th Field Artillery armory Saturday night for the benefit of the service.

Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Joseph H. King, Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, Dr. Joseph B. De Lee, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. Donald R. McLennan, Mrs. Charles Frost, and Miss Naomi Donnelley already have taken boxes for the event. They mailed their checks to an office on the main floor of the building at 1260 Astor street in which Mrs. Upham has an apartment. Miss Adelaide Atkin and a committee are there between 9 and 5 o'clock every day to take reservations which may be made by calling Superior 2528.

Jean Muir Puts Realism Into Movie Scuffle

And Then a Photographer Offends Her Dignity.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—It was a dramatic scene for "Lords of the Land" at Warner's, and Jean Muir, playing a southern girl, was attempting to warn Gordon Oliver not to go outside the plantation house because disgruntled sharecroppers were waiting for him with guns.

JEAN MUIR.

When Jean tried to save Oliver, Virginia Brissac, character actress, was assigned by Director Nick Grinde to scuffle with Jean and bar her from the front door.

But scuffling with that tall, intent, emotional Scottish girl [Jean's folks are Scottish and her real name is Fullarton] was almost too much for Miss Brissac. Jean does not intend to come off second best in anything, even a movie brawl in which the script says she must be the loser. But they finally filmed the scene as intended with Miss Brissac panting, and Jean, who has kicked her low heeled shoes to a side of the set in the intensity of her struggle, looking still belligerent in her stocking feet.

At this stage Cliff King, "still" photographer, stepped forward to shoot a pose of the action scene for publicity and exploitation illustrations.

"Will the lady step forward a little?" he asked, indicating Miss Brissac.

"The lady's name is Brissac," Miss Muir corrected him sharply.

"I'm sorry. I didn't know. But I guess she doesn't know my name either. Not that it matters," said the photographer.

Miss Muir shot him a look that said the cameraman didn't matter either.

"But I know your name, anyway," Kling shot at the brown haired star.

"Indeed?" retorted Miss Muir in a tone that indicated her doubt that he knew anything at all. "And what is my name?"

"Your name is Norma Shearer," was the cameraman's parting shot, and everybody but Jean laughed.

Mary Blackford, lovely blue eyed screen heroine who has been paralyzed since an auto accident in September, 1934, was able to walk forty-five steps yesterday, occasioning much rejoicing by her friends in the film colony and her companions who are slowly and laboriously regaining use of their limbs at the Milton H. Berry institute for muscular reëducation here.

Miss Blackford had lain eighteen months without ability to make a single movement in two hospitals, given up by surgeons, and a fund pooled by such friends as Paula and Dorothy Stone, Henry Willson, Jimmy Ellison, Sue Carol, Patricia Ellis, Anne Shirley, Tom Brown, and Grace Durkin had almost run out when Bruce Barton, the writer, underwrote the expenses of her recovery fight under the new hands of "Doc" Berry.

The girl, who was regarded as the movie colony's actress "find" of 1934, started her present treatment last April and has put on twelve pounds since then, but, according to Berry, is still not quite strong enough to grip the tops of crutches with her upper arms because of the physical wasting which went on during her motionless eighteen months.

She paced forty-five steps yesterday slowly, with crutches and with the light touch of a friend on her shoulder to provide equilibrium. Miss Blackford was so happy that she cried.

She had been on the stage in "Ah, Wilderness" and just completed the film "Love Time" when injured in an automobile accident that pushed her third cervical vertebra upon the fourth, cutting off all sensation from the body below the neck. Novelist Rex Beach paid a visit to the game little actress, now 21 years old, in her sanitarium, and was so affected by her indications of eventually complete recovery that he wept. Beach took her case as theme for a story.

Paramount is hunting an ideal Carmen for a new film version of the opera.

Mel Berns, makeup man at RKO-Radio, received an unusual summons and caught the first plane. His summons was from Katherine Cornell, asking Berns to go east and help her with her stage makeup for "Wingless Victory," Miss Cornell's new stage vehicle.

It is the first known time Miss Cornell in particular, but any feminine stage star in general, has shown such deference to the peculiar expertness of the movie trade as to call in one of Berns' craft. The makeup that requires such careful and unusual preparation is for Miss Cornell's rôle as an exotic queen. Berns' studio made him promise to fly back to Hollywood in two days.

Walter Abel, film and stage actor, who is Berns' close friend and works at the same studio here with him, is Miss Cornell's leading man in the play.

E. F. JOHNSON, statistician of the National Soy Bean Processors association, told this story at the Hotel La Salle the other day: A teacher, demonstrating to her school class the advantages of clean living, filled a glass with water and dropped a worm into it. To the amusement of the young students the worm swam about in lively fashion. Then she put some whisky in another glass and dropped a second worm into it. The worm shriveled up and died immediately. "Now," she asked benignly, "what does this lesson teach us?" She favored little Johnny among the numerous hand raisers.

"It shows," Johnny quickly replied, "that people wot drink whisky never have no worms."

IF you are sent a brace of wild duck by a hunter friend you undoubtedly are appreciative, but did you know that it has been estimated that each bird bagged averages about fifty dollars?

Helen Worden of New York in her book, "Society Circus," out today, prints some information about the sport of hunters. The price of shooting lodges runs from fifty thousand to a million dollars, depending on the improvements made, she says.

"Every man has his pet hunting ground. John Nicholas Brown likes to shoot quail around Usquepaugh, the Indian settlement thirty miles from Newport, in the middle of the Rhode Island country. William Whitehouse and his brother, Sheldon, go to Florida to hunt turkeys. When Mr. Whitehouse tracks bear he goes to Nova Scotia with Gustave White; when he flushes quail he goes with the same companion to Georgia.

"Averill Harriman . . . enjoys his own shooting preserves at Arden, not far from Tuxedo. A portion of the vast area owned by his father, the late E. H. Harriman, is given over to the breeding of wild ducks.

"Clarence Mackay raises his birds on Gardiner's Island. It costs $21,000 a year.

"Walter Chrysler also raises his own ducks. His hunting ground is near Oxford, Maryland, the Chesapeake marshland regarded by some good judges as the best country in the United States.

"The cost of maintaining these preserves is great. Grain patches, marshland and breeding grounds have to be provided, as well as guns, blinds, and servants to beat up the birds. . . . The guns cost from fifty to one thousand dollars."

A WEEK or so before a recent fashionable Lake Forest marriage a car belonging to the bride was wrecked when the young man who had borrowed it crashed into a truck. The young man escaped without serious injury but the car was telescoped. A radio in the car had been out of commission for some time. When the wrecking crew arrived to take away the ruined automobile they found the hitherto silent radio playing loudly. "The Way You Look Tonight" was the selection coming over the air.

A BEAUTIFUL woman now living in Washington is frequently received at the White House and when she called on a recent day she was told to wait downstairs, for some reason of convenience, that Mrs. Roosevelt would be down to see her. She sat down near the door to wait and as she sat there two men came downstairs and left the White House. They noticed the pretty woman sitting there and she overheard one of them comment to the other, "Do you suppose that's there all the time?" When Mrs. Roosevelt hastened down to see her visitor she repeated the remark. The First Lady smiled and said, "I suppose they thought you have a PWA job."

Miss Monsell is a graduate of the Ward-Belmont school and of the University of Oklahoma. After finishing at Lake Forest academy Mr. Bremner attended Brown university. The wedding will take place shortly after the first of the year, and Mr. Bremner and his bride will make their home in Chicago.

Revive Wartime Trench Coat to Keep Girls Dry

Beige Cravenette Is Smart with Brown Accessories.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Some articles usually thought of as secondary are almost as important as dresses, coats, and hats. Cravenette raincoats exactly copied from the trench coats of eighteen years ago, down to the swank of broad shoulders, the upstanding collar, the tricky plaited back, the flare of the skirt, and the wide belt with huge metal eyelets in a double row of eight are a case in point.

They're knockout. The girls are taking them fast. The beige affair can be worn with dark brown accessories, and you'll look as smart as anything by Schiaparelli. The dark brown cravenette coat should be worn with golden beige hosiery, with matching beige gloves, and a beige belt to the dark dress you wear under the coat. These two models are the newest news in town, made of waterproof cravenette and can easily double for a street coat on a warmish day.

From one extreme to the other we go. After weeks of wide belts, some of them wide like a polo belt, come the slick new narrow bands in vivid green, scarlet and dark tones. What makes them so amusing is the rather startling resemblance to dog collars. Small metal rivets as on these dog collars are the decoration.

They aren't any wider than three-quarters of an inch. They'll go around the middle of sports clothes as well as thin street wools. They are the tiniest line of bright color to be found in days. Match your dog's collar with a belt, if you want to stop trafic.

Susceptible shoppers will struggle with their spending impulse over some utterly ravishing house coats of luxurious marabou. A shell pink affair will send any one's blood pressure zooming into high altitude. They're unbelievably decorative, and even hard-hearted, unromantic people gasp over the loveliness. These house or lounging coats come in all colors, reach the kneeline, and were designed for luxury lounging with either satin or plaited chiffon under robes or sleek satin lounging pajamas.

The Man on the Blue

SYNOPSIS.

Followed by a posse, an arrogant young westerner, named Shamrock, flees from Colorado.

A GIRL ABOUT TO KILL.

"They can have him," the leader said bitterly, passionately. "I hope he rides into somethin' there—somethin' that will wipe that damn sneer off'n his face. I hope he does."

"He won't."

The leader sighed. "No. Likely he won't." He turned up the slope again. "Well, let's go. We can make damn certain we're rid of him anyway."

That was Wednesday. Since then Shamrock had been riding doggedly for the blue bulk of the Santa Ritas far to the south. Today was Tuesday. During all that time he could count on one hand the number of times his Blue had drunk. He had drunk half that many times himself, but now that he was approaching the Santa Rita foothills he was reasonably sure his thirst would soon end. He had counted on it anyway, counted on it for almost a week. Where there were mountains there was grazing, and where there was grazing there must be water. Right—but where was it?

At noon he had crossed a trail that seemed to flank the foothills, a trail wagons had been over recently. He had taken it, after considering the country, for a team here wouldn't venture far from water.

But by midafternoon he was debating whether to leave the trail and hit straight for the mountains to the west. It wouldn't be long before his tongue started swelling from thirst, and this trail seemed to be winding interminably into dry arroyos, skirting rocky, pinon and cedar covered ridges, traversing the same country with dreary, dry monotony. He looked out over the country to the east with a wry distaste in his face. It sheered off on a dozen different planes, each plane a different color until the blue of utter distance blotted it together. There was no grass on it, and it held the blacks and reds and rusts and purples of malpais and rock—rock eternally. It looked as bleak and dry to a man just fresh from the short grass country as the whitened skeleton of a beef. Only the Santa Ritas, high, green, aloof, immediately beyond the foothills to the west, looked at all inviting.

He reined up on the heel of a ridge and regarded them. They were far, even though they looked close. A glance at the endless dry hills ahead about decided him when he looked closer. Yes, off there to the south was a small blotch of light green thrusting over a ridge. It was the unmistakable color of cottonwood foliage—and that meant water.

With a barely audible sigh of relief he wheeled the Blue back onto the trail and rode on in the somnolent mantle of dry heat.

When he felt his weight settle back in the saddle several minutes later he looked ahead. His horse was making its slow way up the ridge in fetlock-deep sand drift which covered the trail. Just ahead he could see the top of the cottonwoods, and suddenly he was disgusted.

"Ride a week for a drink," he mused. "I shouldn't of come." He noticed Blue prick up his ears and he knew that at long, long last they were approaching water.

Then, topping the rise, he reined up sharply, rocketed out of his midafternoon drowse.

There, not fifteen yards ahead, back to him, was a rider in the act of cocking a six-gun. The click of its cock was loud in the stillness. Facing the rider, perhaps twenty yards away, was a bulky man mounted on a big bay, and this man had his hands up—high.

Sensing that the soft carpet of sand had brought him face to face with a cold blooded killing, Shamrock instinctively streaked for his gun.

Even as he did so the rider raised his six-gun and began the drop for the bead.

"You can't say you weren't warned," the rider said in a voice clotted with fury—a girl's voice!

Shamrock's gun was clear of lether as he heard. Without a break in the motion he raised his gun ear high and threw it with a whip of his wrist, rolling out of the saddle at the same time.

The impact of the colt on the girl's elbow and her shot were simultaneous, and as the gun dropped from her numb hand Shamrock heard a smothered cry of surprise and pain.

She whirled in the saddle, her left hand going for her other gun. Shamrock was standing beside Blue, poised, still, his six-gun cocked, ready, covering her.

"Don't," he said.

The bulky man was the first to see that her fury had blinded her to all caution and he lowered his bay. Shamrock ran for her, hearing the whisper of her Colt sight kiss lether. Still running, he wrenched off his Stetson and sailed it at her. It reached her just as the bulky man struck out with his right hand at the small of her back. The hat and the blow spoiled her aim, and she sloped out of the saddle to the ground as her gun exploded harmlessly.

Shamrock dove at her in a slamming moil of dust, fighting for her gun wrist and twisting the Colt free.

Then he got up, stood over her, breathing a little hard, unconscious of the big man approaching on foot. The girl's wind was coming back in sucking, gasping breaths as she raised herself to one knee, head hung. All he could see of her was a mass of cherry colored hair, and he regarded it with a still, cold face, his eyes wary.

When she looked up at him, the first thing he noticed was the fury in her green eyes that seemed to dwarf everything else—the small compact face with its freckled uptilted nose, its generous mouth with now bloodless lips—and which was as eloquent as violence.

Then his gaze shuttled to the big man, who stood on the other side of the girl's paint horse, arms folded on the saddle in an attitude of impersonal watching. He was a man so big that the paint seemed small beside him. Under his black Stetson iron gray hair showed. The face was amiable, broad, frank, tanned, rather kind and worn and benevolent appearing, with slight jowls that gave it the gentle aspect of a hound dog's in repose. He grinned amiably at Shamrock, who stared blankly at him, then at the girl.

"So you're another!" she blazed.

Shamrock frowned. "No."

"You fool!" If it hadn't been for you he'd be dead!"

Shamrock studied her a moment in cold silence. "Why should he?"

She stood up to him now, and was half a head shorter than he. Her dress was a rough riding suit of dark gray over which she wore a man's double gunbelts that sagged heavily at her waist.

Shamrock slowly plugged the shells from her gun and gave it to her, his face sneering.

"Get out. Get clear out."

She grabbed the gun and as soon as she had it, she started to load it again. He laid a hand on the gun, holding it steady against her tugging.

"Listen," he said. "I don't like women. I don't like you. Get out before I forget you wear a skirt."

With a swift, vicious back-draw of her arm, she slapped his face. It cracked loudly in the stillness of the afternoon and he stood motionless a second, his hand still on the gun. Then he wrenched the Colt from her in a sweeping movement that kited it far behind him, stooped, gathered her up in his arms, and strode over to her horse. Once there, he pitched her over the saddle, face down, looped the reins over her pinto's head, and gave him a cut across the rump.

Some Persons Boost Ego by Nagging Family

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The greatest number of problems which have to be coped with in the family are the petty annoyances and aggravations of everyday life. The great crisis in life usually are met with heroic calm, but the little daily problems are what pile up into mountainous proportions.

One of the great psychologists avers that what is at the bottom of the creation of these dangerous petty problems is no more, no less than the individual trying, at some one's cost, to get rid of his or her little inferiority complex. Trying to keep up "face" with ourselves. Our own self-esteem. The home offers the perfect arena for staging the daily act of working up a superiority complex. The victims are there, without means of escape. And this is where, our authorities say, most of the unpleasantness in a woman's life is manufactured.

Take nagging as the common form of forcing a superiority recognition. The man, or other family individual, has to give in, has to recognize the nagger's as a superior intelligence. Until pleasing confirmation of the fact is given the woman that she is right, must be right, she keeps on fighting for that recognition. Women may not recognize this point, but it is there for discovery if the time is taken to ferret out the real reason for the nagging.

Worry is a defense weapon some people adopt to use as a club on the heads of a mate and children. It's put to use as a way of being assured that this and that can't happen to so good and noble a person. It's a way to force the limelight on one's self continually.

Arguing is another weapon used to force the superiority admission. It has been said that some women would rather lose a good tooth than think that their husband had the last word in an argument. The last word is not what the fighter wants. She wants that ego of hers bolstered with a "Yes, you're right. You can't be wrong!"

◆

Even gossiping is included in the list of superiority servers. One runs down an individual, not with the malicious desire to hurt that individual's character, but to glorify one's own. All of which would suggest to the intelligent mind that a grain of humor might dispense with this burning yen for superiority recognition.

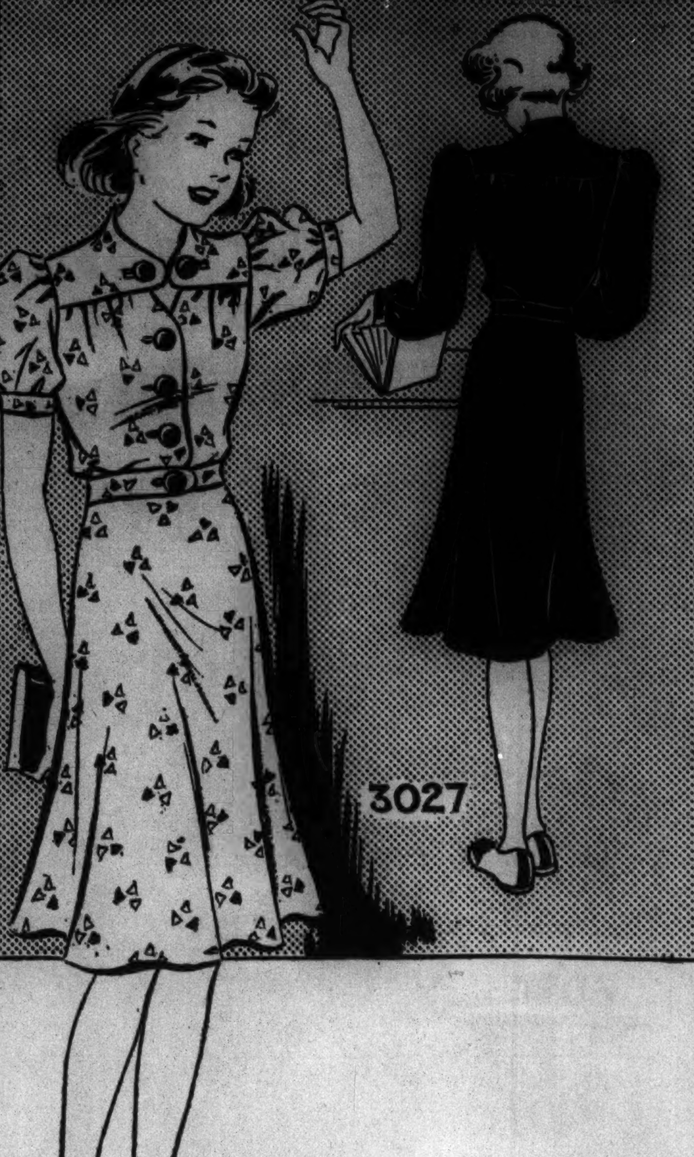
Chic for the Schoolgirl



JUNIOR GIRLS' DRESS.

You can't dress a schoolgirl in a pinafore these days and get away with it! The younger generation is almost as style-conscious as the elders, and they want dash and sophistication in their wardrobe. The youngster from 6 to 14 wants her frocks to have plenty of fashion interest, and the dress illustrated today supplies it generously. The sleeves are puffed, as most of them are these days, and the shoulder yoke has tailored charm. This frock has a shirtwaist tendency, but avoids the stiff formality of that mode by having the bodice softly gathered and the skirt definitly swing in tempo!

Style No. 3027 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material.

Mother in Poor Health Finds House Burden

Should Have Medical Care, Plenty of Rest.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Tiredness is a big handicap for a mother. She can't run things at home in a normal, relaxed way if she's all tired out. Tiredness makes most people tense and nervous and emotionally unstable. And a mother needs poise and vitality if any one does.

We were saying yesterday that the tired mother finds it difficult to manage her children and that, usually, she can do something about that tiredness. Here are some practical suggestions that will change your outlook to a more cheerful one so that you will be able to meet each day with a fair measure of optimism.

A physical examination will reveal the state of your health. There are a dozen easily corrected things that can produce the symptoms of fatigue. You may not be eating properly or you may be dieting to reduce and depriving yourself of the energy foods. It takes a lot of endurance to run a family.

The next count on which you may be slipping up is in the matter of keeping your house immaculate and orderly, and by that I mean always keeping it spotless and in apple pie order. I know women who have scrubbed woodwork and floors and cleaned and worried over windows and curtains and refrigerators so much that they're also washing away their health and their nerves. Get the right perspective on the importance of this part of your homekeeping job.

But as against a fanatical regard for order I don't want to recommend disorder. Make a place for everything and then get some coöperation from the family in this respect.

Other suggestions concern your morale. They are: Get some outside diversion and take an interest in your personal appearance.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in the Sunday Tribune.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Winding up its tenth anniversary celebration Sunday NBC announced that Henry W. Lanier, son of Sidney Lanier, the poet, won the $1,000 first prize in its children's program contest. His program is titled "Bravest of the Brave" and is to be given a hearing soon along with the five runnerups.

The $100 prize for the best slogan typifying NBC's services went to June Hynd of the New York program department. Her suggestion: "By Choice the Nation's Voice." Well, it hardly comes up to WLW's claim: "The Nation's Station!"

Those "Three Minute Thrills" Charles Martin puts on as features of the Leo Reisman hour from 7 to 7:30 Tuesday evenings sometimes give you a chill that lasts the rest of the evening. Tonight's offering apparently will be no exception. Dr. Franz Polgar, a Hungarian, who was "buried alive" for three days by a bursting shell during the war and lived, will tell his story tonight. Dr. Polgar is now on the faculty of the University of Budapest.

All three major networks have completed arrangements to broadcast the Army-Navy game from Philadelphia on Saturday, Nov. 28. Red Barber will handle the Mutual report which W-G-N will carry locally beginning at 12:15 p. m. Ted Husing will do the job for CBS, and Bill Slatter probably for NBC.

Ruth Lyon, NBC soprano, has been engaged as the headliner of the new "Headin' South" series which, oddly enough, this year is to be aired over the Columbia network with WBBM as Chicago outlet. Program starts next Sunday evening with the Chevaliers and Richard Czerwonky's string orchestra supporting Miss Lyon.

FEMININE HYGIENE made easy

Nothing could be easier!

Norforms are ready for use. There's nothing to mix, nothing to measure. You don't have to worry about an "overdose" or "burn." No apparatus is needed to apply Norforms. Their use is dainty, easiest, quickest and safest way to feminine hygiene.

NORFORMS have revolutionized feminine hygiene—made it simple, and free from danger. These antiseptic suppositories are very easy to use ... much more convenient and satisfactory than the old methods of achieving inner cleanliness. They leave no embarrassing antiseptic odor around the room or about your person.

Norforms melt at internal body temperature, releasing a concentrated yet harmless antiseptic film that remains in prolonged and effective contact. This antiseptic—anhydro para hydroxy mercuri meta cresol—called Parahydrecin for short—is found in no other product for feminine hygiene. Norforms are genuinely antiseptic and positively non-injurious.

MILLIONS SOLD EVERY YEAR

Send for the Norforms booklet "The New Way." It gives further facts about modernized feminine hygiene. Or buy a box of Norforms at your druggist's today. 12 in a package, with leaflet of instructions. The Norwich Pharmacal Company, Norwich, New York, makers of Unguentine.

USE CENTER LANE FOR PASSING

AMERICA is advancing on a broad new highway of buying . . . a multiple-lane highway built to handle the full flow of traffic with safety and dispatch.

The lane to the right is for the heavy, slow-acting crowd. The center lane is for the Active market. It is travelled by people who are quicker to respond . . . less reserved in their buying decisions.

Today, the relationship between active minds and volume buying is more firmly established than ever. It is an accepted fact.

A recent study of mileage records in Hartford,* for example, proves that the Active Market wears cars out faster . . . burns more gasoline . . . buys more oil and accessories . . . drives more miles per year than members of any other weekly magazine group.

It shows they are the buyers of new cars . . . the better brands of tires . . . the quality lines of every kind of automotive product.

In choosing a magazine, these people turn naturally to Collier's. They like the tempo of its brief, timely articles . . . its thought-provoking editorials . . . its modern fiction.

Collier's offers the means of gearing advertising to this center lane traffic . . . to the Active Market . . . where buying proceeds at a faster pace and where you encounter fewer obstacles in reaching your sales destination.

NEW HIGH!

Collier's reports the largest advertising revenue in its history . . . Nov. 21st issue.

COLEMAN SHOOTS 68 FOR U. S. PRO GOLF LEAD

ARE WILDCATS SLIPPING—OR JUST COASTING?

Waldorf Is Puzzled; Hopes for Best.

Whether Northwestern's football team has been sliding down hill for two weeks or has been coasting, awaiting Saturday's final test with Notre Dame, is a question even Coach Lynn Waldorf is unable to answer.

"It's the funniest ball club I ever coached," Waldorf said yesterday, as he surveyed the Wildcats' chances against the Irish at Notre Dame Saturday. "The boys seem to play just hard enough to win. It's probably a good thing, but it's giving the coaching staf a bad case of nerves.

"Our team has either been coasting these last two weeks or else we have run up against two teams playing inspired ball. It think it's probably a little of both. I assure you that the staf has not been coasting."

They Have to Be Up.

Waldorf figures the Wildcats have a chance against the fast improving Irish if the team plays at its peak.

"If we don't play better ball than we did against Wisconsin and Michigan, we are in for a licking," he said.

The tight pass defense that the Wildcats clamped on Michigan was about the only encouragement Waldorf derived from last Saturday's game. The Wolverines completed only two passes, one by an interference ruling. This was a decided improvement over the Wisconsin game when the Badgers completerd 19 out of 30 passes.

Northwestern, which has passed but 35 times in 7 games, probably will make more use of the aerial game against the Irish. The fact that the Wildcats have been out in front in most of their games has been a factor in the sparing use of passes. Should they need to resort to the air, they have two fine passers in Don Heap and Bernie Jefferson and some capable receivers in John Kovatch, Cleo Diehl, and John Zitko.

Fuller, Hinton Ready.

The Purple should be in top physical shape. Leon Fuller, center, and Clarence Hinton, half back, were kept out of the Michigan game, and are expected to be ready by the end of the week. Fuller's presence will add a steadiness to the line that was lacking against the Wolverines. Hinton will be able to relieve Jefferson at right half.

Waldorf is at a loss to account for the epidemic of fumbling that hit the Wildcats last Saturday. The team has been guilty of few fumbles in previous games, but Saturday they dropped the ball eight times. Further drills on the ball handling will be conducted this week.

The squad went through a light workout in sweat suits yesterday. A freshman team that has been drilling on the Notre Dame plays walked through the formations for the varsity. Players who did not see action against Michigan scrimmaged the freshmen.

IRISH IN SHAPE.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Notre Dame came through Saturday's Army game practically unscathed and returned to practice today for Saturday's final home contest with Northwestern. The squad arrived here early this morning, spent the day in class, and reported this afternoon for a checkup of mistakes made in Saturday's Army game.

Coach Elmer Layden was inclined to discount the size of Notre Dame's 20 to 6 score over the Cadets, explaining that two of the three Notre Dame touchdowns followed breaks which gave it the ball deep in Army territory.

Two Backs Return.

Vic Wojcihovski, right half back, and Steve Miller, full back, who appeared for only one play against the Cadets, were in uniform today. They had been out since the Ohio State game Oct. 31.

Alex Shellogg, sophomore right tackle who started against Army, was the only casualty, and his injured leg may respond to treatment fast enough to enable him to face Northwestern.

Plenty of Seats Left.

Layden said today he believes Northwestern's greater power and weight will be a big factor in the game. The Wildcats, undefeated in seven starts and undisputed Big Ten champions, have been taking things easy the last two weeks, he said, and they will be ready for Saturday's test.

J. Arthur Haley, business manager of athletics, announced today a crowd of 50,000 will see the game. There are still seats left, he said.

McLarnin, Ambers Begin Tapering for Bout Friday

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Jimmy McLarnin and Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers began tapering off their training today for Friday night's ten round bout in Madison Square Garden. Ambers' title will not be involved. Enrico Venturi, Italian lightweight who beat Frankie Klick last week, meets Davy Day of Chicago in the eight round semi-final.

CHEERING UP INJURED LION

Ox Emerson of the Detroit Lions can't help looking cheerful despite a head injury incurred in last Sunday's game with the Giants. The inspiration for his smile is Miss Virginia Opie, his fiancee, who is checking up on his pulse during a visit to the hospital. The Lions meet the Cardinals Sunday at Wrigley field.

TRIBUNE SILVER FOOTBALL.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, following custom inaugurated in 1924, will present a sterling Silver Football, actual size, to the Big Ten player of greatest value to his team during the season of 1936. To the winner and to nine other most valuable players of their respective elevens will be awarded white gold Silver Footballs, suitable for watch fobs, as tokens of their prowess.

This Silver Football, first won by Red Grange in 1924 and since earned by illustrious gridiron heroes of other years, has come to be the most sought honor of the conference season, because of what it signifies, because of its fair method of award, and because the handsome and valuable trophy becomes permanent property of the winner.

The Wake might hazard conjecture as to probable or possible recipient among the many candidates, based on their deeds to date, except that we feel there might be slight impropriety in a member of THE TRIBUNE editorial staf giving individual opinion of that nature when actual selection of the ten candidates, one from each eleven, is actually made by the players themselves.

Football followers, however, need feel no such inhibition. Letters of suggestion from public or alumni are invited and, if not too long, will be published in this column.

By the terms of the contest each eleven names the boy which its members consider has given the greatest service to the team. This does not mean the greatest player necessarily, but the boy who has contributed most in performance, leadership, self-sacrifice, and sportsmanship.

From these ten players so selected the board of award, twenty-three members, votes its choice, giving consideration to the same qualifications. The board of award consists of the ten head coaches who certainly should know their own players as well as those opposing their elevens, ten officials working in conference games who, of course, are near the players while in action and get a close view of what is happening on the field, Commissioner of Athletics John L. Griffith, and Wilfrid Smith and Harvey Woodruff, TRIBUNE football writers.

Each member of the board of award is asked to name first and second choice. First place counts 2 points and second place 1 point. Winner of the beautiful Silver Football trophy is the boy who receives the greatest number of points. Each candidate among the ten receives the white gold watch fob football. White gold is chosen to differentiate from the yellow gold usually awarded by college athletic managements to members of championship elevens.

Originally the board of award was not restricted in its choice. Therefore several members of the same eleven often received votes. So in 1930, and thereafter, conditions were changed so the players themselves determine their own candidate, one from each eleven.

As soon as the season is over Saturday each eleven will name its candidate. Then the board of award will ballot. Meantime, such enthusiasts as wish to do so are privileged to write The Wake, giving their own ideas on the subject. Here are previous winners:

1924—Red Grange, Illinois.
1925—Tim Lowry, Northwestern.
1926—Benny Friedman, Michigan.
1927—Ken Rouse, Chicago.
1928—Chuck Bennett, Indiana.
1929—Bill Glasgow, Iowa.
1930—Wesley Fesler, Ohio State.
1931—Clarence Munn, Minnesota.
1932—Harry Newman, Michigan.
1933—Joe Laws, Iowa.
1934—Pug Lund, Minnesota.

THOMAS KNOCKS OUT SILVERS IN FOURTH ROUND

Harry Thomas, Eagle Bend, Minn., heavyweight, scored a four round knockout over Pal Silvers before an overflow crowd of 1,650 at Marigold Gardens last night. It was the slugging Minnesotan's twelfth triumph in thirteen Chicago appearances, ten of which he has won by knockouts. Thomas weighed 196½ pounds and his opponent from Brooklyn 181.

Nick Peters, San Antonio, Tex., lightweight, whipped Harry Booker in five rounds in the semi-windup to record his eleventh consecutive victory. Booker, who was substituted for Pedro Rivera when Rivera came in overweight, was floored once in the second and third rounds. Peters received a cut over his left eye in the second.

Bernie Bowman, Chicago heavyweight, won a disputed decision over Harvey Mortneson in four rounds. Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, Man., featherweight, making his first professional start, won a four round slugging match from Babe La Varra. Phil Rosenberg, former Joliet sectional Golden Gloves title holder, continued his victory string by scoring a two round knockout over Al Latie.

CARDINALS CAST SHADOW ACROSS TRAIL TO TITLE

Revived Team May Upset Bears or Packers.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Two ominous shadows instead of one now darken the championship trail the Bears and Green Bay have been pursuing so blithely through the fading ranks of eastern division defenders in the National league. There always was Detroit. Now there is the Cardinals, too.

In defeating Pittsburgh, eastern section leader, 14 to 6, Sunday, the Cardinals gave a superb demonstration of fundamental football, predicated on hard, fierce tackling and blocking and sound generalship. A continuance of that type of football against the Bears and Packers will result in the defeat of one or both of the co-leaders in the western division if they are not at the peak of their game when they meet the Cardinals at Wrigley field in the final games of their respective seasons.

Injured Players Recover.

This sudden transformation from a disorganized, ineffective team to one of might is attributed to several factors. The chief reason, perhaps, is a complete recovery from the long list of injuries that plagued the Cardinals from the time they opened camp in August until two weeks ago.

Equally as important, however, have been changes in personnel and offensive tactics. Phil Sarboe, a pass crazy quarter back, is no longer with the team. The Cardinals now rely more on good, old-fashioned football with their competent aerial game restricted to judicious use in definite strategic maneuvers. This policy has given the linemen a chance to display their worth and fits in more with the type of football they like to play.

The spark plug of the new attack is George Grosvenor, bald, spindle legged half back purchased from the Bears. Grosvenor, former University of Colorado star, had little chance to reveal his true ability with the Bears, to whom he reported early last season

Grosvenor Gets Opportunity.

With the Cardinals he has been used regularly, convinced that his job is secure and assured of every opportunity. As a recruit he has been one of the outstanding players in the league. His 88 yard return of a punt against Philadelphia is the second longest run of the year in professional football. Sunday against the Pirates, he carried the ball 18 times for a total gain of 118 yards and an average of 6.4 yards per try with only two runs over nine yards, one for 15 and one for 29.

The standings, in which they are eighth with only two victories against seven defeats, do not reveal their true strength. Under the new order, in which Paddy Driscoll coaches the backs and Coach Milan Creighton calls signals when he is in the game, the Cardinals are just beginning to find themselves. And they are laying for the Packers and the Bears, not to mention the Lions, whom they meet Sunday at Wrigley field, where they expect to extract a measure of revenge for a 39 to 0 thumping suffered at Detroit early in the season.

LION STARS RECOVER.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Ox Emerson, Detroit Lions' guard, and Ace Gutowsky, full back, injured in Sunday's game with the New York Giants, may be able to play next week against the Cardinals at Chicago.

Dr. William E. Kean, team physician, said tonight the pair probably will leave Providence hospital tomorrow. Emerson suffered a slight concussion and Gutowsky a laceration of his right leg.

Attachés of both Lions and Giants, whose previous game was enlivened by fisticuffs, said the injuries were accidental.

Fans had come to the game here on the lookout for a fight on the field in view of the dispute in New York involving Gutowsky, George Christensen, Lion tackle, and Cal Hubbard, huge New York lineman, but the contest, a 38 to 0 rout of New York, stayed within the rules.

GOLF LEADER SHOWS HOW IT'S DONE

Fay Coleman, former Culver City, Cal., amateur star, who yesterday led the field in the national P. G. A. tournament at Pinehurst, N. C., with a 68, four under par, points out how he does it to Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill. (left), and John Kinder of New York (center). Smith had a 75 and Kinder 79.

De Paul Rally Beats Arkansas Tech, 26 to 19

Russellville, Ark., Nov. 16.—(AP)—De Paul university defeated Arkansas Tech, 26 to 19, here today, breaking a 19 to 19 tie when Phillips passed to Apolskis for a touchdown in the closing minutes of play.

After a scoreless first quarter the Chicago team fell 13 points behind at one stage of the second period, but then pushed over two touchdowns to trail, 13 to 12, at the half. Arkansas Tech again took the lead in the third quarter, but De Paul came right back to tie it up and forged ahead for the first time in the afternoon just before the finish.

Tech Takes Lead.

Arkansas Tech was on the offensive throughout the first quarter, making three first downs while De Paul was making none. On the first play of the second period the Arkansans scored. With the ball on the De Paul 16 yard line Hager passed to Sanford, who lateraled to Davis. The latter fumbled and accidentally kicked the ball over the goal line. Tolliver recovered in the end zone for a touchdown. Wilson kicked goal.

A few minutes later Sanford took a twenty-six yard pass from Hager and was brought down on the De Paul 7 yard line. Wilson plunged for six yards. Then Tolliver went over for a touchdown. The try for the extra point failed.

Phillips of De Paul returned the next kickoff to his own 33 yard line. On a series of spinners the same player advanced to the Arkansas Tech 45 yard line. Then he broke through the line and went for a touchdown. Mattes' kick failed.

De Paul Scores Again.

With De Paul in possession of the ball on Tech's 27 yard line shortly before the end of the period, Phillips passed to Postaer, who was thrown on the 1 yard line. On third down Matte went over. The attempt for the extra point failed, leaving the score at the half 13 to 12.

Tech again forged ahead early in the third quarter when Hager shot a scoring pass to Tolliver from the De Paul 22 yard line. The kick was good, making it 19 to 12. In the same period Tech was backed up against its own goal and was forced to punt. The kick carried only to the 20 yard line, where Postaer took the ball and ran for a touchdown. Chaddock booted the tying point.

Then just before the finish, Phillips' pass to Apolskis decided it.

FIELD OF 113 SEEKS PLACES IN MATCH PLAY

64 Qualifiers to Be Decided Today.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 16.—Fay Coleman, 31 year old Culver City, Cal., golfer, today gave the lie to his normally pleasant mien by shooting a 68, four under par, to lead the field in the first eighteen holes of the qualifying round for the 19th National Professional championship at the Pinehurst Country club's No. 2 course.

Coleman's card was three strokes better than any other of the 113 paid hands who began a week of serious striving for the biggest title in their field. The brown haired California's blending of a pair of 34's tied the competitive course record for the No. 2 established jointly by Henry Picard and Ray Mangrum in the north and south open last spring.

Makes Determined Campaign.

For the halfway leader in this 36 hole metal play rassle for the 64 places in the match play bracket opening Wednesday, today's performance was the consummation of a long personal vendetta with the tortuous path that the P. G. A. demands every competitor travel. Coleman, long famed as an amateur in national and coast competition, made his first appearance as a pro at the P. G. A. of 1934. There he qualified for the match play, and went on to win his first round debate from his onetime teacher, Leo Diegel.

Last year was another tale, however, for he failed to make the qualifying grade at Oklahoma City. He came to Pinehurst early, vowing to climb the medal play hill, and tonight, by reason of his fancy 68 is practically assured of surmounting it, regardless of what he may do in tomorrow's final eighteen holes.

Gerlak Second with 71.

Coleman's card was three shots up on the 71 submitted by Alex Gerlak, Catskill, N. Y., pro who got his start by winning the Westchester county caddy title for four straight years. Like Coleman, Gerlak, a 28 year old blond of German-Polish extraction, has reason to make sure that he will qualify for the match play rounds. Five times Alex has made good sectionally, but only once has be been able to make good in the medal play end of the big show itself. Today he hammered out a 71 which gave him a two stroke edge on four others in the field.

Heading this quartet of 73's was Tony Manero, national open champion from Greensboro, N. C. With him were Henry Picard, long, smooth swinging star from Hershey, Pa.; Clarence Yockey, 110 pound Kansas Citly, Mo., youth, and Leo Walper, a 27 year old who runs a driving range outside of Washington, D. C.

This morning the field was greeted by a typical Carolina day, a bright sun adding to the cheer of a cloudless blue sky, but a twisting wind which whipped awry the shots of many a favorite put a convincing crimp in the general play. Only 16 in the regiment of 113 of the ablest players in the game were able to break 75, while 74 struggled home with scores better than 80.

Revolta Scores 74.

Johnny Revolta of Chicago's Evanston club, who won the championship last year, was exempt from the qualifying trial, but elected to go the distance for exercise. The curly haired Italian finished the round with a 38—36—74. Of the ten other Chicago district representatives, eight were under 80 and two over. Their scores included the following: Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, 38—36—74; Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, 33—42—75; Ky Laffoon of Northmoor, 34—41—75; Horton Smith of Oak Park, 36—39—75; Tommy Armour of Medinah, 37—39—76; Dick Metz of the Mill road farm course, 37—40—77; Abe Espinosa of Evergreen, 37—40—77; Jim Foulis of Ruth Lake, 39—38—77; Eddie Williams of River Forest, 41—41—82, and Harold Beer of Oak Park, 43—41—84.

Aside from Revolta, the other five holders of the title all shot 79 or better. Walter Hagen of Detroit, five times champion, shot a 36—41—77, while Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn., three times victor, finished with 37—38—75; Leo Diegel of Philadelphia, titlist in 1928 and 1929, needed a 38—41—79. Paul Runyan, champion two years ago, had a pair of 39s for a 78. Added to these was the 76 of Armour, winner in 1930.

Coleman Putts Well.

Coleman's card follows:

Par—Out	444	553	443—36
Par—In	544	443	534—36—72
Coleman—Out	444	543	343—34
Coleman—In	444	443	524—34—68

Horton Smith, one of Coleman's playing partners, praised the Californian's chipping and putting as major factors in the working out of his fine card. Additional proof of this was furnished by Coleman himself, who said that he needed only 27 putts for the round.

He scored the first of his four birdies on the 467 yard fifth chipping to within six inches. He followed this up by holing a 25 footer for a three at the 386 yard seventh. Came the tenth, lengthiest job on the course, with its 598 yards of rolling fairways. Fay there stood up to a pitch and run shot of 80 yards off the green, and planted the ball 18 inches from the pin for another birdie. He slapped par for the last time at the 186 yard 17th, where he dropped an eight footer for a deuce.

Cooper Goes Out in 33.

Revolta, whose miraculous recoveries from practically every trap at Oklahoma City earned him last year's title, was guilty of nary a bunker shot today. The champion found his main difficulty around the greens. On the four of them—the second, fourth, fifth, and fourteenth—he needed three strokes from the fringe of each.

Cooper, after turning in the best nine of the day, a 33, three under par, faltered coming home until he wound up with a 42, six over perfect figures. He holed a 30 foot chip shot at the first, dropped a 20 foot putt on the next green, and was on the front edge of the fourth and fifth for two more birdies. His only mishap going out occurred at the eighth, where he took three from the edge. Coming back he found the rough, three bunkers, and was shy of two greens.

Tee Shots Trouble Armour.

Armour, after pushing his drive at the first and then three putting for a six, two over par, rallied until he had gone even with the card through the tenth, only to encounter more grief on his tee shots. The 1935 runner-up made a grand chip shot from a bunker off the short nine for his par, and then hammered three perfect shots to within 15 feet at the long tenth, sinking the putt for a birdie.

Walsh, runner-up in 1932, made one of the stoutest finishes of the day. Out in a 38, which included seven shots at the par five fifth, Frank then encountered enough trouble to leave him five over par after 14 holes. He promptly fought back with a par and three birdies on the next four holes for his 74.

The committee also will make the draw for the Class A interstate semi-finals and will select a playing field for the Class B Chicago finals.

Maroons Open Preparations for Illinois

The game that's been in the back of University of Chicago football minds all year, combining Illinois, homecoming, and the season's end, takes place at Stagg field Saturday. The winner will finish in sixth place in the conference, and if the winner is Chicago, all will be forgiven around the Midway and the season will be a howling success.

Preparing for three days of intensive drill, the Maroons yesterday had a fairly light session, which included a review of mistakes against Indiana and a preview of Illinois plays as executed by freshmen. They may have a scrimmage today.

Chicago's men escaped from their 20 to 7 defeat by Indiana without serious hurts. Minor bruises and charley-horses were incurred by three senior linemen, Co-Captains Sam Whiteside and Bud Jordan, and Earl Sappington, and by two sophomore backs, Morton Goodstein and Sollie Sherman. All, however, are expected to be ready before Saturday.

ILLINI SHIFT WARDLEY.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Jay Wardley, who has been the work horse of the Illinois backfield in its last two games, today took on another duty when he started calling signals for the varsity. With him in the back field were Cy Mazeika and Lowell Spurgeon, half backs, and Ken Zimmerman, full back.

Dave Strong, 147 pounder who handled the team against Iowa, Michigan, and in most of the Ohio State game, was dropped to the third team behind Wardley and Bill Charle.

DR. F. C. ALLEN PROPOSES NEW ATHLETIC CODE

Lawrence, Kas., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Two year athletic competition in major schools and radical changes in eligibility requirements were proposed by Dr. F. C. Allen, University of Kansas athletic director, in a student conducted discussion of football subsidization tonight.

Allen said the proposals were his own ideas and that details of the plan would have to be worked out by the American Association of University and College Presidents.

The proposals included:

Athletic competition in the major universities to be limited to two years—the last two of the four calendar years following matriculation.

Athletic competition in smaller institutions [those now permitting four years of competition] be limited to three years.

A national no-transfer rule to head off tramp athletes.

No scheduling of games between institutions of differing rank, except that of a sophomore team or junior varsity of a major school might compete with the team of a three year institution.

That eligibility be predicated on a student's advance toward a college degree rather than on outmoded definitions of amateur and professional.

NIGHT SCHEDULE DELAYS CLOSING OF BROWN SALE

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 16.—(AP)—The new owners of the St. Louis Browns will postpone signing a purchasing contract until they reach an agreement with the Cardinals on a night baseball schedule for 1937, Don Barnes, president, said today.

"There is no chance of our deal falling through," Barnes emphasized. "However, there are certain details in our lease of Sportsman's Park which hinge upon the installation of lights for night baseball."

Sportsman's Park is owned by the Phil Ball estate, which sold the team to the Barnes syndicate.

American league club owners approved the Browns' request for night games last week without stipulating the number to be played. The National league permits any team to play seven at home.

Barnes has let it be known he favors limiting each St. Louis club to four games under the floodlights. President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals, Barnes indicated, wants more.

One More Chance for Iowa to Win a Major Victory

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Iowa still will be seeking its first major victory of the season Saturday when it closes its campaign with an invasion of Philadelphia to meet Temple.

The Hawkeyes, having absorbed their fourth Big Ten licking Saturday at hands of Purdue, went through a light practice today with Farroh, right guard, the only player on the injured list. Farroh suffered an injured leg against Purdue, but will be ready for the Temple game.

Otto Vogel, who scouted Temple in its last three games, returned today and defensive workouts will be held tomorrow and Wednesday.

Nine Hawkeyes will close their careers Saturday. They are Ozzie and Don Simmons, Dick Bowlin and John Hild, backs; Frank Jakoubek, end; Corney Walker, tackle; Don Nelson and Gene Liggett, guards, and Ted Osmaloski, center.

Don Simmons, who showed great drive when shifted from end to full back last week, probably will be used in the back field against Temple.

MAY START 2 IOWANS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Two Iowans, Robert Brown of Clinton and Verne Schreifer of Davenport, may be in Temple's starting lineup against Iowa here Saturday. Coach Pop Warner said he was considering using them because of the "psychological angle."

7 Ohio State Regulars on Hospital List

Columbus, O., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Seven Ohio State regulars were on the sidelines today, the result of the hard battle with Illinois. These members of the squad will take little or no part in preparations for the Michigan game Saturday before Wednesday at the earliest, Trainer Tucker Smith said.

Mike Kabealo, left half, has a knee injury; Monk Chrissinger and Nick Wasylik reported with charley horses; Johnny Rabb, new back field star, and Frank Cumiskey, end, reported leg bruises, and Jim McDonald, full back, was in the hospital under observation for a head injury. X-rays failed to show a fracture, but said another series of pictures will be taken tomorrow. Joe Williams, hurt in the Chicago game, also was on the sidelines.

The regulars worked on offense during the early part of the practice session and then watched freshmen demonstrate Michigan's plays before taking the field on defense for a tag scrimmage against the Wolverine formations.

As for starting lineups, Coach Francis Schmidt plans to use the same quartet in the back field that started against Illinois: Dye, Kabealo, Antenucci, and McDonald. He will change to Wasylik, Booth, Wederbrook, and Rabb when a power house attack is needed.

MICHIGAN BATTERED.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Encouraged by the showing made against Northwestern, Michigan set about the task today of preparing for Ohio State. The Wolverines, their home season ended, play the Buckeyes at Columbus next Saturday.

Injuries may force Coach Harry G. Kipke to alter the lineup. Johnny Smithers, half back, is in the hospital with an injured knee and may not get into the Ohio State game. Danny Smick, sophomore end, incurred a similar injury, and Capt. Matt Patanelli, under a physical handicap most of the season, turned up again with a bad ankle.

In the running for Smithers' post are Ed Philips of Bradford, Pa., and Bob Campbell of Ionia. Stark Ritchie, Battle Creek junior, who gained most of the ground Michigan made against Northwestern, apparently has won the other half back position from Wally Hook.

Indiana Holds Secret Drill for Purdue

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Hoping to retain the Old Oaken Bucket in the annual game against Purdue at Lafayette Saturday, Indiana's squad went through a lengthy secret drill today. After checking on defensive tactics to be used the players were drilled on running and passing plays. Coach Bo McMillin announced secret practice will be held all week.

Quarter Back Ray Fox and Swede Clasen, full back, joined Capt. Chris Dal Sasso on the injury list. Clasen may be able to play Saturday, McMillin said. He suffered a recurrence of an old leg injury in the Chicago game. Fox, who was hurt in the Syracuse game, and Dal Sasso, who was injured in the Ohio State battle, are definitly out.

PURDUE GOES TO WORK.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—There was no time for gridiron post-mortems this afternoon as Purdue's football squad concentrated on a common objective—the season's final with Indiana here Saturday that will determine which of the two Hoosier rivals is to cut in on a share of Big Ten runner-up laurels.

Although Indiana, victorious over Purdue for the last two seasons, will rule as a slight favorite, the Boilermakers are bent on finding their early season touchdown stride.

Interest in the Purdue-Indiana struggle is more intense than usual this year, with both rivals boasting outstanding records. The Hoosiers have lost only to Ohio State in the Big Ten and Nebraska in a non-conference game while the Boilermakers have been defeated by only Minnesota and Fordham, two of the nation's top ranking elevens. A record crowd that may approach 30,000 already is assured. There were less than 3,000 reserved seats available tonight.

Still striving to bolster the end strength of the eleven, Purdue's coaching staf devoted attention this afternoon to Andy Botney and James Zachary, a pair of reserves who showed to advantage against Iowa Saturday.

OWENS LEADS IN BALLOTING FOR SULLIVAN AWARD

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Jesse Owens is leading the balloting for the 1936 James E. Sullivan award.

The Ohio State Olympic sprint and broad jump champion was a few votes ahead of Glen Morris, national and Olympic decathlon champion, today in the list of 33 athletes nominated for the award by more than 600 of the country's sports experts.

The announcement was made by Dan Ferris, secretary of the Amateur Athletic union. He declined to reveal the margin of Owens' lead.

This list of 33 will be cut to 10 by the Sullivan award committee of the A. A. U. The committee will announce its selections at the A. A. U. convention in Houston, Tex., Dec. 4, and the 600 sports leaders will select the winner from these 10.

Other leaders in the order of balloting were Jack Medica, Seattle, Wash., Olympic 400 meter free style swimming champion; Forrest [Spec] Towns, Georgia hurdler; Glenn Hardin, Louisiana State hurdler; Johnny Fischer, Cincinnati, national amateur golf champion; Helen Jacobs, Berkley, Cal., winner of the All-England tennis singles title; Helen Stephens, Fulton, Mo., Olympic women's sprint champion; Alice Marble, national women's tennis singles champion, and Jay Berwanger, former half back from the University of Chicago.

Marquette Turns Its Attention to Duquesne Game

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—The usual Monday letup was canceled today as Marquette university's unbeaten and untied team began preparation for next Saturday's assignment against Duquesne at Pittsburgh.

Coach Frank J. Murray was pleased with a 100 per cent turnout of his athletes, but worried because Ray Sonnenberg, blocking right half, continued to favor an injury which he received as Marquette crushed Mississippi, 33 to 0, here on Saturday.

Good news originated in the line department when Mike Czernecki, veteran guard, reported in tip top shape. Czernecki was injured in scrimmage last week and did not play against Mississippi, but will be available for the final game with Duquesne.

Badgers Will Throw Passes at Minnesota

Madison, Wis., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—In good physical condition and in moderately high spirits as a result of their fine showing against undefeated Northwestern and their easy victory over Cincinnati, Wisconsin's Badgers today began preparations for their last game of the season against Minnesota here Saturday.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher, with no illusions regarding Wisconsin's chances of stopping the Gopher attack, indicated this afternoon that his strategy will be to match offense with offense as he sent the first team through a long drill on pass plays.

Wisconsin's casualties include Eddie Jankowski, Fred Benz, Stan Haukedahl, and Eddie Misiak, a reserve left half back, but all except Misiak saw service against Cincinnati and all will be ready to face the Gophers.

GOPHERS CHECK MISTAKES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—The usual Monday chalk talk and look at the movies of the Texas game occupied the Gophers today as they started the final week of the season. Several important mistakes were pointed out.

One was the failure of a Gopher to down the ball on a kickoff. Texas did and scored a touchdown. Texas stole some of the Gopher thunder by running back a kickoff ninety-five yards for a touchdown, and that also received some attention from Coach Bernie Bierman because most of the regulars were in the game at the time.

With the exception of Co-Capt. Ed Widseth and Larry Buhler, the Gophers came out of the Texas game without injury. Both Widseth and Buhler will be ready, however.

N. U. Clings to Lead in U. S. Football Poll

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Clinging tenaciously to their slender margin with the same bulldog spirit that has carried them to the Big Ten title and an all-winning season thus far, Northwestern led Minnesota today in the Associated Press college football ranking poll.

The balloting marked Northwestern's third straight week on top. For the second week in succession the Wildcats led the Gophers by six points, with a total of 337 out of a maximum 370. Minnesota accumulated 331 points.

Seventeen Pick Wildcats.

Seventeen of the 37 experts contributing to this week's poll kept Northwestern at the top. Twelve named Minnesota as the country's best team. Four placed Fordham, currently the eastern choice for the Rose Bowl, in the No. 1 position despite the fact that the Rams did not play last Saturday. The University of Washington, moving from tenth to sixth, and Louisiana State, No. 5 on the list, split the other first place ballots.

The outcome of this week's poll was as follows:

FIRST TEN.		SECOND TEN.
1. Northwestern	337	11. Notre Dame	19
2. Minnesota	331	12. Dartmouth	10
3. Fordham	257	13. Nebraska	9
4. Pittsburgh	240	14. Texas A. & M.	8
5. Lou'na State	166	15. Washingt'n St.	7
6. U. of Wash'n	165	16. Duke	6
7. Marquette	154	17. Holy Cross	5
8. Alabama	150	18. Ohio State	4
9. Santa Clara	143	19. Tennessee	3
10. Pennsylvania	25	20. Temple and Duquesne	2

Relatively little shakeup occurred in the top flight this week. The chief casualty was Nebraska, which dropped from sixth place to 13th as a result of being soundly beaten by Pittsburgh. Pennsylvania, moving up a notch, made the first ten for the first time this season. The Quakers have been overlooked by some observers because of their early season loss to Yale.

Yale Support Lags.

The spectacular victory of Yale over Princeton was not sufficient to rally any support for the blue, which squeezed into last place on only one of the lists received in this weeks' balloting. Pittsburgh, Louisiana State, and Marquette, as a result of noteworthy triumphs, advanced into the top ten. Alabama fell from fourth to eighth.

Notre Dame climbed back into the picture and is a distinct threat to Northwestern supremacy in Saturday's headline game at South Bend.

Weidner Throws Manuel in White City Mat Bout

Bill Weidner tossed José Manuel in 25 minutes last night in the windup of the wrestling show at White City. Jack Kogut and Ernie Peterson wrestled to a 30 minute draw; Red Vagnonne pinned Jack Conley in 17 minutes, and Andy Chikos drew with Jerry Meeker.

MICHIGAN STATE RETAINS CROSS COUNTRY TITLE

Waite Finishes First in 5 Mile Test.

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Michigan State retained the I. C. A. A. A. A. cross-country championship today as 23 year old Kenneth Waite of Jackson, Mich., paced the Spartans to their fourth straight varsity victory and Richard Frey, former Buffalo schoolboy, won the freshmen title.

Waite sprinted into an early lead and never relinquished his advantage. At the finish of the five mile test he was more than 100 yards ahead of Peter Olezy of Penn State and was clocked in the good time of 26 minutes 26 3-10 seconds.

Completing a well balanced team, coached by 31 year old Lauren Brown, the Spartans placed their remaining four men in the sixth, ninth, sixteenth, and eighteenth places to retain the team crown with a low aggregate of 46 points.

Manhattan Is Second.

For the third time since Michigan State started its string of victories in 1933, Manhattan took second with 66 points. The Jaspers gained some solace, however, by winning the freshmen title for the second straight year and the fifth time in the last six years.

Olezy had to give his best to beat Howard Welch of Cornell. Less than 20 yards separated the pair. Then came William Hunnewell of Maine and Phillips Smith of Rutgers.

Woodruff Is 72d.

John Woodruff, Olympic 800 meter champion from Pittsburgh, kept well up with the leaders for the first three miles, but found his long stride unsuited to the hills and dropped back steadily, finishing 72d among the 121 of the 122 starters who completed the journey.

Fry, running three miles against 78 other freshmen, also won by 20 seconds. His time was 15:32 as compared to 15:52 for Dick Hawkes of Dartmouth, who was second. Unlike Waite, however, Fry trailed the early pace and did not go to the front until less than a mile from the finish.

SNOWSTORM IS NO HINDRANCE TO DARTMOUTH

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Earl Blaik, Dartmouth coach, sent the junior varsity through a brief workout in a snowstorm today while the first two teams rested. The scrubs spent most of their time in the gymnasium preparing a Princeton offensive to put into action tomorrow and Wednesday. Dartmouth plays at Princeton Saturday.

POLO OFFICIALS RAISE IGLEHART TO 10 GOAL RANK

Former Yale Star Joins Hitchcock at Top.

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Stewart B. Iglehart, 26 year old Yale graduate, reached the polo peak today and took his place alongside Tommy Hitchcock in the 10 goal handicap class.

Because of his brilliant play as the No. 3 on the American team which successfully defended the International trophy against Great Britain in England last summer, Iglehart was lifted from eight goals to the maximum in the annual handicap revisions announced by the United States Polo association.

Hitchcock, meanwhile, retained the 10 goal rating he has held in 15 of the last 16 years. Because of business responsibilities, the veteran internationalist could not make the trip abroad for the Westchester cup matches but he led the Greentree four which captured the national open crown and subsequently was beaten by Argentina in the competition for the "Cup of the Americas."

Eric Pedley, one of Iglehart's teammates in the Westchester cup matches, jumped from seven goals to nine where he was joined by Smith, boosted from eight goals.

The leading revised handicaps and the figures for a year ago follow:

	1937.	1936.
Tommy Hitchcock	10	10
Stewart Iglehart	10	8
Eric Pedley	9	7
Cecil Smith	9	8
Gerald Balding	8	9
Eric Tyrell-Martin	8	7
Elmer Boeseke	8	8
Winston Guest	8	8
Mike Phipps	8	8
Billy Post	8	8
Aidan Roark	8	8
G. H. Bostwick	7	6
E. T. Gerry	7	8
R. L. Gerry	7	7
E. A. S. Hopping	7	6
Devereux Milburn	7	7
Jimmy Mills	7	7
J. C. Rathborne	7	7
Bobby Strawbridge	7	6
T. Q. Preece	7	6

Other handicap changes included:

Five goals—Tom Guy, San Mateo, Cal.

Four goals—C. R. Colee, Santa Monica, Cal.; William Dritt and Wynn Humberson, both of Houston, Tex.

Three goals—Harry Evinger, Detroit; Leonard Firestone, Chagrin Falls, O.; Tim Holt and Nicholas Romero, Santa Monica, Cal.

Two goals—John Allen, Austin, Tex.; W. S. Farism Jr., Houston, Tex.; Frank Borsage, Santa Monica, Cal.; O. Wallop, Santa Barbara, Cal.; Theodore Buhl, Capt. Fred Collin, Thomas Hammond, and M. Lightman, all Detroit; John Campbell, Minneapolis; D. R. Cassell and O. Knutsen Jr., Chagrin Falls, O.; Jack King and J. E. Madden, Lexington, Ky.

TWO GUNNERS' VETERANS HURT; OUT TOMORROW

The Chicago Gunners returned home yesterday with two regulars on the hospital list as a result of their, 6 to 6, tie with the Louisville Tanks. Tomorrow the Gunners will play the Rock Island Independents at the 124th Field Artillery armory.

Bob Bee, end, and Sam Papich, tackle, were players injured at Louisville. X-rays were made yesterday to determine if any bones were broken in Papich's ankle. The players will not be available tomorrow.

Paul Tangora has been shifted from guard to take the place of Papich and Jim Buechel of Northwestern will replace Bee.

Three of the new players signed last week by the Gunners demonstrated their ability in the Louisville battle. Walt Stanul of Northwestern played half back and intercepted a pass to gallop 55 yards for the Chicago touchdown. Ray Durkin, De Paul university captain last year, quarter back, and Dick Sweidler, Creighton half back, were responsible for much of the Gunners' yardage.

KELLEY, YALE'S FAMED "I" MAN, FOXES PRINCETON

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Larry Kelley, captain and end, who was a hero of Yale's victory over Princeton, was revealed today at the football writer's weekly luncheon as the perpetrator of something of a hoax on the Tigers.

It concerns Dave Colwell, Colorado boy and Yale full back, who got into the game briefly for the first time since being operated on for appendicitis more than three weeks ago and who subsequently was taken out after apparently being hurt.

"He may have been shaken up," said Dr. Marvin Stevens, New York university coach, "but the idea of making it appear more serious was Kelley's. The purpose was to permit a substitution without taking an extra time out.

"Kelley rushed over to Colwell after the latter was bowled over and said: 'Make it look good.' Colwell did his part so well that he finally had to whisper to Kelly: 'Is it all right now for me to turn over?'"

Grimes Takes Up Duties as Dodger Pilot

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Jaunty as ever and certainly lacking none of the old assurance in his ability to handle a tough job, Burleigh Grimes, one time fiery spitball pitcher, breezed into windswept Ebbets field today and took over the assignment of managing the Brooklyn Dodgers for 1937. His first task was to sign his one year contract with Judge Steve McKeever, president of the club.

The document, understood to call for a salary of $10,000, also revealed Grimes as already having won battle No. 1 in his debut as a major league pilot. For when his appointment as successor to Casey Stengel was first announced a couple of weeks ago it was said his contract contained the usual ten day baseball clause. Today, however, Grimes made it quite clear the clause was removed before he signed, so that, should the Brooklyn club decide to make still another managerial change, it would have to pay off Burleigh in full, just as it will be paying Stengel $15,500 on the last year of his unexpired contract all through 1937.

Harmony at Last.

But at the moment no such move appears in prospect. In fact, for once genuine harmony seems to prevail in Ebbets field, and all through the interview Judge McKeever beamed upon his new pilot.

There is, of course, none of the swashbuckling ball field truculence about Burleigh when seated in a trim business suit and behind a fat cigar. On such occasions he is an extremely affable fellow.

What about trades? This was, of course, the inevitable first question.

"We are wide open," said Burleigh, "for any club that wants to deal with us. By that I don't mean I'm going to make changes just for the fun of making them. But I do mean I'm ready to trade anybody on this club if I think the deal will help us.

Gives Views on Mungo.

"Does that go for Van Mungo, too?"

"Yes," was the quick response, "But," and here followed statements that seemed to make it certain that Mungo would remain a fixture at Ebbets field. It is Grimes' conviction Mungo is the next king of all National league pitchers.

"Right now, for trading purposes," said Burleigh, "I rate him the best pitcher in the league. I wouldn't trade him even up for either Carl Hubbell or Dizzy Dean. He is only 24, and while I was reckoned a pretty fair pitcher at that age I certainly wasn't the pitcher at 24 that I was later. Mungo, big and powerful, with a liking for baseball, will be a great pitcher long after both Hubbell and Dean have passed out."

On the Dodgers as a whole Burleigh has no illusions. He appreciates they will need much strengthening and intends to center all his attention on bolstering the "middle line."

A start on bolstering the second base combination is considered on the way if Commissioner Landis approves the deal whereby Lee Handley will come to the Dodgers from the Reds for Linus Frey, a pitcher and cash.

Pheasants Are Sometimes Too Easy to Shoot

BY BOB BECKER.

Northern Illinois hunters who look back on the pheasant season that closed Sunday doubtless will remember one thing about the crafty ringneck for a long time. It's this: the pheasant is by choice a pedestrian, so he'll run rather than fly if he has the room for sprinting. This attribute of the ringneck really calls for an adaptation in our shooting methods if the sportsman is to get many shots in a certain type of cover.

Another point about the recent hunting that sticks in our mind and doubtless in the memories of other hunters is this: birds that are walked up in thick cover, especially when they are lying close, or those found by a dog and flushed in thick cover, invariably are straightaway shots. Six of these aren't as much fun as one high bird that has had a chance to climb and work up speed overhead.

High Shots More Sport.

At least that is our reaction to the high overhead bird and those that are literally kicked out from under your feet. This fall we have had the good fortune to secure shots on high birds in South Dakota, on the Beyer hunting preserve near Portage, Wis., and here in Illinois. In our estimation these shots are the best that pheasant hunting has to offer and far ahead in fun to the close straightaway birds that get up anywhere from six to twenty feet away from you. Since Oct. 10 we have seen many a bird get up so close that one really needed to count five before bringing up the gun to shoot.

The more we hunt pheasants and the more we look at our notebook in which are recorded the shots taken, the location of the birds, and how close to the gun the pheasants were flushed, the more we are inclined to put in a bid for a certain position on a pheasant shoot.

Likes Cornfield Drive.

We'd like to stand at the end of a cornfield drive for a shot or two at the high overhead birds that have run ahead of the hunters and dogs and then flushed. By the time they reach the end of the field they have gained altitude and are hitting on all eight cylinders. To be able to drop one of these ringnecks in a clean kill is to us the height of fun.

There is nothing new about this system. Drives in cornfields are common in South Dakota and in most any pheasant country. In Wisconsin we have seen times when it was necessary to drive through scrub oak timber to put out birds from the thick brush.

Ducks on Upper Mississippi Know Which Side to Stay On

McGregor, Ia., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Ducks on the Upper Mississippi are wise to the fact that the hunting season is closed in Wisconsin but still open in Iowa. Charles Brooks, a McGregor hunter, reported that on a 20 mile trip north of here today he saw not one duck on the Iowa half of the river, but many thousands of them safely feeding in the ponds and sloughs on the Wisconsin side.

Bruised Hawks Work Out for Maroon Game

When the Blackhawks reported for practice yesterday at the Stadium Manager Clem Loughlin and the club physicians made a check up on the casualties following the hocky game with Toronto which ended in a free-for-all fight Sunday night.

Recapitulation showed Mush March with three patches on his face, Paul Thompson had one, Bill Kendall was limping because of an ankle cut, Earl Seibert's jaw was swollen and Marty Burke showed a spot on his chin where the waving stick of Red Horner had removed a piece of cuticle. Manager Loughlin nursed a sore knuckle.

"Just Another Incident."

Good humor prevailed, however, and the aftermath of the affair was summed up by Mush March just before the team took to the ice for a light workout as "just another incident in the life of a hocky player and as bunged up as we look I'd like to have a glimpse of the Maple Leafs' dressing room in Toronto right now, I'm willing to bet you could smell the arnica a block away."

Police Commissioner Allman, discussing the battle following the game Sunday, yesterday said that as far as he knew no police detail ever was assigned to duties inside the Stadium. A regular detail of two sergeants and ten men are assigned to the vicinity of the Stadium to care of trafic whenever an event is being held, he added. They were on duty Sunday night as well as three or four squad cars.

"No Detail Ever Assigned."

"As to reports that a large detail used to be stationed in the Stadium," the commissioner said, "never, so far as I can remember, has any detail ever been assigned there, nor has the Stadium corporation requested a detail.

"The police are always ready to quell disturbances, inside or outside the Stadium, but I am opposed to having a lot of policemen assigned to keep an eye on things."

It was pointed out by the commissioner that any private corporation may procure a police detail by paying a fee depending upon the number of men required. Such a course is taken by the baseball clubs, where police daily are stationed around the parks.

This morning the team will get down to real practice again with a two hour scrimmage. Manager Loughlin is far from satisfied with the results of the four games played. Although the Hawks lost only one game, they have not won one so far, three overtime games having finished in ties, which has netted them three points in the scoring column and has kept them in second place in the United States section's standing.

Drill Scheduled Tomorrow.

Another work-out tomorrow in Loughlin's opinion is vitally necessary to key the Blackhawks for their contest with the Montreal Maroons on Thursday, who have among them Lionel Conacher.

Sunday the Hawks are booked to clash with the Boston Bruins who carry three former league bad men with them, Eddie Shore, Hooley Smith, and Nels Stewart.

Promoter Hopes to Get Braddock Signature Today

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Armed with bait to the tune of $100,000, Herman Taylor, Philadelphia promoter, is coming to town tomorrow to try to sew up a James J. Braddock-Joe Louis fight for Atlantic City on Feb. 22.

Taylor said in Philadelphia today he expected details of the proposed no decision twelve round bout to be settled at a conference he would have with Joe Gould, manager of Braddock, and Mike Jacobs, acting for the Brown Bomber.

"If Gould signs he can have his money right away," Taylor said. "I'll have a certified check in my pocket."

Taylor is guaranteeing the champion $300,000, plus 50 per cent of receipts over $500,000. Gould has said he'll sign the minute Taylor produces a third of the guarantee.

JUDGE ORDERS McWILLIAMS TO TRAIN ON MILK

A professional football player and a professional baseball player were admonished to train on milk by Judge Eugene J. McGarry yesterday in the South State street court. William McWilliams, 24 years old, 200 pound Cardinal half back, and Gordon McNaughton, professional baseball player on a Milwaukee team, were arraigned and freed on disorderly conduct charges. They admitted they had been boisterous in a South Wabash avenue tavern Sunday night.

David Shields, manager of the club, said he ordered them out because they were "roughhousing." Policeman Louis Loula added that one of them threw a brick which barely missed the window of the night club. McWilliams lives at 550 Surf street and McNaughton at 3505 Sheffield avenue.

Cut Badger Basket Squad for Last Time

Madison, Wis., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Sixteen players, including four veterans, today survived the last cut of the University of Wisconsin basketball squad, which opens a 20 game schedule two weeks from Friday night against Ball State Teachers' college of Indiana in the fieldhouse.

Harold E. Foster, starting his third year as varsity coach, will have three positions to fill because of the loss of Ed Stege and Charley [Bump] Jones, centers; Nick Demark, forward, and Fritz Wegner, guard. Stege, Demark, and Wegner were graduated last June and Jones is ineligible.

The 1936-'37 quintet is being built around Gordon Fuller, Madison senior, who has been shifted from forward to center; Howard [Hod] Powell, Valparaiso, Ind., and George Rooney, Appleton, both juniors, at forward, and Lee Mitchell, Monroe junior, at one of the guard posts.

The other 12 players on the squad are:

Spoldi Adds Fontaine to List of Victories

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Aldo Spoldi, Italian lightweight, added Ritchie Fontaine of Montana to his lengthening list of victims in eight rounds at the St. Nicholas Palace tonight. While 3,500 looked on, the Italian hammered away tirelessly and continuously to earn the decision. He was hard to hit, his crouching style a puzzle, with the result that Fontaine rarely got through for an effective blow.

C. Y. O. BOXERS OPEN QUARTER FINALS TONIGHT

South Side Boys Battle at 124th Armory.

A bantamweight and middleweight bout in the open division will feature the opening quarter final matches of the annual C. Y. O. boxing tournament tonight at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue. Sixteen bouts—eight in the open and a similar number in the novice division—will comprise the program. The first match will start at 8 o'clock.

The quarter-final contests mark the first of four similar cards among the sectional survivors in the C. Y. O. meet. Tomorrow night activity will shift to the west side, Thursday north side contenders will be seen in action and Friday suburban representatives will invade the C. Y. O. Center gymnasium downtown to battle for a berth in the semi-final round of the tournament.

Semi-Finals Open Nov. 23.

Winners will advance to the semi-finals Nov. 23 and 24 at the C. Y. O. Center gym, 31 East Congress street, after which will come the climax to six weeks of competition—the title contests Dec. 2 in the Chicago Stadium before 21,000.

Sammy Zaczek, 118 pounder from Sacred Heart parish, and Cornelius Young, hard hitting 160 pound title aspirant from St. Cecilia's, will share the attention of spectators tonight. Zaczek, winner of the flyweight title in last year's finals, is out to duplicate his feat this fall in the bantamweight division. Whether or not he succeeds in doing so, however, will depend a good deal on how successful he will be tonight in hurdling his quarter-final opponent, Larry Williams, from Corpus Christi parish.

Young Meets Maloney.

The second bout of interest will bring together Cornelius Young, St. Cecilia, and Frank Maloney, St. Columbanus. Young, winner of the 147 pound novice title last year, has improved so rapidly that he is now competing in the open division as a middleweight, and is conceded a good chance to reach the finals. His contest against Maloney will determine conclusively whether or not Young, who is a tall, handsome Irish lad, has true championship ability.

Other good matches will be between Jesse Garcia and Eddie O'Connell in the 118 pound novice division and Stanley Murczyk and John Lewandowski in the 147 pound open.

The quarter-final card:

OPEN DIVISION.

Sam Zaczek, Sacred Heart, vs. Larry Williams, Corpus Christi, 118 pounds.
Alex Maksymiec, St. Nicholas, vs. Douglas Coley, St. Jude, 126 pounds.
William Goldsmith, Corpus Christi, vs. Bob Chan, St. Maria, 135 pounds.
Stanley Murezyk, St. Barbara, vs. John Lewandowski, St. Mary, 147 pounds.
Cornelius Young, St. Cecilia, vs. Frank Maloney, St. Columbanus, 160 pounds.
Eddie Foys, St. Stephen, vs. John Humphres, St. Columbanus, 175 pounds.

NOVICE DIVISION.

Willie Moop, Corpus Christi, vs. Philip Carey, Visitation, 112 pounds.
Jesse Garcia, St. Patrick, vs. Eddie O'Connell, St. Nicholas of Tolentine, 118 pounds.
Joe O'Connell, St. Nicholas of Tolentine, vs. George Runge, St. Joseph, 126 pounds.
Nick Galotte, St. Anne, vs. John Caldwell, Corpus Christi, 135 pounds.
Joe Beirne, Little Flower, vs. Henry Wisniewski, St. Barbara, 147 pounds.
Teddy Stipak, St. Bruno, vs. Gene Garcia, St. Jude, 160 pounds.
Ed Adomaitis, St. Nicholas, vs. Joe Bresnahan, St. Gabriel, 175 pounds.
Bill Wilinski, St. Michael, vs. James Spratt, St. Anselm, heavyweight.

Takes The "STARCH" Out Of Whiskers! say these Famous Athletes
CASEY STENGEL, former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, says: "Take a tip, boys, and try Williams. My beard's tougher than hog bristles, but Williams wilts it down in no time."
BENNY FRIEDMAN, Michigan's famous All-American, says: "I prefer Williams. It sure softens my whiskers right down to the roots—makes them a cinch for my razor to cut through."
"Twin-Action" Shaving Cream Softens Rough Outer Skin—Wilts the Toughest Beards
GET to the root of shaving trouble. Don't blame your razor or blade. The fault probably lies in your shaving cream. Switch to Williams. Williams Shaving Cream is "twin-action": Its rich, wet lather knocks out every bit of "starch"—penetrates to the base of each hair. Soaks and softens the scaly outer skin on your face—allows razor edge to cut closer, cleaner. Off come whiskers without scraping or pulling.
For a perfect finish to your Williams shave, dash a generous amount of cool, refreshing Aqua Velva on your skin. Closes pores... fights off irritation.
Soaks Whiskers Softer
A special homogenizing process gives Williams a greater capacity to hold water than ordinary creams. 1. Soaks the "starch" out of whiskers quicker. 2. Instantly softens scaly outer skin.

THREE OFFICIALS TO GIVE DECISION IN MAT BOUT

The scheduled 90 minute wrestling bout between Everett Marshall and Ali Baba at Chicago Stadium Friday will not end in a draw.

This was decided upon yesterday by Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois athletic commission. The commission, which has given title recognition to the heavyweight affair, announced that there must be a winner and a loser.

Officials to Give Decision.

To assure such an ending three mat referees will be appointed, two of whom will serve as judges. In the event neither athlete scores a fall within the specified time a decision will be rendered by all three officials. Otherwise the referee in the ring will be sole judge.

This is an unusual procedure. Only once before have a referee and two judges presided at a wrestling contest held here. This occurred two years ago when Jim Londos and Ed [Strangler] Lewis met for the undisputed championship at Wrigley field before 35,625 spectators. The contest, which was presented under the auspices of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, was ended before the stipulated time, Londos gaining a fall and the match in 49 minutes 27 seconds. Consequently, Capt. Willard Malone and George Donoghue, who were selected to serve as judges by readers of THE TRIBUNE, were not called upon to cast a vote.

Resume Drills Today.

Marshall appeared at the commission, but left to continue training at Trafton's gymnasium before the chairman issued his statement. Meanwhile Ali Baba opened workouts at Madison Square loop gymnasium. Both men will resume drills this afternoon.

Harry Dublinsky and Frankie Sagillo, west side welterweight boxers, have been signed to head the card at Marigold Gardens next Monday. Pat Robertson, New York featherweight, will appear in the semi-final. Johnny Brown, American Olympic Golden Gloves bantamweight runner-up, will make his professional debut in one of three matches at four rounds. . . . Supporting encounters to the wrestling headliner involving George Mansor and Oki Shikina at Arcadia Gardens tomorrow match Ken Genlon with Frenchy Leavitt, Babe Kasaboski with Bull Curley, and Mike Kilonis with Stan Buresch. . . . Johnny Erjavec, Duluth, and Harry Thomas, Eagle Bend, Minn., heavyweight challengers, will referee two of seven amateur bouts being sponsored by the Duncan Y. M. C. A. at the club gymnasium tomorrow. Jesse Robinson clashes with Morrie Zelig, and Tony Musto is paired with Mike Adler in feature contests at five rounds.

Dave Barry, Springfield, Ill., featherweight, has been indefinitly suspended by the state boxing commission for violating the rules in a match against Henry Huerta at Peoria last Tuesday. Huerta was awarded the match on a foul in the third round. . . . The Southtown Athletic association was granted Dec. 11 on which to offer a fight card. . . . Geno Salvatore, La Salle, Ill., lightweight, left last night for a series of matches in New York.—F. M.

Caught Captures Eden Handicap; Shoeless Joe 2d

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—After being practically left at the post, James Butler's Caught today ran the best race of his career to take the Eden handicap at Bowie. Treford was the choice, but finished out of the money. Caught won by a head at $11.20.

Caught is the only racer which James Butler saved out of the dispersal of the stable of his late father, and for much of his racing career the son of Sting and Molly Darling has been a disappointment. But he came around his field with a burst of speed to beat Shoeless Joe today.

Third, and a length and a half back of Shoeless Joe, was Master Lad. Then finished Miss Careful and Treford. It was a hard day for the horses, as well as the spectators. A heavy wind blew up the stretch.

A favorite won in the second when a field of maiden three year olds went to the post with Tuckey Run made a short priced favorite. He won by six lengths.

CARNEGIE STEEL WAGE INCREASE PUT IN EFFECT

Many Other Firms Grant Pay Boosts.

With the wage increase of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation becoming operative yesterday and with further announcements of pay increases by numerous companies, especially textile concerns, the pay envelopes of many thousands of American workers will be swelled considerably before the Christmas season opens.

In a statement issued to employés in all its plants, the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation said:

"The proposed wage increase, coupled with the adjustment of occupational rates and based upon the cost of living formula which you and the management have been considering for some time, has received the hearty approval of a great majority of the plants and employés of this company and therefore will be the policy of the management in all plants of the company, effective Monday, Nov. 16, for a period of one year."

Boost Affects 100,000 Workers.

The increase, which affects nearly 100,000 workers, will add about $15,000,000 annually to the concern's pay roll.

Increases in wages for more than 15,000 New England workers brought to about 80,000 the number of employés in this section for whom raises have been announced since early last week.

Eastern textile plants continued prominent in the announcements of wage increases. In Maine seven cotton textile mills, including the Pepperell Manufacturing company, at Biddeford, announced that wages of 10,000 workers will be increased effective Nov. 30. Most of the increases will be 10 per cent. It is estimated the increases will add $900,000 annually to the wages of the workers concerned.

Among the Maine increases announced were those of the Edwards Manufacturing company, which is raising the pay of 1,000 workers at its cotton mill at Augusta approximately 10 per cent, and those of the Androscoggin, Bates, Continental, and Hill plants at Lewiston, which are raising pay 10 per cent.

Many Workers Affected.

These boosts will affect about 5,500 workers and will add nearly $500,000 to the annual pay roll of the mills concerned.

The Newmarket Manufacturing company, which has a silk goods plant at Lowell, Mass., announced a wage increase of approximately 10 per cent for 1,200 persons. Approximately 1,900 workers of the Arnold Print Works at the North Adams and Adams, Mass., plants of the concern will receive increases, effective Nov. 30.

Approximately 2,200 employés of the Pequot Mills, Salem, Mass., will receive a 10 per cent wage increase, effective Nov. 23.

The Dan River Mills at Danville, Va., has announced a 10 per cent increase for its workers, increasing its present weekly pay roll from $130,000 to $143,000. More than 9,000 workers are affected.

Copper Concerns Boost Pay.

The Miami Copper company and the Inspiration Consolidated Copper company announced that approximately 1,800 miners will receive a 5 per cent wage increase on Dec. 1. The announcement followed by two days a similar increase for 800 men employed in the Phelps Dodge corporation smelter at Douglas.

It was estimated the Miami and Inspiration increases would boost their monthly pay rolls between $12,000 and $13,000, while the Phelps Dodge raise would mean an additional $4,500.

The Cannon Cotton Mills, Kannapolis, N. C., announced a pay boost for their 16,000 employés amounting to about $1,000,000 a year.

Wage increases have been put in effect for 3,200 workers at the Niagara Falls plants of the Carborundum company and the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company.

Christmas Bonus Granted.

The Hummel-Ross Fibre corporation is paying a Christmas bonus of a week's pay to its 450 workers at Hopewell, Va. The bonus will be given to all workers who have been employed at the plant a year. Wages were increased from 5 to 10 per cent the first of the year.

The International Business Machines corporation announced a 5 cents an hour increase, effective yesterday. The order affects 3,000 employés in plants at Rochester, N. Y., and Washington, D. C. The increase adds $300,000 to the annual pay roll.

The United Aircraft corporation announced a 5 cent per hour wage increase for its 4,000 employés.

The W. B. Jarvis company, Grand Rapids, Mich., granted $45,000 in bonuses for 1,250 employés.

Wheat, Barley, Rye, Soy Beans Hit New Highs

New high prices for the season were established yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade for December wheat and all future deliveries of rye, barley, and soy beans. Soy beans led the advance and closed 4 cents higher, the maximum permitted for one day under exchange regulations. Soy beans for December delivery closed at $1.30¼ a bushel. There was a marked broadening in speculative interest.

Wheat gained 1⅜ to 1⅞ cents, with December contracts finishing at $1.18¼ a bushel. Corn advanced 1 to 1¼ cents with December closing at $1.03 a bushel and within ½ cent of the highest price of the season. Rye futures gained 2⅜ to 2¾ cents. December closing at 92⅜ cents. Oats were fractionally higher.

Upturn Surprises Traders.

Yesterday's upturn in wheat was a surprise to grain traders. Millions of bushels of December wheat were offered for sale at $1.17, but a rush of general commission house buying appeared and swept aside all opposition. Relative weakness in the Winnipeg and Liverpool wheat markets was ignored after the upturn in American markets got well under way.

The strong world situation, with available supplies estimated by the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome as the smallest in 15 years, and a much broader domestic shipping demand for cash wheat, were said to have been responsible for the aggressive buying which appeared.

Comparative Prices.

Closing prices on the December delivery of leading grains on the board of trade, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Wk. ago.	Mo. ago.
Wheat	$1.18¼	$1.16¾	$1.15¼	$1.14½
Corn	1.03⅜	1.02½	1.03¼	.93¼
Oats	.44⅛	.43⅝	.43	.40⅝
Rye	.92⅜	.90	.86⅝	.82

Commission houses were fair buyers of rye futures and found a lack of pressure. A boat with 100,000 bushels of Canadian rye is now en route to Chicago.

A leading cash rye handler yesterday expressed the belief that the United States would buy all of the Canadian exportable surplus of rye this season, and might be forced to supplement the supply by purchases in Europe. Since the opening of lake navigation this year Chicago has received approximately 1,750,000 bushels of Canadian rye.

REPORT U. S. MAY BUY SILVER TO STABILIZE DOLLAR-POUND RATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 16.—Extensive purchases of silver in the London market by the United States stabilization fund as an additional vehicle of preventing the dollar-sterling rate from getting too far out of line may be inaugurated shortly, according to a suggestion which emanated today from the British capital.

The reasoning is that if Washington is interested in seeing the British pound sterling at a higher level, buying of silver by the control agency would have the same effect on the dollar-pound rate as if British exchange were purchased.

The British exchange equalization fund, it is believed, will suggest to the American fund that there are huge hoards of the white metal in London which could be used in exchange movements.

In silver circles here, however, the report was looked upon with some suspicion. One observer declared that since the story originated in London "the wish is probably father of the thought." Any extensive buying by the American fund would take silver off the hands of London interests.

NATIONAL TEA SALES INCREASE; TO REDEEM NOTES

National Tea company yesterday called for redemption Dec. 16, the balance of $1,475,000 of outstanding three year 5 per cent sinking fund notes due Dec. 15, 1937. On Aug. 22 the big grocery chain redeemed $1,000,000 of its notes.

Sales of the company for the four weeks ended Nov. 7, 1936, totaled $5,221,467, compared with $4,873,385 for the corresponding four weeks last year, an increase of $348,082, or 7.14 per cent. Stores in operation declined from 1,229 on Nov. 2, 1935, to 1,213 on Nov. 7, 1936.

Sales of the Jewel Tea company for the four weeks ended Oct. 31 were the highest for a four week period in the company's history, totaling $1,595,960, compared with $1,466,986 in the corresponding 1935 period, an increase of 8.79 per cent. The previous four weeks' record was established in the period ended July 11, 1936, when sales totaled $1,579,602. Sales for the first 44 weeks of 1936 totaled $16,752,734, against $15,644,314 for the same 1935 period—an increase of 7.09 per cent.

Several Big Rails Report Profit Gains

A number of important railroads, headed by the Pennsylvania, yesterday reported substantial increases in net earnings for the nine months ended Sept. 30, although a few roads showed a less satisfactory earnings picture.

The Pennsylvania railroad had net income of $23,977,971 in the first nine months, equal to $1.82 a share on the capital stock, compared with $14,944,772, or $1.13 in the first nine months of last year. For September net income totaled $4,530,436, against $2,667,476 in the same month last year.

The Louisville and Nashville reported net income of $6,047,696, equal to $5.17 a share on capital stock for the nine months, against $2,369,703, or $2.02 a share, in the corresponding 1935 period.

Illinois Central Cuts Loss.

The Illinois Central's net loss for the first nine months was $2,498,055, against net loss of $3,825,207 in the comparable 1935 months. For September net loss amounted to $172,941, against net loss of $86,186 in the same month a year ago.

The Santa Fe's net income for the nine months amounted to $3,921,187, equal to $3.18 a share on the 5 per cent preferred stock, compared with $4,057,289, or $3.26 a share on the preferred, in the like period of 1935.

The Kansas City Southern had net income of $455,581, equal to $2.17 a share in the 4 per cent noncumulative preferred stock, against a net loss of $906,338 in the corresponding period last year.

Columbian Carbon Earns More.

The Columbian Carbon company was among the companies yesterday reporting an advance in earnings over a year ago. Net income of $810,799, or $1.51 a share, for the September quarter, compared with $625,295, or $1.16 a share, in the like period of last year.

In the first nine months of this year the company earned $2,654,104, or $4.94 a share, against $2,127,787, or $3.95 a share, in the corresponding months of last year. No provision was made for the surtax on undistributed profits.

In the nine months ended Sept. 30 profits of Columbia Gas were $8,937,751, or 32 cents a share, compared with $8,439,566, or 27 cents a share, a year ago. September quarter profits amounted to $219,966, against $722,602 in the third quarter of 1935.

DU PONT BOOSTS DIVIDEND TO $2 FOR END OF YEAR

Several Firms Take Favorable Action.

A year-end dividend of $2 was declared yesterday by the directors of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., which will put approximately $22,131,000 in the pocketbooks of the concern's 50,000 stockholders. In the two preceding quarters the company made payments of 90 cents and extra disbursements of 70 cents.

The increase reflects the extra dividend payment made last week by the General Motors corporation, a large part of whose common stock is owned by du Pont. The du Pont dividend is payable Dev. 15 to stock of record Nov. 25.

The Humble Oil and Refining company announced dividends totaling $4,500,000. Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents and an extra dividend of 25 cents a share, payable Dec. 26 to stockholders of record Nov. 25.

Skelly Oil Clears Arrears.

Directors of the Skelly Oil company cleared up all accumulated arrears on the 6 per cent preferred stock by declaration of a dividend of $25.50. Payment will be made Dec. 21 to stock of record Dec. 1. The directors also declared a regular dividend on the preferred of $1.50 for the quarter ended Jan. 31, 1937, payable Feb. 1 to stock of record Jan. 5.

Directors of the Pure Oil company declared regular quarterly dividends of 1¼ per cent on the 5¼ per cent stock, 1½ per cent on the 6 per cent preferred, and 2 per cent on the 8 per cent preferred. The dividends are payable Jan. 1 to stock of record Dec. 10.

Pure Oil Bonds Called.

The Pure Oil directors also voted to call in $1,000,000 of 4¼ per cent sinking fund notes, due July 1, 1950, for redemption on Jan. 1, 1937, at 102½.

Oscar Mayer & Co. declared a special dividend of 25 cents on the common stock and a regular $2 dividend on the second preferred stock plus an extra dividend of 25 cents on the second preferred. The payments will be made Dec. 1 to stockholders of record Nov. 23.

Directors of Woodall Industries, Inc., declared a regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the common stock and an extra dividend of 30 cents, both payable Dec. 15 to stock of record Nov. 20. The regular dividend of 25 cents compares with 20 cents paid Sept. 15.

Other Concerns Pay More.

The United Aircraft corporation declared a dividend of 50 cents, payable Dec. 15 to stockholders of record Dec. 1.

The Blaw-Knox company declared a dividend of 35 cents, payable Dec. 18 to stockholders of record Nov. 27. The payment will aggregate $262,838. Of three previous disbursements this year two were for 10 cents and one for 15 cents.

Directors of the Hummel-Ross Fibre corporation ordered the payment on Dec. 1 of an extra dividend of $1 in addition to the regular 25 cent dividend. An extra dividend of 75 cents was paid on Sept. 1.

Stock Prices Rally Strongly; All Parts of List Show Gain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 16.—Stocks rallied today as the bearish tendencies evident in the closing sessions of last week disappeared. Prices improved from fractions to 2 points. All sections of the list participated in the advance with amusement issues and mercantile shares setting the pace.

Trading was orderly, but slower than on any day of the last two weeks. Total transactions amounted to 2,374,480 shares. Largest turnover was in low priced issues which gave a good account of themselves under renewed outside demand.

Many operators said the selling of last week had run its course. In addition the shock occasioned by President Roosevelt's hint that something might be done about foreign buying in American markets had largely worn off and traders gave more attention to the business position.

Utilities Turn Strong.

Steels, coppers and silver mining issues scored the best gains in the list, but a notable feature of the day was the performance of the utilities, which have been neglected for some time. Gains of a point or more were registered by Consolidated Edison, Public Service of New Jersey, American Water Works, North American, Pacific Gas and American Telephone.

A long list of steel company shares was bid up more than a point as the high operating rate of the industry was maintained. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, Crucible and Midland were in the van.

Du Pont leaped over 2 points on the announcement of its dividend declaration, but lost almost all before the final bell. Allied Chemical lost more than 3 points in a slow market, but Columbia Carbon, Union Carbide and Monsanto pushed forward vigorously.

Store Shares in Demand.

In anticipation of a lively holiday trade, mercantile shares found favor though gains in many instances were limited to fractions.

Amusement shares did a land-office business. Paramount common leaped over a point in an exceedingly active market and the first preferred soared 9 points. RKO, the second most active stock in the list, rose a point to a new high and Warner Brothers changed hands rapidly. The solid front was broken by Columbia which sagged nearly 3 points.

Aviation stocks were in demand as were the liquors. Rail shares did little while automobiles rose moderately. Chrysler gained a small fraction, but General Motors was bid up a point.

WILLARD CREDITS CUT IN PASSENGER FARES FOR BETTER EARNINGS

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, said today lower passenger fares on B. & O. trains had proved a financial success.

In his report at the 110th annual meeting of stockholders Willard said he believed the reduced fares responsible for the increased travel which, with "very little additional train mileage, has resulted in increased earnings per train mile or about 10.5 per cent."

"It is also quite evident," he said, "that the lower rates, together with improved services, have contributed substantially toward a better feeling on the part of the public toward the railroads."

The railroad president said the company had continued its half century old pension plan, under which the employé "makes no contribution whatever."

First Reports Indicate Gain in Week's Car Loadings

The first five railroads to report car loadings for the week ended Nov. 14 showed a slight gain in cars loaded over the previous week, and a substantial increase over the corresponding week a year ago. Reports follow:

	Wk. ended Nov. 14.	Prev. week.	Year ago.
Baltimore and Ohio	51,508	51,228	41,187
Milwaukee	31,779	31,549	26,442
North Western	30,468	30,222	25,427

CLEVELAND BANK TO RETIRE STOCK OWNED BY RFC

Cleveland, O., Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Stockholders of the National City Bank of Cleveland today approved a plan to increase $20 par common stock from 235,000 shares to 375,000 shares and to retire the balance of the preferred stock issued in 1934 and sold to the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

New shares of common will be offered to stockholders of record on Nov. 12 in the ratio of six shares of new stock for each ten shares now held, at $30 a share, which is the approximate book value.

Two new directors were elected. They are John P. McWilliams, president of the Youngstown Steel Door company, Youngstown, O., and Robert A. Weaver, president of the Ferro Enamel corporation of Cleveland.

Steel Operating Rate Up Slightly at 74 Pct.

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Steel industry operations this week climbed 0.1 point to 74.1 per cent of capacity, compared with 74 last week. The American Iron and Steel institute said today. A month ago operations averaged 74.2 per cent of capacity while a year ago the rate stood at 53.7 per cent.

Prices of Lead Advanced Again; Highest Since 1930

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The price of lead reached a new high since Oct., 1930, today when two leading producers quoted the metal for New York delivery at 5.20 to 5.25 cents a pound, and 5.05 cents a pound at East St. Louis.

VAST BUILDING PLANS TOLD BY TRADE LEADERS

Find Need for Much New Construction.

Six leaders in representative fields of American business last night pointed out the strides to be taken during 1937 and coming years in new construction and modernization work at a dinner meeting of the Engineering Advertisers association in the Hotel Sherman.

[Walinger Photo.]

The speakers were John R. Fugard, of Thielbar and Fugard, architects; Harry Weston, editor of The Paper Industry; Dr. Gustav Egloff, director of research of the Universal Oil Products company; H. D. Tefft, director of packing house practice of the Institute of American Meat Packers; E. G. Fox, vice president of the Freyn Engineering company, consultant engineers and designers of steel mill equipment, and J. F. Gilchrist, vice president of the Commonwealth Edison company.

Analyzes Public Works.

In addition, Col. Willard T. Chevalier, vice president of the McGraw-Hill Publishing company, gave an impromptu talk on the probable future trend of public works.

The outlook as presented by the various speakers is as follows:

BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION—Architects today are planning for long neglected housing and 1937 will be the starting point for tremendous building activity, said Fugard.

"Architects and engineers are busily engaged in planning for those things," he asserted, "which illustrate the social and economic trend—not palaces and monuments to the rich—but rather the planning of proper land use, mass housing for the low income group, water systems, sewage disposal plants, roads, bridges, and all for the safety, convenience and social amenities of the average person."

Tells Building Handicap.

He warned, however, that the long expected building boom, which will begin to be felt in 1937, may be greatly retarded and possibly stopped by labor controversies and by the inability of producers of manufactured goods to keep pace with demand, due to lack of foresight in planning of plant.

PAPER AND PULP—New construction projects now being built or planned for the near future involve an expenditure of $48,000,000, said

OVER COUNTER BROKERS SEEK SEC APPROVAL

Object to Extension of "Unlisted" Trading.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—The battle of over-the-counter traders in securities to retain their hold on a part of the stock market business was resumed today before the Securities and Exchange commission in a public hearing on an application of the New York Curb exchange for unlisted trading privileges in bonds of the Edison Electric Illuminating company of Boston.

The bonds, in the amount of 53 million dollars, were registered and listed on the Boston Stock exchange on July 27, 1935, but no transactions have been made on the exchange although an active over-the-counter market has been maintained in Boston and New York.

Exchange Here Among Objectors.

Both the Edison concern and the First Boston corporation, which does a large over-the-counter business and headed the syndicate that distributed the bonds, appeared to oppose the request of the New York Curb. The Chicago Stock exchange has announced its opposition to the extension or increase of unlisted trading on the exchanges.

A brief setting forth the Chicago exchange's objections, expected to be filed shortly, will add weight to the argument against expansion of unlisted trading under provisions of the act of 1934. The full commission appeared at the hearing today and is expected to issue an order in the case in six weeks.

Fred C. Moffett, president of the New York Curb, told the commission that prospective investors had a right to buy bonds on an exchange if they desired. He asserted that otherwise the customer's order went through many hands before final execution.

Opposing Arguments Presented.

Abner H. Goldstone, commission counsel, asked Moffett for the geographical outlines of the Curb exchange.

"I should say that because of the rapid communications it would comprise the entire United States," asserted Moffett.

R. Parker Kuhn, vice president of the First Boston corporation, asserted that customers saved money by purchasing bonds over the counter. The profit in over-the-counter transactions was made in the spread between bid and asked prices, he pointed out, which in the case of the Edison bonds amounted to about ⅛ of a point, while on an exchange a customer would have to pay not only the spread but also a brokerage commission amounting to ¼ of a point.

There was always a chance, according to Kuhn, of depressing the price of the bonds on an exchange if a big block were offered and the bid was not sufficient to absorb the offering.

Frederick M. Ives, general counsel for the Edison concern, said the bonds had been registered on the Boston exchange without any expectancy of transactions but to avoid the blue sky laws in middle western states.

All during this year the growing interest in real estate has been reflected in the Tribune want ad section. During the first ten months of this year the Tribune printed 51% more real estate want advertising than in the same months last year.

TAFT LOSES SUIT TO FORCE GOLD BOND PAYMENT

Appeal to Supreme Court Is Expected.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—(AP)—A unanimous verdict for the government was recorded at the Court of Claims today in the suit of Robert A. Taft to compel the United States to pay him $1.07 interest on a gold Liberty bond called in advance of its maturity date.

ROBERT A. TAFT.

Potentially affected by the litigation was approximately $8,849,540,000 of gold clause bonds called about the same time by the government. A government spokesman said he expected Taft, son of the former President and chief justice, would appeal to the Supreme court.

The litigation grew out of the act nullifying the gold payment promise in contracts.

Allowed to Intervene.

Earlier in the day the government was granted permission to file a brief with the Supreme court and participate in arguments in a dispute between the Holyoke, Mass., Water Power company and the American Writing Paper Company of Massachusetts concerning whether the "gold clause" resolution applied to rental contracts.

This case arose from a lease of water rights by the power company to the paper company. The power company now is attempting to collect $28,874 in gold, or its equivalent in devalued currency. It lost in the first Circuit court of appeals.

U. S. Terms Ruling Sweeping.

The government contends the Taft gold resolution was sweeping in its effect. The Court of claims ruling, delivered by Judge Littleton, said in part:

"Under the terms of the contract involved in this case and upon the facts of record, we are of opinion that plaintif is dismissed."

Taft brought the suit in the name of the Dixie Terminal company of Cincinnati, which he heads. He holds a $50 4¼ per cent gold liberty bond with an Oct. 15, 1938, maturity date. It was called for redemption Oct. 15, 1934.

The bond was presented at the treasury on Mar. 11, 1935. The treasury refused to redeem it in gold or to pay any interest beyond Oct. 15, 1934. Taft contended it had to do one or the other.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was less active today but the tone was easier and spot prices declined 5 points, while 1937 quota sugar was unchanged. The only sales reported were 16,100 bags of Cubas of 1936 quotas from store at 3.65c per lb and 27,000 bags of 1937 quota Philippines for January-February shipment at 3.62c. With the exception of the spot month which declined in sympathy with the easier spot market, futures held steady. After advancing 2 points to 4 points on further trade covering, new crops eased off under liquidation and hedging. November closed 3 points lower, while new crops were unchanged to 2 points higher. Sales were 10,050 tons. Range of raw sugar prices [cents per pound]:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.

Refined was unchanged at 4.80 for fine granulated for this year's sugar with a moderate withdrawal demand, although refiners will advance their 1937 price to manufacturers at the close tonight or at the opening tomorrow from 4.70 to 4.85.

400 Millions to Be Returned by Christmas Savings Clubs

Christmas savings amounting to 355 million dollars will be paid to about 7,500,000 people during the next two weeks, Herbert F. Rawll, president of Christmas Club, Inc., announced yesterday. Illinois club members will receive 21 million dollars.

This total for the nation is in addition to about 44 million dollars in Christmas club savings already reported by mutual savings banks in the eighteen states in which they operate, bringing the total outflow of funds accumulated for Yule spending to about 400 million dollars.

The average year's accumulation for each member was estimated at $46.50, with a total of 5,500 banks distributing the funds.

14 Per Cent Above Last Year.

This year's total represents an increase of 14 per cent over the 1935 figures, but is only slightly more than half the amount saved in the peak year of 1930 when 11,000,000 members received 632 million dollars.

Only two leading loop banks here carry sizable savings accounts of this type. The First National has about 8,000 accounts this year amounting to $500,000, compared with 6,000 and $400,000 last year. The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company has about $250,000 in Christmas savings this year, against $200,000 a year ago.

Harris Trust and Northern Trust closed out the accounts several years ago. The City National still has a few on the books but the amount is negligible and practically unchanged from a year ago. Many of the outlying banks still maintain the club plan. The banks merely consider the saving plan as a service to customers.

No Effort to Get Accounts.

Inasmuch as the banks have been bloated with cash and low interest rates have cut down their profits, they have made no effort to encourage opening of these accounts, due to the clerical expense entailed. Several years ago the banks paid 3 per cent on Christmas savings.

Upon the basis of previous experience, about 42 per cent of the 355 millions to be distributed will be spent on Christmas purchases, while 25 per cent will go for permanent savings, 8 per cent for year-end commitments, 12 per cent for taxes, 6 per cent for mortgage interest, 5 per cent for insurance premiums, and 2 per cent for education, travel, and charity.

CLUB SETTLES FIGHT OVER GOLF GROUND LEASE

Pays Back Rent, Signs New Agreement.

BY AL CHASE.

Settlement of a ten year legal battle between the Lake Shore Country club and the owners of part of the grounds occupied by that organization in Glencoe was effected yesterday by Max Epstein, president of the club and chairman of the board of the General American Tank Car corporation.

Upon payment of approximately $75,000 back rent the old lease, which ran until 1939, was canceled and a new lease negotiated which expires in 1954.

The owners of 76 of the 126 acres used by the club, Horace L. and Armin W. Brand, and Erna Brand Zeddies, will receive the same rental as called for in the old lease up to 1939, which was $7,000 annually.

Yearly Rental Graduated.

From 1939 to 1949 the annual rental will advance to $10,000. During the remainder of the term, or up to March 21, 1954, the annual rental will be $15,000.

According to Hugo Sonneschein of Sonneschein, Berkson, Lautmann, Levinson & Morse, who was associated with Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt as attorneys for the club, yesterday's transaction winds up long and expensive litigation which started when the club attempted to exercise an option to purchase the property a decade ago.

Club Loses Court Suit.

It was asserted by the owners that the club had defaulted in certain obligations called for by the lease and the suit at last reached the Supreme court of Illinois, which ruled that the club could not exercise its option to buy the fee.

The original lease was negotiated in 1909. In addition to the 76 acres covered by that lease the club purchased and owns in fee 10 acres on the east side of Sheridan road on which the clubhouse is situated. It also owns 40 acres of land used by the club west of Sheridan road.

The new lease, which contains no option of purchase, is retroactive from Oct. 1, 1936, and runs for seventeen years and six-months.

PRICES OF FRESH EGGS SLUMP THREE CENTS; FUTURES CLOSE LOWER

Fresh egg prices declined 2 to 3 cents a dozen yesterday in Chicago as the result of a decreased demand which followed an advance of 6 to 7 cents last week to the highest level since 1929 for this season of the year. Fresh firsts sold at 33 cents a dozen.

Weakness in the spot market was largely responsible for a decline of ⅝ cents in egg futures on the Mercantile exchange with November contracts closing at 28⅝ cents a dozen.

Butter futures advanced ½ cent and closed at the best price of the day with November contracts at 31½ cents a pound. Potatoes closed 5 to 6 cents higher. Sales were 15 cars. Prices follow:

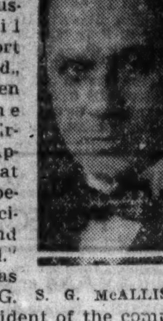
INTL. HARVESTER FIGHTS RULING OF LABOR BOARD

Case Taken Before U. S. Appeals Court.

International Harvester company yesterday told its employés that the decision of the National Labor Relations board in ordering the company to dissolve its "industrial council plan" at the Fort Wayne, Ind., plant, has been carried to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and that the company believes the decision is wrong and will be reversed." The message was signed by S. G. McAllister, president of the company.



S. G. McALLISTER.

In its decision Friday the labor board ruled that Harvester's industrial council is an illegal labor organization under the terms of the National Labor Relations act and that "the plan does not provide genuine collective bargaining."

Order Affects One Plant.

While the ruling dealt only with the Indiana plant, the board pointed out that the same plan exists in the other fourteen Harvester plants in the United States and Canada.

McAllister's statement said in part:

"It is noteworthy that throughout the whole opinion the Harvester company is not criticized for unfairness. There is no charge of discrimination against union men—no charge of interference in elections—no criticism of working conditions.

"The very conclusion of 'dominance' of the employé representatives seems to be based largely on the finding that working conditions have been kept on such a mutually satisfactory basis that the representatives have not had enough to do.

Lauds Working of Plan.

"The Harvester company is proud of the fact that over 16 years before the passage of the National Labor Relations act, requiring collective bargaining, it voluntarily agreed to so bargain with its employés and that since, its relations with its employés, worked out through free discussion with freely elected employé representatives, have been kept on a basis such that no strikes and no 'employment of experts' have been necessary.

"It is difficult to see how the board can legally make such an order, considering that the very purpose of the National Labor Relations act was to guarantee the employés the right to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing."

VAST BUILDING PLANS TOLD BY TRADE LEADERS

Report Need for Much New Construction.

Weston. The program, he asserted, will add 2,415 tons daily to the production of pulp, and 625 tons daily in paper output.

"Pulp and paper mills are busy and demand for some pulps is greater than the supply for both this and next year, although 1936 production of pulp and paper will probably exceed the peak period of 1929," he said.

Big Outlay in Petroleum.

PETROLEUM—The oil industry spent a billion dollars on new equipment and replacement in 1936 and the same amount will be required in 1937, said Egloff.

"The petroleum industry is in a better coördinated condition and high spirit of optimism than it has been in years," he added.

This year will see the production and consumption of more oil than ever in history, with a 10 per cent greater use of motor fuel than in the peak year of 1929, and in 1937 it is estimated that this year's demand will be topped by 8 to 10 per cent, Egloff continued.

MEAT PACKING—While peculiar conditions affect expansion in the meat packing industry, there will continue to be increased demand for air conditioning equipment by the industry, regardless of the volume of live stock handled or earnings realized, Tefft asserted.

Vast Outlay by Steel Plants.

IRON AND STEEL—The construction program for the steel industry in the coming year will most likely exceed 200 million dollars, Fox pointed out. Deferred requirements of the industry, he said, are well in excess of 1 billion dollars.

PUBLIC UTILITIES—The return of central standard time to Chicago is boosting kilowatt hour output of the Commonwealth Edison company and output is most likely headed for new peaks, said Gilchrist.

Demand for Power Increase.

All utilities are experiencing an increased load and the greater demand for air conditioning and refrigeration may cause the companies to abandon the off-season schedules, ordinarily maintained in the summer. It is likely, he said, that future peaks for the year may fall in the summer.

The sale of electrical appliances ought to be very good in 1937, Gilchrist said, pointing out that such sales result in an increased load, and that engineers are now showing some concern over installing new turbines.

There is a need in Chicago for 200 million dollars' worth of additional wiring to bring homes up to modern standards, he pointed out.

Air Conditioning for Homes.

"Air conditioning will be demanded in homes in the not far future," he said, "and the air conditioning industry will approach closely the magnitude of the automobile industry."

Chevalie said that public works construction will continue to increase relatively slowly with a large percentage by the local communities rather than the federal government; industrial building construction will increase rapidly for the next few years; there will be another year or so before expansion is necessary in office space; but the years 1938 to 1942 should see a great residential construction boom.

COTTON ADVANCES SHARPLY ON FROST DAMAGE REPORTS

Cotton futures advanced sharply yesterday. This was due to continued aggressive buying by trade interests, and a broader speculative demand for contracts stimulated by frost in the northern third of the eastern part of the cotton belt. It was claimed that the frost had killed the cotton plants and eliminated any prospect of an increase in this year's crop.

Hedging sales of cotton were readily absorbed and closing trades on futures were at the best prices of the day. Chicago gained 9 points to 18 points and other American markets 10 points to 16 points. [A point equals 1-100 cent a pound or 5 cents a bale].

Spot cotton closed 10 points higher with New Orleans and New York at 12.30 cents; Houston at 12.05 cents, and Galveston at 12 cents a pound. Phices follow:

Eastern Railroads Start Free Pickup; Truckers Plan Fight

New York, Nov. 16.—[Special.]—Free trucking service was instituted by the major railroads of the east today. At the same time New York trucking organizations, which have bitterly opposed the new pick up and delivery system in the courts, considered carrying their fight to the Supreme court of the United States.

The railroads reported a brisk demand for the new service. The Pennsylvania and Erie railroads have been operating the store door system by permission of the Interstate Commerce commission for more than three years, but other roads had to make hurried, final preparations over the week end.

The New York Central engaged the Horstmann Trucking corporation in New York for its work and hired a number of additional employés as order clerks and telephone operators. Freight shipped under the new system was delivered to the yards at Eleventh avenue and 33d street.

Other Railroads Act.

The Lackawanna engaged Railway Motor Trucking incorporated and the Baltimore and Ohio retained the Railway Express agency.

Most of the roads have introduced a system whereby the shipper calls the railroads direct and asks to have goods picked up for transportation to a certain point. The railroad then notifies its truckmen, who dispatch a truck to the merchant and carry the freight to the railroad yard.

A meeting of the legal committee of the Merchant Truckmen's Bureau of New York was called for the purpose of conferring with attorneys on the advisability of continuing the legal battle in which the railroads gained two important decisions last Saturday.

Oppose 5 Cent Allowance.

Their opposition is directed against the allowance of 5 cents per 100 pounds made to the shipper who wishes to hire his own truckmen. This opposition was summarized by Arthur G. McKeever, managing director of the bureau who said.

"Truckmen never opposed the right of the railroads to furnish collection and delivery service. Their opposition is to the method proposed by the tarifs of the railroads, which violates every principle of ethical procedure as outlined in generally accepted fair trade practices."

CARGO OF FLAX SEED FROM INDIA RECEIVED HERE

India yesterday was added to the imposing array of foreign countries which are finding a ready market for their agricultural products here. The steamer Wellandoc finished unloading a cargo of 93,765 bushels of flaxseed at the Calumet elevator operated by Rosenbaum Brothers.

The cargo originally was shipped from Bombay, India, to Montreal. The seed was transhipped from the latter port to Chicago. It was the first Indian flaxseed ever received at Chicago.

In recent years the United States has imported approximately 15,000,000 bushels of flaxseed annually. The bulk of the seed is secured from Argentina and India.

Never before in the history of the United States have such large imports of foreign grains and flaxseed been received in the last few years. Imports of wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, and flaxseed for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1936, reported by the department of the treasury, aggregated 85,354,000 bushels.

In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1935, imports of grain and flaxseed were 88,486,000 bushels.

Seligman & Co. to Open Branch Office in Chicago

J. & W. Seligman & Co., New York investment house, announced yesterday the opening of a Chicago office at 135 South La Salle street. Joseph F. Govan will be in charge of the office. Govan, formerly associated with Halsey, Stuart & Co., since 1928 has been with Bancamerica-Giannini interests. Seligman tentatively established an office here in the early days of the depression but suspended it when the security markets were at a standstill.

UNION PACIFIC PLACES LARGE RAIL ORDER; COST ELEVEN MILLION

New York, Nov. 16.—(AP)—An expenditure of $11,000,000 for new heavy steel rail fittings and labor has been authorized by the Union Pacific railroad, it was announced today.

The company will purchase 20,000 tons of rail and an equal amount of rail fittings at once. The rail order will be filled by the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, Inland Steel, and the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company. The orders for rail fittings will be issued within a few days.

Rapidly expanding freight and passenger trafic calling for high speed schedules initiated by the road is assigned as the reason for the program. Two weeks ago Union Pacific announced the expenditure of $8,000,000 for new high speed freight and passenger locomotives and other equipment.

A total of 350 miles of main line rail will be laid under the present program in addition to 50 miles of branch line rail renewal on the North Platte branch.

UTILITIES POWER HEARING UP TO FEDERAL JUDGES

Will Decide on Jurist to Handle Big Case.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday put up to the executive committee of the United States District court here the decision as to what federal judge is to handle the affairs of the Utilities Power and Light corporation, $300,000,000 utility holding company, for which bondholders recently asked reorganization under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act.

Judge Barnes recommended to the committee that it be assigned to Federal Judge William H. Holly, who has been administering the reorganization of the Public Utilities Securities corporation and of the Webster Securities corporation, whose affairs are closely related to Utilities Power. Judge James H. Wilkerson is chairman of the committee, which consists of three judges.

Conflict Over Jurisdiction.

Litigation over Utilities Power and Light, which was built up by Harley L. Clarke, has precipitated a jurisdictional conflict involving Judges Charles E. Woodward, Barnes, and Holly. Clarke recently resigned as president of the company.

The conflict arose several weeks ago when Attorney Don Kenneth Jones filed a petition before Judge Woodward at Freeport, Ill., asking reorganization of the company. Attorney Burke Williamson, representing Irwin T. Gilruth, trustee for Public Utilities Securities and Webster, made a motion for transfer of the petition from Judge Woodward to Judge Holly because of the latter's familiarity with the case.

"I have the highest respect for Judge Holly, but I think the case should not be assigned to him," Attorney Jones said at the hearing before Judge Barnes yesterday. "The case involves a question of insolvency and a possible conflict of interest between the companies.

Recommends Judge Holly.

"I can't see any reason why the case should not go to Judge Holly," Judge Barnes said. "This case should not be a stepchild.

Judge Barnes then left the bench to ask Judge Holly if he would take the case. On his return he said Judge Holly would take it and then ordered it transferred to the executive committee, with the recommendation that Judge Holly be assigned. Judge Woodward in the hearing at Freeport transferred the case to Chicago.

In his petition Attorney Jones alleged that the English properties of Utilities Light and Power were sold for $23,000,000 when they were actually worth $40,000,000. He also sought to examine Clarke.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 16.—Bonds maintained a firm undertone today despite a marked decrease in trading volume. Although some irregularity developed in higher grade investments, net changes were small.

Many recently favored convertible industrial loans attracted renewed speculative interest and advanced sharply in good volume. Transactions in all bonds amounted to $11,144,000, compared with $15,946,000 Friday.

Notwithstanding the mixed trend in United States government obligations, ten of these issues established new record high marks in sharply restricted trading.

Trade in U. S. List Small.

On a turnover of only $785,300 against $2,569,100 on Friday the federal list showed net gains of 1-32 to 5-32 of a point and declines of the same amount. The upturns were confined to higher coupon treasury issues, while the more recent bonds and guaranteed issues eased off slightly.

The domestic corporate list worked irregularly higher. Conspicuous movements included gains of 6½ points in Allis-Chalmers 4s, 3 points in American Rolling Mill 4¼s, 10 points in American Type Founders 5s, and 3⅛ points in Central Foundry 6s, all of which are convertible bonds.

Railroad Liens Mixed.

Rail liens were mixed and were featured by declines of 4 to 5½ points in Chesapeake corporation convertible issues. Elsewhere throughout the rail list prices were firm to moderately higher.

Public utility bonds responded to a fair demand with fractional to point gains. International Telephone and Telegraph issues advanced 1 to 1½ points.

American Rolling Mill.

Investors' Guide: Kindly give me a full statement on the common stock of American Rolling Mill.—C. F.

Answer: American Rolling Mill company is the eighth largest steel producer in the United States. Activities are concentrated on manufacture of high quality steel and iron sheets and light plates. It is the second largest American sheet producer and accounts for one-fifth of the country's capacity in this respect. It has negligible capacity for heavier products such as rails and structural steel.

The automobile industry is Armco's principal customer, taking more than one-fourth of its output. Other outlets include refrigeration, road construction, building, electrical equipment, and steel jobbing industries.

Armco holds patents on a process which was perfected in 1928 for continuous rolling of sheet metal to turn out a better product at lower cost. It licenses other large companies to use this process and his filed a suit for patent infringement against the only major unit in the steel industry not licensed.

Sharp increase in demand for sheets, particularly from the automobile industry, has brought about sharp gains in earnings in the last two years. For the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1936, net income was $4,369,000, or $1.91 per common share, based on the average number outstanding. The company's peak net income was $6,111,000, or $4.24 a share in 1929. The earnings record follows:

	Sales.	Net income.	Inc. per com. shr.
1935	$76,799,000	$4,310,000	$2.26
1934	54,485,000	967,000	.50
1933	27,294,000	* 673,000	* .48
1932	39,908,000	*2,030,000	*1.29
1931	53,652,000	*3,098,000	*1.93

*Indicates loss.

Outstanding capitalization consisted of $1,932,400 of 6 per cent preferred stock and 2,279,950 shares of $25 par common stock on Sept. 30, 1936.

Common stock outstanding has been increased from 1,854,150 shares at the end of 1935 through conversion of 4¼ per cent debentures into common stock. The remaining $12,700,000 of debentures is to be retired either through redemption at 102½ on Dec. 5, or by conversion into common stock before that date at the rate of 40 shares for each $1,000 debenture. This will leave $22,000,000 of 5 per cent debentures of 1948 as sole funded debt.

Dividends on the common stock, after being omitted since 1931, have been paid at a $1.20 annual rate since Oct. 15, 1935. An extra of 75 cents a share is payable Dec. 15 to stock of record Nov. 14.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

All Corn in Cribs

November 16, 1936.

ANOTHER corn crop has been put in the cribs at THE TRIBUNE's Wheaton Experimental farm. The harvesters hauled the final load from the field last Thursday and hung up their husking pegs.

All the corn on the Wheaton farm was hand picked. Only a comparatively small acreage of corn is grown on this place each year and no mechanical pickers are used.

Four small fields totaling 25 acres were harvested for grain. Yields for the four fields varied from 15 bushels per acre to 42. A 14 acre field that was planted early in the season made only 215 bushels, slightly more than 15 bushels to the acre. This field was considered the best corn land of any planted on the place this season. The low yield was chiefly the result of the corn being hit by the drouth at a critical stage.

A field of eight acres that was planted late on thin ground made 306 bushels, an average yield of 34½ bushels to the acre. The corn in this field was originally intended for silage, but a surprisingly good yield of ears developed after the rains started and were left to be picked.

31 Bushels Yield.

The heaviest yield was made on a two acre patch, the last planting of the season. Eighty-four bushels were picked from this small field, but most of the ears were soft and of poor quality. The corn was planted too late to be thoroughly mature when frost came. One load of this corn was spread out on a granary floor to dry out and other load was stored in a wire pen.

Thirty-one bushels were picked from the acre plot of hybrid No. 561, the European corn borer resistant strain grown in test field C, after seven bushels had been selected early in the fall for seed.

A total of 58 acres of corn were grown on the Wheaton farm this year. The stalks were cut from 26 acres, chopped up, and blown into the silo. Seven acres, so badly injured by the drouth as to make but few good ears, was cut and shocked.

Last of Hemp Goes.

All the hemp grown in a test field at the Wheaton farm this year has been taken to the processing plant at Ottawa, Ill., to be decorticated. There were four big truck loads of the hemp plants, harvested from approximately three acres of ground. The four loads weighed 15,760 pounds when taken from the field, but the plants contained considerable moisture. They will be dried to some extent before being put through the decorticating machine that separates the fiber from the woody inside portions of the plants.

Engines Pump Water.

Gas engines have been pumping most of the water for the live stock on the Yorkville farm lately. The breezes have been too light to keep the windmills going steadily.

PLAN

No Security—No Endorsers.
No Wage Assignments.

Just Your Plain Note

Now you can get a loan on just your Promise-to-Pay. If you can make regular payments, sign only a plain note and nothing else. It is just like borrowing from a friend on a simple I. O. U.—no endorsers, no wage assignments, co-makers, furniture, real estate, stocks, bonds, diamonds, or other security required. We take you at your word and give you the money you need on just your Promise-to-Pay. Unbelievably simple, yet there is no catch to this offer. Your honesty, integrity, and ability to pay are absolutely the sole requirements for a loan on the New Promise-to-Pay Plan.

Reduced Rates

Monthly charges are 3% on balances up to $100 and only 2% on balances above $100. Also all other types of loans at the same reduced cost. For full particulars, telephone, write, or stop in the office nearest you.
